PREDICT ARRESTS OF MILLIONAIRES IN JENKINS CASE

Smuggling Scandal Reaches Prominent Men.

TRAGEDY IN PARR'S LIFE

Wife Seriously Ill as Result of 'Phone Message.

Customs Officials Have Been Following the Remarkable Case for Months and Sensational Disclosure Are Expected Within Few Days—Explanation of the Smuggling—New York Banker Aided.

New York, June 25.—The smuggling into this country of $300,000 worth of jewels presented to "Helen Dwell Jenkins" by a millionaire admirer is soon to result in the indictment of a New York man who is at the head of one of the largest banking and brokerage houses in the city. Two other men of great wealth and influence in their communities—one a Southerner and the other a Westerner—will also be indicted.

Four, and possibly six, custom-house inspectors will be charged by a Federal grand jury with having connived with the millionaires to admit free of duty, in consideration of $100 bribes, the gems which "Jenkins" showered upon the woman whose picturesque career was told in last night's dispatchs.

REVEALS ROMANTIC STORY. Richard Parr, the deputy surveyor of the port, whose clever and persistent detective work for more than a year unearthed the smuggling, has about completed his task, and a wonderfully romantic story will be revealed when he takes the stand.

Bitter tragedy has been the first reward that Parr, the government agent, has received for his diligent work in bringing to light the smuggling. An expected heir was born dead to-day, and his wife is now in a critical condition, as the result of a telephone message sent to Mrs. Parr, presumably by some man in the employ of the men who are to be indicted.

On Thursday last Mrs. Parr, who had been kept away from the telephone previously, chanced to answer a ring. The voice of a stranger sent her a scandalous story about her husband and the "Jenkins" woman.

Story to Two Great. Though she knew it was untrue, she shock was so severe to Mrs. Parr in her condition that she fainted and became hysterical, and in a few hours her hopes of motherhood were blasted. The Caesarian operation had to be performed to save her life.

Mr. Parr not only knows all about the smuggling, but likewise all about the sensational robbery of "Mrs. Jenkins" at the Hotel Waldorf late in 1909, when she declared that all her jewels had been stolen.

The secret agent could not be induced to talk much to-day, but from a source equally as well informed as he your correspondent learned nearly the complete story of the jewels. It is this: On June 25, 1909, "Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jenkins" arrived in New York on the Lusitania from Europe. They had been making a whirlwind tour of the Old World for over three months. "Jenkins" was the name assumed by the Western millionaire. They were accompanied from Europe by a Southerner, who had known the woman before the Westerner became infatuated with her. Through the Westerner's interest in the woman and her friendship for the Southern man, the latter had been enabled to borrow large sums of money from the Western millionaire, with which to finance some Southern enterprise.

Bring Eleven Trunks. The pair brought back on the Lusitania eleven big trunks and three smaller baggage contrabands. The trunks were filled with the most costly lace, gloves, lingerie, and gloves by the hundreds of pairs made especially in Naples for the millionaire's chamber.

The Southerner, according to the story told by "Mrs. Jenkins" to the government officers, was the chief medium in the smuggling of the jewels. The Western man had purchased for her, and also for his wife's children in the Western home. Customs officers accepted the declaration of "J. W. Jenkins" that he and "Mrs. Jenkins" had brought back from Europe only $100 worth of dutiable goods—the amount allowed by law. Your correspondent to-day saw the original declaration made by "Jenkins". It contained also a sworn statement that they had taken abroad with them furs, jewelry, and other like articles to the value of about $5,000.

These, of course, were not dutiable. The customs inspectors assigned to the baggage went through the furs of examining their trunks and baggage, and cleared the entire lot in a jiffy. Then

MADERO, IN MANIFESTO, PROMISES EQUAL RIGHTS

Will Investigate Diaz Administration and Seek to Right Any Flagrant Wrong.

Mexico City, June 25.—Francisco Madero has issued another manifesto to the Mexican people, in which he says that the taxes are to be distributed equally among the rich and the poor, but that while waiting to inaugurate the new laws he will call upon the governors and other officials of the states, to see that small handholders and merchants are taxed lightly, while the heavier burdens are put on the larger owners. Capitalists of foreign nativity are to receive absolute protection, but Madero hopes that they will not attempt as formerly to try to influence the governing authorities in any way to secure special privileges, as he says it will be useless. He assures the people that justice will not be for the fortunate and privileged class, with injustice for the ordinary citizen as heretofore, but the poorest worker will have the same rights as the rich employer.

Will Treat Soldiers Well. He promises to investigate the doings of the Diaz administration, and that which is being done not in accordance with the law will be remedied, and the guilty as far as possible will be punished. He recommends to the revolutionary soldiers that they treat the defeated rebels as brothers. In the course of the whole war the federals sympathized with the triumph of the Diaz government would be a calamity for the country. Naturally, says Madero, the federals had little interest in winning battles and the federal army was not really defeated. Defeat came only to the dictators, who were driving them. How was it possible he asks that the federal soldiers could win when they even preferred to die that Mexican people might regain their liberty.

He hopes that the press will co-operate with him and sincerely, but says that as a simple citizen or President or as the occupant of any office into which he might come he will consider as friends only that part of the press which criticizes the faults that he commits and shows him his errors. He will look with suspicion upon newspapers which approve his every act.

He says that as a simple citizen of the country he has a right to address the people. As a candidate for President it is his duty to show the people where he stands; as leader of a triumphant revolution it is his duty to work diligently to see that the people receive all the benefits of the successful revolution.

Zapata Has Aspirations. Zapata is expected from Cuernavaca to-morrow with 200 picked men who have been incorporated into the National Rural Guard. The rest of his 6,000 men have disbanded. Reports say that Zapata will not go to Tehuacan as Madero has ordered, but after a conference with Madero to-morrow expects to return to Cuernavaca. It is said that Zapata has political aspirations and that he intends to run for governor of Morelos. A private dispatch from Chihuahua says that Orozco, Madero's principal general at the battle of Juarez, is being urged as governor of Chihuahua, but that great opposition has already developed. Friends of Gonzalez, the present governor appointed by Madero, insist that he is the logical candidate of the Maderistas party in the coming election.

The German government, through the local Ambassador, has demanded that Mexico investigate carefully and fix the responsibility for the death of a German of the name of Kettler, who was killed by Maderistas in the State of Hidalgo. Fifty Killed in Fight. Allard, Madero's candidate, has been made provisional governor of the state of Vera Cruz. It is the first step in the settlement of the difficulties which have troubled the state for some weeks. Competition for governor was directly the cause of the fight at Jalapa last week, in which fifty were killed. Jalapa is mourning, all houses and stores being draped with crape.

Madero has reiterated the statement that he has no present intention of bringing about the investigation of any business enterprise. He also says that it is not the purpose of the National Railway as it is now constituted. He expects to make an investigation of the railway affairs, after which he probably will have charges to make.

BALTIMORE OFFERS $100,000 GUARANTEE

Fund Subscribed for Democratic Convention.

Baltimore, June 25.—Chairman Robert Crane, of the finance committee appointed to secure subscriptions to the $100,000 guarantee fund required to bring the national Democratic convention to this city, announces that the amount has been fully subscribed.

The largest subscribers are the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, the Pennsylvania Railroad, the United Railways and Electric Company, and Capt. Isaac Emerson, each of whom has subscribed $5,000. Chairman Crane has been laboring with the Democratic committeemen and members of Congress whose influence was desired to prevail upon the Representatives of the national body to vote for Baltimore. In this he has been uniformly successful, and while not assured that a majority will vote to bring the convention here, he is very much encouraged over the replies he has received.

GIRL AS A PRIZE.

Will Wed Aviator Who Makes Highest Altitude.

Lima, Ohio, June 25.—A duel in the air between aviator rivals for a girl's hand will be the feature of the one-day aviation meet here to-morrow. The two aviators, Jack Bacheller and Bert Chambers, have been laying siege to the heart of Miss Dorothy Dale, of Tiffin, Ohio. Miss Dale refused to choose between them, and at a recent meet in that city made a trip into the clouds with both. Now she has promised to make her decision here, and says that she will accept the one that makes the highest altitude record during the day.

KILLED BY BOY FRIEND.

Lad Shot in Shooting Gallery at Reservoir Park. New Brunswick, N. J., June 25.—Louis Lamare, aged twelve, was fatally shot in a shooting gallery at Riverside Recreation Park, six miles from here, this afternoon. He asked a boy friend, W. Hanna, to have a shot at the jumping monkey. Hanna picked up the gun and accidentally pulled the trigger, the bullet piercing the child's heart. The boy was brought to St. Peter's Hospital, where he died shortly after the arrival.

BABY TWO YEARS OLD WEIGHS 122 POUNDS

Mount Airy Claims the World's Record in James Adolph Cody, Who Is Gaining Weight Every Day.

Mount Airy, Ga., June 25.—In James Adolph Cody, two years and three months old, Mount Airy boasts the biggest baby in the world. James Adolph now weighs 122 pounds, and is growing every day. With the first indication of his abnormal growth, his parents consulted a physician, and James Adolph was put under his care. All efforts to keep the baby on a diet suitable for one of his age proved unsuccessful. His measurements are: Height, 24 inches; barefoot, around the thigh, 24 inches; neck, 14 inches; chest, 24 inches; waist, 18 inches; around arm above elbow, 11 inches; around arm below elbow, 11 inches; around arm across hand, above thumb, 14 inches; around first finger near base, 14 inches; above knee, 15 inches; below knee, 14 inches; ankle, 9 inches; around foot, 12 inches; length of foot, 6 1/2 inches; and across shoulders, 12 inches. He sleeps well and is perfectly healthy and very strong. His appetite is more like a grown person than a baby. For breakfast he will eat three or four large biscuits with bacon gravy, butter, and sugar, and drink two glasses of buttermilk, and it allowed, will drink two cups of coffee. Between breakfast and dinner he will eat two more biscuits, with butter, and sugar. For dinner he can eat large slices of greens or any kind of vegetable with boiled bacon, corn bread biscuit, and a whole pie, he can eat it with two glasses of buttermilk. He eats again between dinner and supper, and his mother is keeping with breakfast and dinner.

REV. DR. SHANNON SCORES BANKERS WHO ROB PEOPLE

Pays Respects to Walsh and Morse.

PRaises THE PRESIDENT

Commends His Courage in Refusing Them Pardons.

Declares that Men Who Buy Their Way into the Senate or House Are No Better Than the Burglar Who Breaks Into a Home—Believes in Rattling Bones of Dishonest Bankers—Profound Impression.

Rev. Dr. John Reid Shannon, pastor of Metropolitan Memorial M. E. Church, last night declared from his pulpit that "every honest man ought to thank God that we have a President in the White House who has the moral backbone to refuse pardons to the bank wreckers Charles W. Morse and John R. Walsh."

PROFOUND IMPRESSION. The sermon of Rev. Dr. Shannon created a profound impression among his parishioners, some of whom, it is understood, had been favorable to the pardon of the imprisoned bankers.

Following his introductory, Rev. Dr. Shannon continued: "These capitalists undertook to use the community as a sponge to squeeze at their pleasure. They carried their life like a flame to burn up the savings of other people. We have a right to take grim pleasure in the fact that these transgressors are plucked off in the presence of the nation and shaken until their bones rattle before men from the Atlantic to the Pacific. That is in the moral atmosphere of our nation like a storm on a winter, sultry summer day; a storm that sweeps away all the poisoned air and leaves the atmosphere pure and fresh and full of new life so that people say: 'Thank God for such a storm.'"

Following his introductory, Rev. Dr. Shannon said: "Money as a force for good or evil."

Righteous Indignation. "We need in our country more of that fiery righteous indignation that scorches and burns to ashes dishonesty, even though millionaires be the subjects of such indignation," he said.

In speaking of the relation of money to political officeholding, Rev. Dr. Shannon said: "Money has no right relation to political officeholding. The man who buys his way into the House or Senate is no better than the burglar, who, by means of force, breaks into the home where he does not belong. When it becomes known that a man has used bribery to put himself in a high position in national life there ought to be toward him on the part of the people a fire of righteous indignation that consumes the vermin nesting in the rotting growths thereof."

BUY YOUR DIAMONDS NOW

The price of diamonds is going up, according to United States Consul Frank W. Mahin, at Amsterdam, Holland, who reports that polished diamonds are 10 to 12 per cent higher than a year ago, excepting very small stones. Dealers say, he adds, that prices will continue to advance. Consul Mahin says that the trade in diamonds is limiting the production and also that the yield of the diamond mines, as a whole, is decreasing.

PRINCESS CLOTILDE DEAD.

Queen Margherita and Queen Maria Pia at Her Bedside. Rome, June 25.—Princess Clotilde died to-day at Moncalieri. Her son Napoleon, Queen Margherita, Queen Maria Pia, and Bishop Masera were at the bedside.

MERCHANTS WHO ADVERTISE IN THE MORNING PAPERS SUCCEED

San Francisco, June 25.—Britvald, Consul General Walter R. Hays, who has represented England here for four years, will leave for Hamburg July 3 to take the place as consul general at that important seaport. This will open the door for him to the diplomatic service at an early date. Hays was a friend of the late King, and he is also a personal friend of King George.

CIRCUS PERFORMANCE GIVEN BY AUTO IN CONDUIT ROAD

Clifford S. Brush and William A. Kemper Have Thrilling and Remarkable Experience Near Glen Echo.

Seated in a large touring car as it hurtled over an embankment in the Conduit road, near Glen Echo, yesterday afternoon, Clifford S. Brush, a steam engineer, of 1523 Eighteenth street northwest, and William A. Kemper, an employee of the Government Printing Office, of 131 Adams street northwest, escaped death in one of the most remarkable accidents recorded among local automobilists.

Although the big machine turned over, it landed right side up with the two occupants retaining their seats. Mr. Kemper was hurt on the back and head. He was taken to the Georgetown University Hospital in Vice President Sherman's automobile. It is said that his injuries are not serious.

H. B. Deventor, private secretary to the Vice President, who, with his wife and children, was automobiling in the Conduit road, arrived on the scene several minutes after the big machine had made its spectacular descent. Mr. Deventor immediately offered the use of the machine, which belongs to the Vice President to carry Mr. Kemper to the hospital. It was the rush of the numerous automobilists in the road at the time, all of whom were speeding to get out of the rain, which caused the accident. Mr. Brush, who was operating the automobile, says he attempted to keep too near the side of the road. The machine he declares skidded because of the wet roadway and went over the embankment.

"That neither of us was seriously injured is remarkable," said Mr. Brush last night. "The accident occurred so quickly that neither of us realized until the machine came to a standstill at the bottom of the incline that we had left the road. Our escape was almost miraculous and I am sure that if either of us had been thrown from our seats the results would have been serious."

Mr. Brush declares he kept to the side of the road because he feared being struck by reckless motorists who were speeding by him every minute. He says one of the machines came near striking the one in which he and his wife were riding and that this probably made him nervous.

Especially Attractive Programme Arranged at His Majesty's Theater for Tuesday Evening—Pilgrims to Give Dinner in Honor of John Hays Hammond Wednesday Night.

Special Cable to The Washington Herald. London, June 25.—Although the spectacular events attendant upon the coronation of King George and Queen Mary have passed into history with the crowning itself, there yet remain many attractions for the great throngs that will hold London, determined, it seems, to drink the coronation cup to its dregs. There was a brief pause in the rush of entertainment and ceremony to-day, but to-morrow the festivities modified to a certain extent, will be resumed and will terminate only when the royal couple depart next Saturday for their tour of Ireland and Scotland.

There will be an especially attractive programme at His Majesty's Theater on Tuesday night, immediately after the coronation party at Buckingham Palace, in which all the notables of the London stage world will do honor to the King. A prologue written for the occasion by Owen Seaman is to open the proceedings, and this will be followed by scenes from "Money," the "Merry Wives of Windsor," "The School for Scandal," "Julius Caesar," and "The Critic." Ben Jonson's "The Hundred Thousand" will then be given, and the performance is to conclude with the singing of the national anthem.

The King and Queen will be received on their arrival at the theater by Sir Herbert Tree and Sir John Hare, the latter of whom will remain at their majesties' disposal throughout the evening as representative of the executive committee. The entire grand tier of the house has been rearranged so as to form the royal box, in which the King and Queen and their principal guests are to be seated, while two large boxes and 200 stalls have also been engaged by the court officials. The design for the decoration of the interior of the theater is a novel one and consists almost wholly of real fruit of the most vivid colors, surrounded by its own leaves. For the royal boxes and the vestibule in which their majesties will hold a reception of their guests, however, great masses of crimson rambling roses, hydrangeas, and lilies will be utilized.

Hust Wear Court Dress. In the stalls and dress circle the public will be required to wear court dress or uniform, and in other parts of the theater evening dress.

There has been an enormous demand for seats, and some very high prices have been paid. The prices of the various places open to the public were fixed by the management as follows: Private boxes, from $22.50 up to $55; orchestra seats, $15; dress circle, $5 to $2, and amphitheater, 25c.

On Wednesday "going home" will begin, the royal guests beginning to depart that day. The King himself will go to Norwich to pay a visit to the royal agricultural show.

BOMB EXPLODES; FIVE ARE INJURED

Front of Upholstery Store Completely Wrecked.

New York, June 25.—The explosion of a bomb at midnight to-night blew in half of the front of Vincenzo Dalio's upholstery store at 131 and 133 Lexington avenue and slightly injured five persons.

Two of these—Mrs. Jennie Shapiro and her daughter Mary, sixteen years old, of 121 East 110th street—were passing and were thrown to the street. They had to be attended by an ambulance surgeon, but were then able to go home. Oscar Mauvargne, his wife and daughter, of 121 East 110th street, were standing in front of the building and were thrown from their feet and slightly bruised.

The explosion dug a hole in the floor of the entrance and broke glass and damaged goods inside the store to a considerable extent.

RUSSIAN EXILES WILL VISIT THE PRESIDENT TO-DAY

Baptist Missionaries Bear Scars of Knout.

IN AMERICA UNDER BOND

Will Return to Russia and to Imprisonment.

Government of the United States to Be Asked to Intercede in Behalf of the Exiles—Victim of Siberian Mines Give Graphic Description of His Sufferings—Headquarters at Calvary Baptist Church.

Their bodies bearing the marks of prison chains and criss-crossed with scars caused by the knout wielded in the hands of agents of the Czar during religious persecutions in Russia and Siberia, two natives of the realm of "the little father," who gave up their Greek faith to become followers of the Baptist religion, and are now foremost members of the great Baptist World Alliance, arrived in Washington yesterday from Philadelphia, where the alliance convention has been in session. The clergymen are Rev. Masilij Spepanoff and Rev. Louis R. Patamont.

TORTURED IN SIBERIA.

Suffering agonies and torture in the snow-covered districts of Siberia, where they were exiled to the dreaded mines for their religious convictions, and subjected to the kind of treatment accorded only the vilest of criminals, the determination of these ministers of the gospel to teach the word of God as they believed to be right has never wavered. It was only after determined efforts on the part of several of the Russian delegates' friends that they were released from prison, and then on the understanding that they would leave Russia under bond, the penalty for their return being exile again to the mines.

At the Second Baptist Church last night Rev. Mr. Patamont told an audience of the horrible persecutions he and his religious companions had undergone. He described the long and bitter journey in winter—a Siberian winter—to a fate almost worse than death—hard labor in the underground caves called mines, hundreds of miles from the interior. One of the thirty Russian ministers, hardly a man escaped torture or persecution of one form or another. In one instance a minister was suspended by his thumbs and flogged. His wife, who was accorded the same inhuman treatment, dropped dead when she was let down.

The story of the men, who, with 900 delegates, representing nearly every country in the world, will be received by President Taft at the White House this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and extended a welcome by the Chief Executive.

This government is being strongly urged to use its influence with the Czar of Russia to mitigate the punishment of Baptist ministers, is the statement of Dr. Robert S. McCArthur, who was recently elected as president of the Alliance. Dr. McCArthur will go to Russia, accompanied by several other ministers, in the near future to see the Czar, personally.

Will See the Czar. "The time has arrived," said the preacher, "when the Russian ruler must learn that this is the twentieth century, not the fifteenth, and when the voice of religious democracy must be heard even in Peterhoff."

Baptists all over the world are protesting against the treatment given clergymen of their faith in the Russian territory, and believe by concerted effort some cessation may be granted.

The delegates will meet promptly at 1 o'clock at Calvary Baptist Church and proceed to the White House, where will be held the headquarters, at 7:30 o'clock. Tomorrow the doors of Bethany Church will be thrown open to them.

At the services to-night there will be addresses by Rev. Dr. John Clifford, first president of the Baptist World Alliance, and pastor of the Baptist Church at Westbourne Park, one of the largest churches in London; Rev. J. H. Shakespeare, European secretary of the organization, and a collateral descendant of William Shakespeare, and Rev. Thomas Phillips pastor of a church in Bloomington, England, which is in the heart of the foreign quarter.

At the Fifth Baptist Church last night the Rev. W. E. Glass, of North China, spoke on the missionary movement in the Flowery Kingdom. Rev. Dr. Ferguson, of India, also addressed a large congregation on Baptist mission work.

Services were held in Bethany Church at the same time. Rev. Dr. Alexander West of Sweden, and Judge, Services of South Carolina, spoke briefly.

Special Services Planned. To-morrow night special services will be held in Bethany Church, at which time the Russian exiles will give their experience. Wednesday will be devoted to eight sessions, after which the delegates will participate in the ceremonies of laying the corner stone of the new Metropolitan Church at Sixth and A streets northeast at 6:30 o'clock.

The entertainment committee, which will have the ladies in charge, come prices here: Dr. Samuel H. Briggs, Services man; Rev. Dr. John E. Deane, Rev. Dr. Hall, and Rev. Mr. Hugh T. Stevens, son.
