Holland Tells of Startling Now Employed.

If it were possible to transport the fighting and the workmen are labor-ing for a common cause. An esti-mate made by the National Service section of the Emergency Fleet Cor-poration fixes the number of artisans and wage-carners in the shinyards poration fixes the number of a thanks and wage-earners in the shipyards and in industrial plants that are occupied in manufacturing machinery and other equipment for the ships at about 750,000. While, of course, the manufacturing machiner of the marcountry knew something of the marrelous activity the United States is now directing in the building of ships and equipment for them, yet only a few can have realized, until the semi-official statement was made, that this industry alone entails the employment of over 700,000 artisans and wage-earners. This is a new industrial army that has been mobilized and

There may be a few submarines off the Atlantic coast and it is pos sible that some attempt will be made to scatter bombs over coast cities, although this is very doubtful, but when it is borne in mind that the United States is now building ships at such a rate that before the end of this year we shall have floating upon the ocean more ships than the German submarines have destroyed submarine warfare began. then it will be possible to realize that whatever danger there may come from submarines will be incidental; trivial in comparison with More Than River Clyde Shipways.

There are upon the River Clyde There are upon the River Clyde a hundred shipways and there Great Britain is manufacturing, launching and floating ships to a greater extent than at any other of the shipbuilding plants of Great Britain, but today there are more shipways within 15 miles of New York City than the entire number upon the River Clyde. These shipways have been established, not exactly secretly, and yet without much public no tice, so that the statement that ther are more shipways within 15 miles of New York than are now established upon the River Clyde will cer-tainly cause some astonishment. But that is not all. On the Dela-ware River, and exclusive of the Hog Island plant, there are also more shipways than are to be found upon the banks of the River Clyde. Were it would seem almost incredible that within a little over a hundred miles from New York southerly there are more than twice as many shipways than the number of those now estabished upon the River Clyde, and this does not include the Hog Island plant.

within a year or more is one of the marvels of American efficiency and speed. Situated at the junction of the Schuylkill and Delaware Rivers, it was a barren place, esteemed of no especial consequence when Congress declared that a state of war existed with Germany. Today there are fifty shipways upon Hog Island, one-half of that number being already com-pleted. It has become a bustling center of industry. The workingmen are comfortably housed, an excellent hotel has been established, and those who have been its guests speak well of it. A bank has also been estab-tished there and various other acces-sories sure to follow the creation of a city of some 50,000 inhabitants.

Chicago, June 10.—Country consignment notices for corn were light today according to reports of the receivers of this grain in the Chicago market. This fact caused a change in sentiment and drove an army of shorts to cover. In addition to this, buying was free on taking of the various futures by investors. The day showed gains of Hye for June, Lalke for July and 2% for August. There were fractional reactions from the highest levels, but the undercurrent was strong up to the close.

Cash corn was unchanged to 50 lower, with sales here of only 5,000 bushels. The advance in corn values today seemed to be an adjustment of relations between the July corn future and the syst prices.

Although the letter is one of congratulation to Mr. Creel for the success of the War Department moving picture, "Pershing's Crusaders," it points out that a serious mistake had been made in the captions of some of the pictures, in which the Red Cross is referred to in the class of war charities.

"I need hardly remind you that a serious mistake had been made in the captions of some of the pictures, in which the Red Cross is referred to in the class of war charities.

"I need hardly remind you that the war plans of the War and Navy dering the American Red Cross is not a war charity," reads Mr. Macfarland's letter explains of the United States.

Mr. Macfarland's letter explains that, although all this is probably well known in Washington, it may not be so well known in the States through which the pictures will be shown, and advises that the captions referred to be changed, before it is shown in other parts of the country.

Interest was scattered throughout a narrow list of issues today, and the market was almost entirely devoid of special features. Houston Oil was, heavy, declining about 2 points from the final of last week, on some profit taking. Merritt Oil, on the other hand, was firmer, selling over the previous high level of the year. The balance of the high priced oils were quiet and prices mored within very narrow limits.

Industrials were quieter than they have been for some time, and business was of comparamarkets and the curb were quieter, as to the
