

GIRL EXPLAINS UNUSUAL NAME

Mrs. Frances Brand Tells Why She Was Called "Millionaire Girl."

(By the International News Service.)
New York, Aug. 30.—Having been known from coast to coast for several years as the "Millionaire Girl of Peacock Alley," Mrs. Frances Brand today gave a remarkable explanation of the manner in which the sobriquet became fastened on her.
"This was brought out by Max D. Souter, counsel for James H. Brand, millionaire munition broker, in an examination of Mrs. Brand preparatory to her husband's suit to annul their marriage on the ground that it was brought about by fraud. During her examination Mrs. Brand made interesting admissions concerning her life before she married Brand."
Love Ya, Politics.
"I told 'Jimmy' at my past," she said, "I told him I was mixed up in the Parker Whitney scandal out West, and he seemed to know more about it than I did."
"I told Mr. Brand I would not marry him when he first asked me. I said that if he were in politics he would want to marry me. But he said I didn't care. He said, in the presence of my mother, that he had $50,000 cash and $1,000,000 worth of orders. 'Now you know Jimmy,' I said to him. 'Brand, that I have been called a millionaire kid.' I am not the millionaire kid." Then I explained to him how I got that notoriety.
How She Got Name.
"I said I was on my way out West and stopped in Kansas City where there was a girl named Margaret Tucker. Her father was supposed to be a multimillionaire creamery man. It happened to have $1,000 and lots of jewelry. When I got to Kansas City I put $1,000 down at the hotel and the rest in jewelry. Some newspaper men happened to be at the desk. They immediately thought I was Margaret Tucker and they wrote me up as the millionaire kid."

ARRESTS INCREASING

the existence of the rum-shops and the bad boys.
It is probable that the co-operation of Maj. Pullman with Secretaries Daniels and Baker in the investigations that are to be made regarding the charges of The Herald, will result in the closing of some of the more flagrant violators of the excise and military laws and the closing of many, if not all, of the houses of doubtful reputation.
That action of the type indicated will check the evil conditions at their source is admitted by all. Already

Funeral of Miss Smith.
Funeral services for Miss Anna Tolson Smith, 77 years of age, who died Tuesday at her home, 1235 Twelfth Street northwest, were held yesterday from Gawler's chapel, with Rev. Dr. Anderson, of the Calvary Baptist church, officiating. Interment was made in Glenwood cemetery.

signs of activity on the part of the police in the breaking up of houses of ill repute are shown by the arrest of some women of the streets and the imposition of heavy fines on them in court.

Letters continue to arrive at The Herald office and form a continuous stream of commendation on the stand being taken by the paper. Most of the letters received are from residents of the southwest section of the city, the portion of Washington which The Herald believes should be "cleaned up."

Although he has no personal knowledge of the present conditions in the southwest, other than the news gained from hearsay, Charles S. Shreve, the president of the Federated Citizens' Association of the District of Columbia, yesterday said, when talking of The Herald campaign:

"Newspaper publicity against any vice known to exist is to be highly commended. It is a sure way of bringing about results when an evil condition is to be remedied."

FIXES WHEAT PRICE

timated an opinion regarding that price.
The report of the committee follows:
"The undersigned committee has been asked by you to recommend the price which the government should pay for the 1917 crop of wheat."

"In its deliberations the committee has kept constantly in mind the three following factors:
"First: The fact that the United States is at war.
"Second: The need of encouraging the producer.
"Third: The necessity of reducing the cost of living to the consumer."

"The normal laws of supply and demand have been violently interfered with and Congress has undertaken to offset this disturbance by conferring extraordinary powers upon the President to stabilize prices. Each of the foregoing factors grows out of conditions which have received the careful attention of the committee. Chief among them are: That the wheat field in a great and important section of the country has this year been below the normal; that over against this situation is the crying need among the whole body of the population, especially the wage earners, that the rising tide of costs shall be stayed and reduced as rapidly as possible consistent with the welfare of the producer; that the government is at the present time engaged in the great task of reducing and stabilizing costs of other staple commodities; that the wheat of the world is abundant for its needs even disregarding the stores in Russia, but because of lack of shipping and war conditions the burden of supplying wheat to the allies and to neutral nations rests for the time being upon the United States and Canada."

"Your committee has also considered the fact that the government price for the 1917 wheat crop is in effect a continuing guaranty until the minimum price guaranteed by Congress for the crop of 1918 goes into effect. (July 1, 1918). It has considered the relation of the 1918 minimum price guaranty to the price here recommended. It has also considered the effect which an early termination of the war would have upon the wheat markets of the world."

"In reaching its conclusion the committee has been guided by the principles you have announced, that a fair price should be based upon the cost of production for the entire country plus a reasonable profit. We have relied upon the cost estimates for the crop of 1917 furnished by the United States Department of Agriculture, checked by the results of our independent investigations and the evidence submitted to the committee by producers and their representatives."

"The committee has considered the regulations recently established by the United States Food Administration Grain Corporation for the different grades of the wheat through which all transactions in wheat are to be standardized. It is a sure way of entirely eliminating. Also that profits to the grain dealer, miller, and flour dealer have been regulated and reduced by the grain corporation, effecting a material reduction in the cost of flour."

In consideration of the foregoing facts and circumstances, this committee respectfully recommends that the price on No. 1 Northern spring wheat, or its equivalent, at Chicago be $2.20 per bushel."

FRENCH COMMISSION TO DEDICATE LIBRARY

Members Start Journey to University of California for Ceremony.

Four members of the French High Commission to the United States, will leave here today to dedicate the "Library of French Thought," 6,000 volumes exhibited at the Pan-American Exposition and donated to the University of California. The University has equipped a special "Lafayette Room" for the books. Edouard de Billy, deputy high commissioner, Col. James Martin, Capt. E. J. P. Rouvier and Lieut. Henri Le Compteur, Crezay-Montfort de Courville, the members of the party, will stop en route at Omaha, September 1; Salt Lake City, September 2; and Denver September 3, on the return journey.

THOUSANDS APPLAUD PATRIOTIC PICTURES

The Man Without a Country Presented at Base of Monument.

Fully 4,000 people attending the patriotic rally held last night under the auspices of the Bureau of Commercial Economics at the Sylvan Theater, near the Washington Monument, saw the first public presentation of the photoplay, "The Man Without a Country," founded on the story of that name, written by Edward Everett Hale. This patriotic film market the first occasion the government has given permission for the amphitheater to be used for showing motion pictures, and the picture play preceded by official Allied war films of "The French at Salonika," showing the famous "Tia" hurling death over the Bulgarian battle lines.

Directed by John S. M. Zimmerman, the United States Soldiers' Home Band gave a concert, greatly enjoyed by the throng which occupied the ground from the stage almost to the base of the monument, besides many who watched the film from autos parked along the driveway.

MOONLIGHT ADDS TO SCENE

Reserved seats were roped off in the open-air auditorium, and a special detail of fifteen park policemen was on duty to keep the big crowd in order. Rain threatened to end the rally abruptly when about half over, but the slight sprinkle soon passed, and the scene, with red, white and blue lights strung about, and the tall white shaft of the monument in the background with its top made plain in the glare of searchlights.

Briefly, the picture is the same story written in 1863 as "a contribution, however humble, toward the formation of a true sentiment of love to the defense of that organization will endeavor to boost their membership from 100 men to 200. Patriotic addresses will be delivered by the regimental officers of the Home Defense League Rifles."

After the rally a drill will be held and the men will be reviewed by the regimental staff.

"John Eaton," pacifist, is a staunch believer in "peace at any price." His persistence in following the theory that war is a relic of barbaric ages and ought not to be resorted to against the Hun, first loses for him the love of the girl to whom he is pledged, then the friendship of the engaged, then the friendship of the man without a country, and finally even his self-respect is gone when his valet enters the service. In desperation, he swears with an oath that he "wishes never to hear the name of the United States again." Then in a dream he is shown that "John Eaton" is the reincarnation of "Lieut. Philip Nolan," the original "man without a country" in the story. He learns the moral of the tale, "Joins up" with the American forces, and there is a final scene taken recently at Fort Slocum showing soldiers about to leave for "over there" with John Eaton, enlisted man, bidding farewell to his fiancée.

MUSIC SUITED TO PLAY

Drawing frequent applause, the music fitted in admirably with the theme of the play.
The program: March, "All America" (Zemzensky); overture, "William Tell," (Rossini); trio from, opera, "Martha," (Flotow); patriotic, Fantasia, "War Songs of the Boys in Blue," (Rollinson).
Synopsis: "Prayer for Peace." The first gun. To arms!
The assembly. "Rally 'round the Flag."
The reveille. Drill call. The raw recruits.
"In Camp" adjutant's call. Approach of the guard. Songs of the camp. "Kingdom Coming." "Glory Bugle call." Attention. Assembly of the battalion.
"Nearing the End of the War." "When Johnny Comes Marching Home." "Tramp, Tramp, the Boys are Marching." "Marching Through Georgia."
"After the War." "The Vacant Chair." "Auld Lang Syne."
Bugsle call. Three Cheers for the Red, White, and Blue.
Popular Songs (a) "Somewhere a Voice is Calling." (Tate). (b) "I Love You." (Safrafsky).
Patrol. "The American." (Mecham).
Intermezzo. "A Whispered Thought." (Johnson).
Valse. "Valse Fascination." (Grey).
Finale. "The Stars and Stripes Forever." ( Sousa).
"The Star Spangled Banner."

HOME RIFLES PLAN RECRUITING RALLY

A recruiting rally will be held at Elks Hall, 919 Eighth Street northwest tonight at 8 o'clock and the home defense rifles of that organization will endeavor to boost their membership from 100 men to 200. Patriotic addresses will be delivered by the regimental officers of the Home Defense League Rifles.
After the rally a drill will be held and the men will be reviewed by the regimental staff.

PREDICTS CESSATION OF WARS ON BORDER

John Murray Says Organized Labor Has Stopped Ill Feeling.

Declaring that the Mexican and American wage earners of Arizona, through the medium of association in the Arizona State Federation of Labor, had "come to a fraternal understanding which marks the beginning of the end of all future border wars," John Murray, secretary of the Pan-American Federation of Labor Conference Committee, at a meeting of this international body in the A. P. of L. Building here, virtually stated that organized labor had solved the problem of ill feeling on the Mexican border, which has for so long been troubling diplomats in the Capital.

The meeting was presided over by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. During the course of the meeting, it was stated that mine owners of Arizona and their managers had falsely claimed that every labor organizer was an "I. W. W." agitator, in order that lawless bands of vigilantes be organized under the direct control of these same copper barons, to terrorize and deport every wage worker not to their liking. It was declared that proof could be furnished to substantiate these charges.
Plans for the proposed international labor conference to be held on October 10, on alternate days in two towns touching the border line, Douglas and Agua Prieta, were formulated at the meeting. Many high officials of both nations will be invited to be present.

Senators Lodge and Weeks, of Massachusetts, have protested against sending New England regiments to training camps in the South, on the ground that the change in climate on going to France would be detrimental to health.
Edward de Valera, a leader in the recent Irish rebellion, who was sentenced to life imprisonment, has been elected to Parliament.

TEST FOR MECHANICS SET FOR SEPTEMBER 8

Government Also Needs Draftsmen, Clerks and Other Skilled Labor.

Examinations for automobile mechanics, topographic draftsmen and tariff clerks will be held here in the near future, according to an announcement made recently by the Civil Service Commission. The examination for the mechanics will be held on September 8 and for the remaining two on October 2.
The position of automobile mechanic commands a salary of $1,300 per year with $1,000 to start. Situations in this line are now open in the Post Office Department and in the office of the depot quartermaster of Washington.
Positions for tariff clerks are open in the Interstate Commerce Commission. Topographic draftsmen are needed only in the Panama Canal service. Vacancies for this position will be filled from the examination October 2.
Other examination occurring in the near future will be for the positions of trained nurse, preparator in metal work, by lithographer, lithographic transferer, rural engineering, draughtsman, conductor and park watchman.
