

In the Social World

By MAUD McDOUGALL.

Mrs. Wilson is having one of her little official teas at the White House this afternoon, at which the ladies of the Cabinet circle will be, particularly guests.

Mrs. Marshall, wife of the Vice President, who has been having a long siege of the influenza, is really "about well"—witness the fact that she expects to be able to go to the White House this afternoon, her first social adventure since her illness. Little Morrison Marshall, who has been ill also, recuperated more rapidly than did Mrs. Marshall, and has been quite himself for the last week or so.

This evening the Vice President and Mrs. Marshall will go to Boston for a couple of days, as the Vice President has an address to make there at a banquet of the Manufacturers' Association. They will return to Washington on Wednesday.

The French Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand have cards out for a reception at the embassy tonight in honor of the entrance of French and American troops into Alsace-Lorraine. The French High Commission and other friends from official circles.

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Lansing, who have been spending the week-end with their old neighbors at Watertown, N. Y., are expected in Washington this morning.

They have a socially busy week ahead of them, as practically every night from now on someone will be giving a dinner in their honor, prior to their departure for the peace conference. Among their hosts for the week are the Minister of Salvador and Mme. Zaldívar, who will entertain at dinner in their honor on Friday night.

The retiring Ambassador of Argentina and Mme. Naon are also very much in demand as honor guests and have their time pretty well filled up to the day of their departure. The Minister of Switzerland and Mme. Sulzer will entertain at dinner in their honor on Thursday—Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. Newton D. Baker, wife of the Secretary of War, who has been ill for the last month, has returned to her Georgetown home from the local hospital which she entered early in the week and seems now to be making steady progress toward complete recovery.

The Secretary of the Navy went down to his home in Raleigh, N. C., Saturday to meet Mrs. Daniels who was on her way home after an extended tour through the West and Southwest in behalf of the Y. W. C. A. War Council. They are both expected in their Washington home today.

Senor Don Beltrán Mathieu, the new Chilean Ambassador, arrived in Washington yesterday.

The Italian Ambassador, Count Macchi di Cellere, will go to New York today to be the honor guest at the luncheon to be given at the Hotel McAlpin by the American Manufacturers' Export Association.

G. B. Cecato, commercial delegate attached to the embassy, and Francisco Quatrone, special delegate, will accompany the Ambassador.

Attorney General and Mrs. Gregory have as their guest Mrs. Mary Cook, of Philadelphia, who will remain with them until after Thanksgiving.

The Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Houston will entertain a few friends informally at dinner on Thanksgiving Day.

Mr. John Barrett, director general of the Pan American Union, entertained at luncheon yesterday in the Columbian Room of the Pan American Building in honor of Senor Don Gustavo Munizaga Varela, counselor and charge d'affaires of Chile, who is about to surrender direction of the Embassy to the new Chilean Ambassador, Senor Don Beltrán Mathieu. Aside from the host and the guest of honor, those present included: Breckenridge Long, Third Assistant Secretary of State; J. E. Lefevre, charge d'affaires of Panama; Albert Blanchet, charge d'affaires of Haiti; J. H. Stabler, chief, Latin American division, State Department; Juan B. Rolo, counselor of the Mexican Embassy; Rene Correa Luna, secretary of the Argentine Embassy; Capt. Julian Izar, naval attaché of the Argentine Embassy; Col.

Alfredo Ewing, military attaché of the Chilean Embassy; Boaz Long, diplomatic service, State Department; Maj. Ernesto N. Tabo, military attaché of the Cuban legation; Pedro Villademoros, financial commissioner, Argentine Embassy; Lieut. Jose Van de Gucht, naval attaché of the Cuban legation; Manuel Zavala, secretary of the Nicaraguan legation; Luis Fidel Yanes, secretary of the Chilean Embassy; Alberto Cortés, secretary of the Bolivian legation; Hugo Wilson, financial commissioner, Argentine Embassy; Octavio Flahio, second secretary of the Brazilian Embassy; Ricardo Becu, second secretary of the Argentine Embassy; Oscar E. Duplan, second secretary of the Mexican Embassy; Mariano Brull, second secretary of the Cuban legation; Angel Gandofo Herrera, attaché of the Argentine Embassy; L. A. Penaherrera, attaché of the Ecuadorian legation; Pablo Rada, attaché of the Bolivian legation; Juan Ovalle-Quintero, attaché of the Colombian legation; Francisco J. Yanes, assistant director of the Pan American Union; A. C. Rivas, of the Pan American Union; Harry W. Van Dyke, W. A. Reid, acting chief of the Pan American Union; Benito Javier Perez-Verdía, of the Pan American Union.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlemagne Tower, of Philadelphia, the former at one time United States Ambassador to Austria, Prussia and Germany, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen Tower, to Maj. William Abbott Robertson, U. S. A., of Nashville, Tenn.

Miss Tower is in Washington at the headquarters of the American Red Cross. She made her debut several seasons ago at a ball given by her parents in Horticultural Hall.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, December 21, in Holy Trinity Church.

Rear Admiral Charles H. Davis, U. S. N., retired, and Mrs. Davis, who have been at Newport since closing their summer home in Jamestown, started yesterday for Washington, where they will pass the winter.

Mrs. Marshall Field entertained at dinner last night at her residence on Sixteenth street.

Mrs. Champ Clark, Mrs. Thomas P. Gore, Mrs. John D. Shafroth, Mrs. Thetis Sims, Mrs. Edward Keating and Mrs. Louis Brownlow received the guests at the victory celebration meeting yesterday afternoon at the headquarters of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, 1628 Rhode Island avenue. For the first time in suffrage history there have been full suffrage victories in three States in one year. The winning of Oklahoma, South Dakota and Michigan to show the world that the world where people can dispense with the ordinary deceptions of life in dealing with each other, and in which every season is an open season for each to show the world that he is hunting for the other's little faults and peculiarities.

And yet, heaven knows, there is no other place where we all desire to show the world that we are heartsearers, and there are no other eyes in which we so yearn to loom heroic. Probably no man ever gets such a knock out blow as when he first discovers that yesterday, the Bonapartes, by the way, are looking well ahead to next summer. They have already prepared a cottage at Newport for the season.

The First Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. William Phillips will entertain at dinner on Tuesday and again on Saturday.

Mr. Yoshio Tawate, the newly-appointed secretary of the Japanese Legation in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, formerly attaché to the Embassy in Washington, is now stopping at the Hotel Popthar. Mr. Tawate is temporarily attached to the Embassy here awaiting passage to his new post.

Mrs. Herbert Shipman has arrived in Washington to remain over Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edson Bradley.

Miss Cornelia Aldis has returned to Washington and is established in her home on K street.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Smith, who have spent a delightful three weeks in Atlantic City and New York, are back in their apartment at 2400 Sixteenth street.

Lieut. Winthrop Murray Crane, Jr., U. S. A., Ordnance, has arrived in France.

Patronesses for the Navy Relief concert and dance on Thanksgiving night at Washington Barracks are Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Josephus Daniels, Mrs. George Dewey, Lady Grant, Mrs. M. M. Palmer, Mrs. William Shepard Benson, Mrs. Claude A. Swanson, Mrs. Lemuel Padgett, Mrs. Richardson Clover, Mrs. Henry Dimock, Mrs. William Sampson and Mrs. Willard Brownson.

Mrs. Arthur Willard is chairman of the District of Columbia auxiliary of the navy relief, it being customary for the wife of the commandant of the navy yard to preside. Mrs. George Barnett is first vice president, Mrs. William S. Benson, second vice president, Miss Mary K. Lambert, secretary, and Mrs. Z. L. Tanner, treasurer.

Mrs. Richard Walnwright is chairman of the executive committee and Mrs. John O. Nicholson is chairman of the relief committee, which gives immediate assistance to the afflicted. Other members are Mrs. Edward J. Dorn, Mrs. Ralph Earle, Mrs. Arthur T. Niblack, Mrs. Leigh Palmer, Mrs. Seaton Schroeder and Mrs. Alexander Sharp.

Mrs. Countess, wife of Rear Admiral R. E. Countess, is spending the winter in Washington and has consented to be one of the receiving line. She was chairman of the auxiliary in Seattle this year when that auxiliary gave a most successful pageant and realized $100,000, dividing between the Red Politeness in the Home Circle.

By DOROTHY DIX

THE WORLD'S HIGHEST PAID WOMAN WRITER.

The little 4-year-old accidentally spilled some of his cocoa on the nice clean white table cloth. His mother reproved him sharply for being messy and sloppy and sent him from the table.

The little fellow was crushed with mortification, and as he climbed down from his high chair he turned to his mother and sobbed out:

"Why don't you treat me polite, like I was company, and say that I didn't make any difference?"

And we grown-ups looked at each other and said one murmured, "out of the mouths of babes and sucklings," for the child's hand had pulled aside the curtain and shown us the skeleton in the closet of practically every household.

It's lack of politeness. It's lack of plain ordinary common civility. It is lack of the elementary consideration that we show to the real thing that is the matter with domesticity. That is what makes marriage a failure. That is why we say there is no place like home, and that's why we say that husbands and wives strain on the bond that ties them together, and why brothers and sisters scatter to the four winds of the earth, and why sons and daughters who have to stay at home with their parents regard themselves, and are popularly regarded, as martyrs.

For it is only too sadly true that there is nobody on earth who treats you with the same degree of brutality that your own family does. There is nobody else who is so rude to you, or who shows so little regard for your sensibilities, and your own family would not think of offering you the insults that are freely tendered to you by those who really love you.

No peculiarity of human nature is so inexplicable as this. Why our nearest and dearest should daily stab us to the heart with speeches leaving wounds that never heal; why the hands that we must have on our weaknesses to the public and point out defects, nobody knows.

It is merely true that there seems to be a general impression that the family circle is the only place in the world where people can dispense with the ordinary deceptions of life in dealing with each other, and in which every season is an open season for each to show the world that he is hunting for the other's little faults and peculiarities.

And yet, heaven knows, there is no other place where we all desire to show the world that we are heartsearers, and there are no other eyes in which we so yearn to loom heroic. Probably no man ever gets such a knock out blow as when he first discovers that

Happy Mothers Prepare in Advance

A Wonderful Influence for Expectant Mothers.

Mothers for over half a century have used with the utmost regard the time-honored preparation, Mother's Friend, before the arrival of baby. Here is a true wonder, penetrating application for the abdomen and breasts. It softens and makes elastic the muscles, and is so pleasant to readily yield to nature's demand for expansion. By its use the anxious mother of pregnancy is made comfortable. The usual wrenching strain, bearing-down and stretching pains are counteracted. The system is prepared for the coming event, and the use of Mother's Friend brings restful nights and happy anticipations for the new baby.

By its regular application the muscular system of the mother is kept in good condition, the time is less at the crisis and naturally the pain and danger is less.

Mother's Friend is on sale at every drug store. It is for external use only, is absolutely safe and wonderful in its place for the likes of it to be at the dinner.

"Not for the likes of me!" was Willie's indignant rejoinder. "I've been in the company of gentlemen from 1890 to 1918, and that's the last thirty years and that's the last thirty years."

Write the Bradford Regulator Company, Dept. C, Lamar Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for interesting Motherhood Book, free to users of Mother's Friend, and obtain a bottle of Mother's Friend, from the drug store and begin this grateful treatment.—Adv.

his wife does not look up to him as an oracle but regards him as a poor weak creature with wobbly judgment. Nor does any woman's vanity ever survive ascertaining that her husband thinks of her as a fat, homely, middle-aged woman whom he calls "mother," and not as a living picture. Of course the members of a family naturally get each other's number with a pitiless accuracy, but why should they not conceal their fatal knowledge from each other as they would from strangers? Why hand out for home consumption the frank and brutal criticism they would not dream of offering to a mere acquaintance.

When Jonesby, who fancies himself as a raconteur, tells over for the hundredth time some story that Mrs. Smithkins cut her teeth upon in the cradle she laughs in the right places and applauds it, no matter how bored she is nor how much Jonesby has bungled the tale in the telling.

But let husband undertake to disseminate a few home chestnuts and wife rings the bell on him, and tells him that he always fumbles the tale, and misses the point in an anecdote, and makes him feel small and ridiculous.

When Thompson takes down Mrs. Blank to dinner and she expresses perfectly idiotic opinions that show her utter ignorance of the topic she is discussing, Thompson beams upon her and listens as if to the voice of a sibyl, but when his wife dares to differ with him on any subject he tells her that she doesn't know what she is talking about, and that she's got the mind of a hen.

When you put all of your good money in a flock or a hat the other women you meet will praise its style, or lines, or color. It's only your own sense that tells you that it's a young fool he is, and then wonders why Ben won't work for him. For it never dawned on the stupid parents that the main reason that children want to leave home is to get among strangers who will not feel free to criticize their personal peculiarities.

It is sad, but true, that the greatest need in the world is for politeness in the home circle.

Cross and the Main Society of Navy Relief.

The board of managers of the Young Women's Christian Home, 211 C street northwest, wishes to remind the many friends of the home that donations for Thanksgiving Day will be most gratefully received at the home.

Tuesday evening at 8:15 Maj. Tracy will give an illustrated talk on "Camouflage" at the United Service Club of America at Dupont circle.

On Friday evening at 8:15 Rustom Rustumjee, esq. of Bombay, India, will address the club on "What India Has Done for the Allies." Moving picture slides specially sent out by the British War Mission will be shown in connection with the lecture.

Miss Janet Richards returned yesterday from a lecture trip to Philadelphia, New Jersey and New York, where she addressed large audiences on "The Menace of Hypnotism." At her weekly talk this morning at the Knickerbocker at 10:45 she will speak especially on "The Task of Peace Making: Dangers Ahead."

The cavalry branch of the army emergency committee will have a benefit performance of moving pictures at the Knickerbocker on the afternoon of November 25 at 2:30. Mrs. Douglas McCaskey is chairman of the ticket committee.

The League of American Penwomen will hold a reception of rejoicing on Thanksgiving Day from 2:30 to 6 o'clock for the members and their friends at the league club rooms at 1623 H street northwest.

At 4 o'clock the assembly will join in the national "Army and Navy" song at the National Council of Women has arranged as an expression of patriotic and spiritual thanksgiving.

Dr. Otis Glazebrook, late American Consul at Jerusalem, will speak on Jerusalem. Sergt. Trumple will sing several solos.

Mrs. Isaac Pearson, president of the league, will be assisted in receiving by members of the executive board.

The "Victory Reception" to be tendered by the Southern Society of Washington in honor of the army and navy at the Wardman Park Hotel, Tuesday evening will be one of the brilliant and largely attended functions of the season. Hon. Newton D. Baker and Hon. Josephus Daniels will be the guests of honor. The affair will be attended by high officials of the army and the navy and by the Diplomatic Corps representing the countries allied with the United States in the war. President Clarence J. Owens, of the society, and Mrs. Owens, will be joined on the receiving line by three of the past presidents of the society and their wives—Gen. William C. Gorgas, Capt. C. C. Calhoun and Mr. Claude N. Bennett, and also by Secretary and Mrs. Baker and Secretary and Mrs. Daniels; Miss Nannie Randolph, both presidents of the Southern Relief Society, and Hon. James H. Preston and Mrs. Preston, of Baltimore. Mr. Milton W. Johnson, vice chairman of the executive committee, is assisting in the preparations for the function. The chairman of the committee, Secretary Daniels, will be one of the guests of honor. A large floor committee and a large reception committee is being organized; the floor committee under the chairmanship of Col. Robert E. Lee, the reception committee under the chairmanship of Admiral Samuel McGowan.

Scotch.

A Scotch caddy is almost certain to be a shrewd observer of men and things and he is frequently gifted with a sharp tongue.

Andrew Carnegie tells of "Lord Willie," who was for many years a well-known figure on the St. Andrews golf links.

A public dinner was to be given in honor of a very distinguished foreigner on the occasion of his first visit to St. Andrews and Willie applied for a ticket to the balliff who was in charge of the arrangements. The worthy man curtly refused the application, telling Willie that it was "no place for the likes of him to be at the dinner."

"Not for the likes of me!" was Willie's indignant rejoinder. "I've been in the company of gentlemen from 1890 to 1918, and that's the last thirty years and that's the last thirty years."

AMERICAN MENU ON FEAST DAY

Thanksgiving Dinner Planned to Equalize Food Supplies.

A universal Thanksgiving dinner menu, planned for the American home, that has the simplicity of the first Thanksgiving dinner, has been prepared by the United States Food Administration.

Not a fowl or fruit or vegetable is mentioned on the menu that would not be found on any American farm. The fare, as planned, is typical of our national feast and our first peace holiday.

In suggesting a universal Thanksgiving menu the use of local products is advocated in order to lessen the tax on rail transportation. A shortage or oversupply of poultry, game or vegetables in certain localities should be adjusted to meet the community supply, the Food Administration suggests.

Feast Day Menu.

The menu planned for 100 per cent Americans on the American feast day is as follows:

Roast Turkey, Chicken, Duck, Goose, or Game (if the State law permits), with Bread Dressing (Left-over Dried Bread).

Mashed Potatoes.

Mashed Turnips.

Baked Tomatoes (Home Canned).

Cranberry Sauce.

Lettuce or Fruit Salad.

Pumpkin Pie or Steamed Pudding.

The Food Administration has given the following recipes:

Cranberry Sauce—1 quart cranberries, 1 pint water, 3-4 cup syrup, 3-4 cup sugar. Boil the syrup, sugar and water for five minutes; skim if necessary. Add the berries and cook without stirring until all the skins break.

Pumpkin Pie Filling—2 cups pumpkin, 1 cup sugar, 1-2 cup molasses or sorghum, 1 teaspoonful cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon ginger, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 2 cups milk.

Mix pumpkin with molasses and seasonings. Add sugar, eggs and milk. Bake in a pastry-lined pie plate until firm.

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

HOROSCOPE.

Monday, November 25, 1918.

The stars are not friendly to human activities today, according to the reading of the astrologers.

Saturn, the Sun and Venus are all adverse.

There appears to be some difficulty affecting farmers and their interests. This may be a disastrous storm but it is more likely to be some condition owing to war exigencies.

Mining has a sinister sign today, which indicates that there may be labor shortage or other troubles that restrict production. This sign seems to affect other minerals besides coal.

It is almost unpropitious rule under which to push one's claims to any position or advancement.

Under this sway arrogance on the part of men in high place is likely to be revealed. Employers as well as office holders of every rank are likely to be affected by this sinister influence.

Women are subject to a direction making for anxiety and disappointment. They should practice self-control and should keep a positive attitude of mind.

Bachelors have a planetary direction that is sinister. In the new order of things they will occupy a peculiar place in public esteem, the seers declare.

This is not a fortunate wedding day and it is not a lucky government of the stars for any social affair.

One of the innovations after the war will be the establishment of people's theaters according to the prophecy of a famous astrologer.

Increase in the birth rate is prognosticated and the children born at this time will be endowed with extraordinary talents and brilliant minds. It is prognosticated. Occultists believe that, owing to the premature going out of so many fine spirits in battle, large numbers will be quickly reincarnated.

Persons whose birth date it is may have illness in the family and they should be extremely careful to safeguard the health.

Children born on this day may be inclined to be careless in dress and in money affairs. These subjects of Sagittarius are usually talented and independent.

What He Wanted to Say.

Gen. Biddle said at a London garden party:

"The doughboy in France has a lot of trouble with the French language. A doughboy sat on a bench in the Tuileries Gardens one day and thumbed a French phrase book discontentedly.

"This here book," he growled, "don't tell you what you want to say at all. It tells you how to say the uncle of your mother is 65 years old, or the sister of your wife has bought a cow, or the umbrella of your neighbor is in the attic, but I don't want to say nothing of that kind."

"What I'm after," said the doughboy, "is a book that tells you how to say: 'Your face is familiar—sift me before'—or 'Gee, then eyes'—or 'Little girl, you sure do look out of sight in that swimmin' suit.'"

SATIN FRANCAISE

A new satin, that is particularly well adapted for present-day wear, because of its durability, its artistic draping quality, its rich luster and the delightful softness of its weave.

Satin is one of the fabrics that is always in style, always correct for evening wear, for street and afternoon frocks, whether used alone or in combination with serge, Georgette and other materials.

Women of the stage and movie stars are featuring most attractive gowns of Satin Francaise, and the fashion magazines are devoting much space to this new weave.

The universal adaptability of Satin Francaise to the needs of well-gowned women is shown by the very complete range of shades in which it is manufactured:

For Evening.	For Street.	For Afternoon.
