While the matter of calaries will be pressed upon the Congressmen as the most urgent need for saving the downfall of the local system, the matter of more and larger buildings will be brought strongly to their attention. This matter, too, is an urgent one, for, with the rap-id growth in the school population here, it will be almost impossible to educate the large number of chil-dren through the lack of gehool room facilities in which to instruct

With classes already over-sized from the standpoint of efficient teaching and where the teacher through mere large numbers is pro-hibited from giving a bit of indi-vidual instruction to the backward child, local cases are known where it has been necessary for the teachers to recommend to the parents of children that they take them home and give them individual instruction themselves or employ a private tutor to help the child through his difficulties.
