THE WEEKLY STAR.

published to-day, is a sparkling and reliable chronicle of the events of the week drawing to a close. Besides the contributions of its editor and his assistants, it contains the correspondence of contributors-the spice of the Washington newspapers-the cream of Wash ington Gossip-piquant personal paragraphs -the news, wit and humor of the day-careful selections from new literature and poetrycrude-speculations and flying rumors on political matters-and, with many other interesting articles, one of those sketches of Congressional Committees which are so generally copied by the press, far and near.

The "Weekly Star" is a pleasant remembrance to forward to an absent friend, and an agreeable Washington visitor at the distant home of any one who has ever been here, o who takes an interest in metropolitan matters. It can be procured in strong wrappers, ready for mailing.

SPIRIT OF THE MORNING PRESS.

The Intelligencer, admitting that the Democrats made large gains in the recent New Hampshire election, quotes various Demo cratic newspaper articles and speeches made during the recent canvas there, to prove that "the party" in that State based its favor for the Nebraska bill, on the ground that if not intefered with from without, its effect would be to bring Kansas into the Union as a nonslaveholding State.

The Union graphically describes yesterday's interesting proceedings in the Sen The same paper contends that the tone of the English press indicates a purpose on the part of the British ministry to get up an European coalition against the United States similar to that new existing against Russia.

WASHINGTON NEWS AND GOSSIP.

Excruciating -The countenances of the host of lobby men surrounding the House, who are identified with the Republican party-and they are as thick as crows in a corn field at the beginning of sprouting time-exhibited signs of inward distress yesterday, when the Speaker announced the result of the division on seconding the call made by Mr. Washburn for the previous question on agreeing to the resolution authorizing the Elections Committee to send for persons and papers in the Kansas contested election case, almost excruciating enough to give disinterested bystanders the stomach ache. They were awfully whipped in that division, the majority against them being eighteen. Horace, the redoubta ble, prepared his readers for their defeat as best he could a day or two since. But neither he nor his worshippers in and outside of the bar were prepared to find themselves so conclusively beaten. We saw on the countenances of twenty of them, unmistakeable mortification and chagrin at the failure of their cunningly concected scheme to assemble at this point an efficient corps of stout and rough swearers and abolition letter writers, to be supported at the cost of the national treasury until the termination of the Presidential contest, for the benefit of the Republican party. The defeat, utter and total, of this scheme, was involved in the so emphatic refusal of the House to sustain Mr. Washburn's demand for the previous question. The truth is, the idea of granting the committee the power they ask, is based wholly on bald rumor, and the Tribune and New York Times Kansas correspondence-a budget of roorbacks and false pretences from beginning to end. Good enough Morgans for Republican party electioneering purposes, they are by no means the description of testimony on which a majority of the House of Representatives of the United States will venture to act. The speech of Mr. Washburn, of Maine, delivered yesterday, was a full and flat-footed confession that the extraordinary demand in question, was made wholly on the strength of such testimony, and none other. Can sensible people wonder that the House have no confidence in the recommendations of the Elections Committee, as packed by Mr. Banks, after reading the debate that has occurred in the course of the past week?

The Chesapeake and Ohio Canal .- We regret beyond measure that the Maryland Senate have killed the bill recently before them, for the sale of the State's interest in the Chesapeake and Ohio canal Millions of money wrung from citizens of Maryland by taxation were invested in the work, when integrity of purpose with reference to it guided the policy of those who managed the affairs of the State. Many millions of the money of citizens of Maryland, of Virginia, and the District of Columbia are also voluntarily invested in that grand improvement which, if properly managed, cannot fail to be the greatest conceivable aid to the prosperity of the upper Potomac section of the State, to this District, and Northeastern Virginia. As managed at present, under the fixed purpose of Maryland to crush and render it practically useless, it is but a curse; promising much, and thus inducing honest business men to invest in connection with business upon it, and then cheating them out of their investments. A more monstrous policy than that of Maryland, with reference to the Chesapeake and Ohio canal, never was proclaimed by any des potic government with reference to a public interest or trust confided by a portion of its citizens to its hands. After having taken the initiative in inducing thousands on thousands to invest their money in the construction of the work, the State obtained the entire control of its affairs, and now manages it to the avowed end of crippling its utility and business, in which it has been eminently success. pose that they intended to sal, lot

Those who have been driven almost to desperation by the loss of their means growing matter, ask that Maryland will dispose of her interest in it, for a fair equivalent, to parties who will manage the work for the benefit of those really interested in it-her capital invested in it at this time being a dead loss; wholly unproductive. Their just prayer is whistled down the wind. Were we a citizen of that State, no candidate for the Legislature should receive our vote, it matters not to what party he belongs, unless evincing willingness to wipe from her escutcheon the foul blot of despotism and dishonor combined, involved in the continuance of Maryland's present policy with reference to the Chesapeake and Ohio

The Result in New Hampshire.-We have a private dispatch from Concord, New Hampshire, of yesterday's date, announcing Wells, (Democrat.) and Metcalf, (Republican Know Nothing,) have, each, about 32,000 votes, and Goodwin, (Whig.) has less than 2,000 In the House, the Republicans claim a majority of thirteen. From all the signs, we feel as confident of the election of Wells by the Legislature as of Metcalf.

On Tuesday, we predicted that there would be a victory of the friends of Pierce, and his constitutional theory in relation to African slavery, which would be a moral triumph in every respect. It is realized. The Republican Know Nothings have been routed in one of their strongest holds.

This New Hampshire contest has been fought wholly upon the constitutional theory of the Government and relations of slavery, embodied in the Kansas and Nebraska bill, and President Pierce's recent messages to Congress. The straight Whigs have uniformly voted for Republican Know Nothing members of the Legislature. There has been no avoiding or shrinking from the issue. It has been a single-handed contest of Democracy against all the isms. The Democratic party, in their last State convention in June, solemnly approved, by resolutions, the Nebraska-Kansas bill; declared their belief that Congress had no power to impose restrictions respecting slavery upon a State seeking admission into the Union; and proclaimed their unqualified approbation of the policy and all the official acts of President Pierce. Upon those issues the Democrats have gained, in one year, more than eight thousand in the popular vote, and reduced the opposition majority in the Legislature from one hundred and forty-one to what the Republicans claim is thirteen.

This gain, so unprecedented, is made in State which can cast only about sixty-six thousand votes. The vote cast on Tuesday last is greater by more than 13,000 than that east in the lest Presidential election, when the Democratic vote was 29,997.

New Hampshire, we take it, is certain to vote in November next for the nominee of the Cincinnati Convention, no matter who he is. provided he represents the great principles of the Kansas and Nebraska bill. Such is the moral of the result of this election.

P. S. We have just received another private dispatch from Concord, saying that there the chance of Wells to be elected by the Legislature is to-day deemed the best.

Another Stirring Letter .- Mr. Clingman of North Carolina, has addressed to his constituents an able letter on the topics in issue just now, the character and prospects, ends, sims, &c., of the three political parties into which the country is divided. It is a paper replete with perspicacity, research and powerful reasoning, such as cannot fail to fall on the North Carolina public mind with great force. In it, he shows the precise character of slavery in British India, and that it is far worse in its main features than American slavery. He traces the machinations of our Abolitionists to British influence, and argues to show that they are, at best, enemies of their own Government and allies of Bri ain. He then takes up the Know Nothing party and shows that in the approaching contest, those in the South who support Fillmore and Donelson will be practically but strengthening Abolitionism by dividing the opposition to it; contending too, that the only opposition to Abolitionism at the North that can be relied on, is that of the Democratic party. To prove that point he recurs to the history of the late contest for the Speakership, wherein the Northern National Know Nothings indirectly aided and abetted the triumph of Banks as against Aiken. His concluding argument wherein he explains the position and mission of the Demo cratic party, is an elequent and very able tribute indeed, to the integrity of its organizations to the rights of the States and sections as guaranteed by the constitutions. We regret that want of space precludes us from quoting from this letter at length.

Improved Fire Arms .- It is very evident that interested parties will endeavor to induce Congress to undertake to choose between the many patents for improved small arms offered for the use of the Government, and also to prevent the War Department from converting as many as possible of the muskets now on hand into improved guns, as is contemplated. Of course, the drumming gun-men desire that every dollar of the three millions, proposed to be appropriated to obtain improved weapons for the army of the United States, shall be expended directly among themselves, and are moving (through the distant press especially) to accomplish that end by direct legislation of Congress. It is fortunate for the public interest, however, that the members have sufficient sense to comprehend that the Ordnance branch of the War Department are much better judges of the relative merits of weapons than themselves; and it is also fortunate that they are by no means inclined to buy new guns when those on hand can be made to answer quite as well for less than one-fourth the cost of new ones.

The Current Operations of the Treasury Department .- On yesterday, 14th of March. there were of Treasury warrants entered on the books of the Department-For the Treasury Department... $52,170 14 For the Treasury Department... 15,308 15 For the Interior Department.... 151,005 24 For Customs.... War warrants received and entered....

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS. In the Senate, yesterday, after we went to press, Mr. Trumbull continued his speech in reply to portions of the report of Mr. Douglas. from the Territories Committee on Kansas afnority of the said committee. In the course of his remarks, Mr. T.

fairs, not replied to in the report of the mi-

come up to what the majority (of Congress) thought it should be; and defended the emigrant aid societies and their acts, and asserted that he was a Democrat, &c.

Mr. Douglas, (who had been detained from the Senate chamber during the delivery of most of the speech of his colleague,) next addressed the Senate, holding that Mr T. had treated him discorteously in delivering his attack on the majority report in his absence. it having been the understanding that the subject should lie over until Monday next. He replied to the points made by Mr. Trumbull, and disputed his right to claim identity with the Democratic party, contending that he was an Abolition Know Nothing, having been elected by that party; and that Know Nothingism in Illinois was but Abelitionism.

Mr. Crittenden replied with earnestness to what he regarded as an imputation in the remarks of Mr. D., that Abolitionism and Know Nothingism were identical; holding, in effect, that in Kentucky and the whole South, the Know Nothing party, of which he avowed himself a member, were the true defenders of the constitutional rights of the North.

Mr. Trumbull again taking the floor, admitted that he had been elected by the Know Nothings and anti-Nebraska men of the Illinois Legislature, but he denied with great warmth that he was himself in any thing an Abolitionist, and expressed great indignation that his colleague should charge on him that he was a Know Nothing, abhorring, as he did, the principles and practices of that party.

This discussion was continued until 5 p m. by Messrs. Douglas, Crittenden, Sumper, frumbull, and others; when the report of the committee ordering the printing of 31,000 copies of the majority and minority reports in question in one document was agreed to The Senate then adjourned over until Monday next. In the House, Mr. Washburn, of Me., concluded his speech in favor of the resolution authorizing the Elections Committee to send for persons and papers in the Kansas contested election case; and then moved the previous question on agreeing to the said resolution; not agreed to-ayes 78, noes 96. So the House having refused to order the previous question-Mr. Boyce moved to recommit the resolu tion, with the instructions introduced by himself some days since. But a point of order being started against that motion, after a discussion, Mr. B. withdrew it. Mr. Bennett moved as a substitute for the resolution, the amendment proposed by Mr. Dunn some time since, to send Messrs J. H. Bradley and Sidney H Baxter, of Washington city, as commissioners to Kansas to take testimony in the case, and to recommit it, with the instructions moved originally by Mr.

Mr. B. addressed the House at some length in favor of the substitute and proposed instructions. And then they adjourned until Monday

Col. Rust Endorsed .- The "Napoleon (Arkansas) Sentinel" speaks in the highest terms of Col. Rust, and says:

. We would, while on this subject, suggest ern War. Democratic conven tion, which convenes at this place on the 3d Monday of April, appoint delegates and take such efficient measures as they deem proper to secure his re-nomination and his return to the position he now fills so ably and so well."

Doctor's BARQUETS have been all the rage this winter, from the frozen North to the Gulf of Mexico. The Medical Association in Mobile had one of there symposiums, which is described as a feast of reason and a flow of wine. Although a professional entertainment, it was by no means a surgical operation. No dissection was made, save on a boned turkey and a cut up tongue; no concoctions less savory than good side dishes; no portions drenched unless in glorious wine; nor any chemical used, unless the laughing gas ably extracted from the sparkling champagne. The festival was given to their professional and private guest and visitors by the resident physicians of Mobile.

A PERFUMED BREATH .- What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath when by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentrifice would not only render it sweet but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm on your tooth brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year. For sale at Shillington's, agent for Washington, and all Druggists.

ALEXANDRIA CORRESPONDENCE

ALEXANDRIA, March 15, 1856 The members of the Friendship Fire Company speak very highly of the manner in which they were received by their Washington brethren at their visit on the recent sad occasion, and are prepared to reciprocate kind offices whenever opportunity offers.

The City Council have fixed an early day for the selection of the minor officers of our municipal government. The fair, for the benefit of our citizen firemen of the Star, opens at Sarepta Hall on Monday. The most ample arrangements for eseries of pleasant evenings have been made by the ladies in charge, and we feel sure that with an object so laudable, it cannot fail to meet the eminent success it deserves.

The cargo of the brig Fidelia was sold at public auction yesterday, by S. J. McCormick, auctioneer. Quite a number of business men, including some from other cities, were present, and the bidding was spirited, the cargo bringing fair rates. Sugar, 198 hhds. N.O. went at $8.55a$9 65, and 178 bbis. N.O. molasses at 45a47 to per gallon. A portion of the car-go of the bark Wm Chase, of Georgetown, consisting of 160 bbls. of molasses, was also sold, bringing 45a46c. per gallon.
