

Society Prepares for Lent

By MILDRED MARSHALL KOONCE.

Signs of the waning season are apparent on all sides as the days preceding Lent lessen in number. The incoming week will witness the winding up of festivities, and the early days of next week will find a practical cessation of gayeties. The President and Mrs. Wilson have entertained at the last state dinner of the winter, and the army and navy reception on Friday evening will complete the social program of the White House for the season.

The Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, who were hosts at a most brilliant and distinctive function last Monday, will close their formal entertaining tomorrow with the second reception of the series. The Cabinet is still dining and being dined, and Cabinet matrons have a social program which will carry them to the very brink of Lent. Others among the fashionable are flitting merrily from dinner to dance and back again to luncheon and bridge, wringing the last bit of gaiety from the season before the somber days of penitence begin.

There will be one wedding, and undoubtedly a brilliant one, on the very threshold of Lent with Miss Gladys Mackay-Smith and Mr. William Bell Watkins, of Westtown, Pa., as the interesting principals. The ceremony will be performed at St. John's Episcopal Church on March 4 at 4:30 o'clock, and will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mackay-Smith, in Sixteenth street. In the wedding party will be Miss Virginia Mackay-Smith, who will act as maid of honor for her sister; Mrs. F. Ashton de Peyster, of New York; Mrs. William Strong Cushing, of Simsbury, Conn.; Miss Alice F. Hopkins, of Westport, Mass., and Miss Mary C. Curtin, of Philadelphia. Mr. J. Keating Wilcox, of Philadelphia, will be best man for Mr. Watkins.

The Cochran-Whiting wedding last Wednesday was a charming affair, as well as of brilliant social interest. The Whiting residence in New Hampshire avenue was a perfect bower of lovely blossoms, and the bride and her maids represented the most prominent of the younger set in Capital society, and have been associates since childhood. Mrs. Cochran belongs to a distinguished family and has been a belle both at the Capital and at Bar Harbor, where the Whitings have passed the summer for a number of years. The young couple will reside at the Avondale for several months upon their return from their honeymoon, pending the selection of a suitable house.

Another of the early spring weddings to attract a large degree of interest will be that of Miss Dorothy Gray Brooks and Lieut. William Henry Holcombe, U. S. A. Miss Brooks is most charming and popular, and Lieut. Holcombe won signal honors during his career at West Point. March 22 has been selected as the wedding day, and the ceremony will take place at 4 o'clock at St. Thomas' Church.

As yet, no demure activity has been suggested as a Lenten aid among the smart folk who are to remain at the Capital during the penitential days. Rest cures, personally conducted, will undoubtedly be fashionable for a while, for on all sides there are expressions of utter fatigue. Many tired hostesses will depart immediately for Palm Beach, and others are planning for Hot Springs and White Sulphur. A very interesting and instructive occupation comes too late for Lent, but will attract the prominent women of the Capital just the same, when the national service school for the members of the Woman's Section of the Navy League is opened in May on the tract of land at Chevy Chase donated by Senator Newlands. Scores of society women have enrolled already, and by springtime the attendance promises to be without record.

One of the smartest audiences of the season thronged the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Littauer, in Rhode Island avenue, for the musical recital arranged by Mr. Littauer and Mrs. James Carroll Fraser, for the benefit of Emergency Hospital. Miss Lorraine Wyman was the artist and gave a charming series of ballads, with Mrs. Louis Smith at the piano. Miss Wyman sang in costume, wearing that of a Brittany smith for the group of old French songs with which the program opened, and a coquettish colonial costume for the series of songs of our forefathers. Among those in the audience were Mrs. Francis Warren, Mrs. John W. Dwight, Mrs. Rollins Morse, Mrs. Sidney Ballou, Mrs. Ten Eyck Wendell, Mrs. Henry P.
