CRIMINAL COURT-Trial of Heissler and Johnson, for the murder of Marcellus Stoops .- When our report closed, yesterday, twenty-five talesmen had been ordered by the Court, from whom to make up the panel in the pending case; and they having appeared in answer to the summons, their names were called, as follows:

Francis M. Jarboe and T. Owen Berry were disqualified by reason of having formed or expressed opinions on the case. Solomon Stover excused on the ground that be was opposed to capital punishment.

John A Cassell was challenged. Edward Chapman and Amos Young were excused on account of ill bealth. John H. Waters was excused by the consent of counsel on both sides on account of peculiar business engagements. The panel was completed by the choice of Jno. G. Dorry, Esan Pickrell, Benjamin Darby, A. W. Delzell, John Cruikshank, William Dowling, Benjamin H. Sothoron, and George W. Bohrer.

The jury were all sworn except the one last chosen, and they were dismissed until to-day at 10 o'clock.

The Court then adjourned SECOND DAY. To-day, the twelfth juror Mr. Geo W. Bohrer) was sworn; the prisoners having been brought into court and placed in the dock, the trial was The clerk read the charge against the prisoners.

Mr. Cross opened the case to the jury on the part of the presecution. He repeated the law in relation to homicide, in cases where more than one person is implicated in the case He detailed the facts expected to be proven for the Government in the course of the trial, and concluded by exhorting the jury to discharge their duty truly and impartially, let the event be what it might He was followed on the part of the defendants by Mr. Norris, who spoke briefly of the charge against the prisoners, and stated that the only one point that remained for the jury to investigate (as the fact of an atrocious murder having been committed was conceded.) was, Who committed the act-who were present on the occasion, and who participated as principal and second? He differed with the District Attorney as to who the perpetrators were. He charged the young man Swyper Johnson, the principal witness for the prosecution, with the murder of Stoops. All the circumstances of the case, he contended, went to show him in that light, and on him the prosecution depended to fix the infernal crime, which he had committed, upon the two prisoners at the bar. The prosecution then called-

Dr. Duhomel, sworn .- Examined the body of the deceased man, Stoops, on the night he was shot; was called up by an officer to go and dress the wound of a man who had been shot; went to the spot and saw the young man lying bleeding: noticed the wound, and found it was necessarily fatal; found no pulse; held his ear over the heart, but it had ceased to pulsate; the ball had passed through the aorta, or great blood vessel leading to the heart; the wound was on the right breast, between the second and third ribs; the wound caused the young man's death undoubtedly.

William Johnson, sworn-On Saturday night, the 3d of April, about nine o'clock, George Johnson, Augustus Heissler, Thomas Brown, Edward Meads, and witness, started from the Northern Liberty market-house; went from there to the corner of M and Fourteenth streets; the shooting took place at the corner of New York avenue and Ninth streets, in front of Nugent's barber-shop; George Johnson, Heissler, and Brown went in the barber-shop, and said they were going to stay there all night; John Nugent (colored) kept the p; but was not there at the time; there were chairs, a sofa, and looking glass in the shop; en fronting K street; while there, saw Ptoops an named Manyette coming down Ninth lowards the barber-shop; when they got isth and K streets, witness went up to Stoops spoke to witness; he spoke before witness went to bim; while witness was talking with

Stoops, Heissler came out of the shop; in the meantime, Meads joined witness and Stoops, standing behind witness; while in this position, Heissler came out, and going up to Manyette, knocked him down; he was standing by the side of Stoops; Stoops then started to run; and Augustus Heissler drew out a pistol and shot him; he ran two or three feet, and fell; he was but a 5 w feet from Heissler, and fell immediately to the pavement; George Johnson came out of the shop immediately after Heissier; and was on the spot before the shooting took place; the name of the deceased was Marcellus Stoops; when Stoops addressed witness, he said "bello Swyper, that you?" and witness made answer "Yes;" Stoops was in front of witness, and Meades was behind witness; Manyette was by the side of Stoops when Heissler came out; witness stood within a half a foot of a foot of stoops; witnesses hand was not on Stoops, nor was Stoops' hand on witness, that witness remembers; witness does not feel positive as to this, but thinks it is so; Heissler did not say anything; did not hear Stoops say anything to Heissler; after Stoops was shot all the parties ran off; they ran towards Tenth street; witness and Brown ran to the corner of Ninth and I street; witness had known Stoops two or three years.

This witness was not cross-examined. Frederick Manyette, sworn .- Was with Stoops on the night he was killed, on the 3d of last April; Stoops came to witness at his boardinghouse, about eleven o'clock at night, and asked witness to go with him down the street; witness went with him, and at the corner of Ninth street and New York avenue saw several persons sitting on the steps of the barber-shop; as they got to the corner some one spoke; witness did not notice who spoke or what was said, as he was talking to Stoops at the same time; witness was walking along, and walked a few steps still talking, and hearing no answer from Stoops turned round and saw Stoops with some man, who had his hand on Stoops's shoulder; he was in front of Stoops; witness instantly walked back and caught Stoops by the arm, and told him to come along; as witness spoke to Stoops he exclaimed "Oh, you Swypers! don't kill me !" witness was struck at this moment and knocked down, and on the same instant Stoops was shot; as witness fell he heard the pistol go off, when witness got up he saw Stoops lying about three feet off; while witness lay on the ground Stoops said some word about being shot, which witness could not understand; as soon as witness got up, he heard the parties running off, and he ran off also; did not go back there that night; had intended to, but was prevented by a friend at his boarding house, who advised him not to, as he might be waylaid and shot by the parties on his way, neither of the parties who were with Stoops could have struck witness, as they were all it front of witness, the next day, at the guard-house, witness recognised one of the parties (Wm. Johnson) as the man who had his hand on Stoops's shoulder! [Four gentlemen here stood together, and the witness, by placing them, il-Instrated the relative position of the parties at the moment he was knocked down.]

Cross-examined .- Was summoned to the guard-house next day to identify the parties who had killed Stoops; the only one of the par-ties witness recognized was William (Swyper) Johnson; Stoops did not attempt to run before witness was knocked down; the barber shop has a door on Ninth street and a door on New York avenue; witness and Stoops were in front of the Ninth street door, or about two feet north of it. which would be about on the corner; witness is blind of one eye, and if any one had come out of the Ninth street door he could not have seen it done; Stoops said either "Oh Swyper," or "Oh Swypers," witness does not recollect which; he could not have more than spoken the words when he was shot; witness d d not see a pistol in anybody's hand that night; witness was not more than two or three feet from Swyper Johnson when he was knocked down; witness was struck on the right side of the face (the blind side) and was knocked off from the pavement into the gutter; witness could not state who fied the but he could state his opinion about it from the position of the parties.

SUDDEN DEATH .- Yesterday, about 3 o'clock p. m., Mr. Alexander Rollins, a stone cutter employed in the marble sheds of the Post Office extension, was taken suddenly sick at his work, and died in a few minutes after. A physician was sent for, but arrived too late to give any relief. Mr. Rollins was a young man, well known to our citizens as a quiet, temperate, industrious mechanic. He has frequently complained of an affection of the heart, which may probably have had much to do with his sudden demise. He leaves a wife and child to mourn his loss. The work was immediately suspended in the shed in which he worked.

POLICE DOINGS IN THE FOURTH WARD .- Pat Madigan, drunk and disorderly, was arrested by officer Zimmerman, fine and costs, $2.58. Wm. Sailivan was arrested by officers Norwood and Handy for being drunk and disorderly and smashing things at Rupp's restaurant; workhouse 90 days R. H. Labille was arrested by officer Zimmerman, drunk and disorderly; workhouse 60 days. Martin Doyle and Daniel O'Connell, vagants; 90 days each. S. Chambers, arrested by Lientenant McHenry; drunk, disorderly, and profanity ; workhouse 90 days. Ellen Warren, arrested by officer Zimmerman, do.; do. 90 days. All these cases were disposed of by Justice Donn.

THE OBPHAN'S PIC NIC .- Meridian Hill will to-morrow be thronged by the numbers that will avail themselves of the opportunity to testify their devotion to that most excellent charity the St. Joseph Orphan Boy's Asylum. The occasion will be indeed a gala-day; music will charm the air. A dinner embracing the choicest viands will be provided, and as cool evening comes on, the supper table will be set for such as desire to partske. Omnibuses start from prominent points in the city, mentioned in the advertisement, and render access to Meridian Hill quite easy. Everything promises a delightful time.

POSTPONED .- The sale of the farm of Mr. Yuine, in Alexandria county, Va., advertised by Wail & Barnard to take place to-morrow, is indefinitely postponed.

PUBLIC SCHOOL EXHIBITION .- Yeterday afternoon, the weather being very unfavorable, and showers of frequent occurrence, the exhibition of the public schools of the Fourth District (Island) was not so attractive as would otherwise have been the case. Very many of the scholars did not participate in the ceremonies. Yet, notwithstanding these unfortunate circumstances, the affair was highly creditable to the teachers and scholars of the several schools; for those who did participate evinced a truly praisworthy devotion to the schools they represented.

The several primary schools met at their re spective houses, and marched to the district school house on Sixth street, near Virginia aveone. There they were joined by the scholars of that school, and formed into a procession in the following order, viz: Fourth District School, male department, John E. Thompson, Teacher; female department, Margaret A. Milburn, Teacher; primary No. 1 senior department, Annie M. Adams, Teacher junior department, Mrs. M. E. Martin, Teacher; primary No. 2, Mary A. Lee, Teacher; primary No. 3, Mrs. M. A. Skidmore, Teacher; primary No. 4, Emma L. Reed, Teacher; male primary Mr. A. Edson, Teacher.

The procession moved up Sixth street to D, along D to Tenth, and up Tenth to the Smithsonian, where they entered and proceeded to the lecture-room. A band of music (Prosperi's) was to have accompanied the procession, but, because it had proved so rainy, they supposed the cere-mony would be postponed, and did not come, or even send to ascertain if their prvices were required. They were sent after, however, and arrived in time to discourse some fine music to the audience after it had assembled in the lectureroom. The exercises at the Smithsonian were as

The annual address was then delivered by the Rev. C. H. Hill, and was a gem of the occasion. The language was plain and easily understood, the illustrations practical, and the burthen of the address most happily apposite. He first presented to the scholars clearly and forcibly the reason why their education is an object of so much solicitude with their parents, friends, and the community generally, that these stop not at trouble or expense to provide for it. The motive to give them opportunities to acquire knowledge does not arise from any good that is to enure to their parents, to the community, or to themselves, from their possession of that particular knowledge. For instance, it is not to be expected that any benefit will arise from these boys and girls knowing the locality of any strait, island, or other place designated in geography. The intention of all this is to awaken thought to lead them to a proper exercise of those mental faculties with which they are gifted by their Creator, and enable them to occupy places of usefulness in the world in mature life. He urged upon their attention the necessity of developing their minds in early life, thus forming intellectual habits, instead of such as tend to degrade and ruin those who contract

After giving a great deal more good advice to the children, Mr. Hall reminded the parents that they had also a duty to perform. "Knowledge is power," he admitted, but power in the hands of bad men is not cale lated to benefit the world. The children should also be taught their moral and religious obligations, and these it is the parents duty to teach They cannot divest themselves of the performance of this duty neither, nor delegate it to anybody else. This theme was dwelt upon at considerable length, and very

The scholars of Primary School No. 1 sang beautiful song, and acquitted themselves very handsomely

Geo. J. Abbott, Esq., a firm friend of public education, and formerly, we believe, connected with our public schools, was then introduced. He ask d to be excused from making a speech but before resuming his seat delivered just such an harangue as the occasion required. It was an earnest, readily understood, and appr priate appeal to the scholars to make good use of their present opportunities for acquiring good educations. He introduced several fitting anecdotes, which, together with the other portions of his remarks, were well received.

The scholars of Primary School No. 2 then treated the auditors with a song, very well sung. The following recitations were then delivered by those scholars of the District School (Mr. Thompson's) whose names are annexed. All of them performed so well that to decide which excelled would be a very difficult matter: Tubal Cain, by P. W. Pearson.

Duties of American Citizens, by John W. Clute American Flag, by Samuel Polkinhorn. Kitten Gossip, by James E. Ager. Importance of the Union, by Samuel A. Amery

The premiums (according to the list published in the Star yesterday) were then distributed to he scholars by J. G Berret, Esq., Mayor, who After all the premiums were presented to the scholars, Mayor Berret, on behalf of the scholars of the Female Department of the Fourth District School, presented the teacher thereof (Miss M. A. Milburn) with a handsome work-box. The p esent was received by Col Randolph, on behalf f Miss M , who replied to the very happy impromptu speech of the Mayor, in one equally suited to the occasion.

Mr. Abbott, in behalf of the teacher of the District school, male department, (Mr. Thompson.) presented Samuel A. Amery with a book as an award for having, according to Mr. A.'s decision, excelled in the delivery of recitations mentioned above.

Doctor Willett, on behalf of "a friend of the school" presented a premium to Jesse Cook, for maintaining a high position in his class (first) in the same school, though absent as a page at the Capitol during the session of Congress. At the request of the teacher of this school we also insert the following:

In the competition for the medal the teacher states P. W. Pearson, Nelson J Isdell, and Samnel A Amery to have been equally meritorious during the past scholastic year, and, did the rule permit, each would receive this mark of highest approbation. The medal is awarded to Pearson on account of his praiseworthy attention to his duties during the longest period of time, having entered the school previous to either of his com-

ARREST FOR SHOOTING .-- Robert Dudley was arrested yesterday by Lieut. McHenry, and officers Chipley and Lloyd, under a bench warrant, for shooting John Browers, a special officer under Mayor Magruder, while in the discharge of his duty. Yesterday, after Dudley had gone to jail, a commitment was filed against him in another case, which occurred on Monday night, in the Fif. h Ward. The evidence was as follows: Charles C. Edelin testified that he was called into Juenemann's to protect the house against a crowd, of which Dudley was one; W. Drury was with me; Dudley went up to Drury and kicked him; Mr. Harper, auxiliary guard, caught Dudley; I went away with Drury for fear of consequences; about three squares off, Dudley and his crowd followed again and made at Drury; I caught Dudley by the arm and told Drury to run, as I saw Dudley taking a pistol out; Drury ran, and Dudley fired at him and missed him, the ball passing between Mr. Hanson Brown and his wife, who were sitting on their porch near by at

If the Court takes bail in the Browers case, a further hearing in the last case will be had

THE FOURTH WARD ELECTION .- A mistake, yeste day, prevented the appearance in our columns of the returns from the election held in the Fourth Ward, on Monday, to fill a vacancy in the Board of Aldermen occasioned by the resignation of John H. Goddard, Esq. The following is the summing up: Francis Mohun. J. P. Pepper First precinct..... 210 Second precinct..... 401 101

Mr. Mohun's majority is 304; and the total number of votes polled 918. NATIONAL GUARD -This corps paraded today, under the command of Capt. Jas. A. Tait, their first parade since the alteration of the uniform by some few additions, in order to make the difference between the uniform of this and other corps apparent. They were accompanied by Withers' fine brass band, which discoursed most excellent music on the route. The movements of the corps indicated that it had lost nothing in point of drill, and it was remarked that a strong company of infantry as well trained as the corps on parade would be no discredit to the city. The ranks of the Guard are about increasing, and we hope to see them again with full ranks, and as well dritted as at present. A Y ung Crown .- Yesterday, the police officers of the Fourth Ward were called upon to arrest a half dozen little fellows, who were charged by Mr. W. Marshall with behaving badly, and throwing stones at him as he sat in the door of his house. The least of the offending party, a small colored boy, appeared to be the most offensive of the gang. Arrayed for trial at the police office vesterday afternoon, one could not help but condemn the policy of introducing them to a court at such an early age, (the oldest was probably fifteen and the youngest about seven,) and several quietly suggested the propriety of switching such children without in troducing them to a court which related the proroducing them to a court, which seldom has its desired effect on such young beginners.

MONEY RECOVERED .- On Monday, a colored woman, named Hall, was arrested by officers Notwood and Handy, for stealing $50 in money from the residence of F. Jefferson, Esq. She was taken to the house to be searched on the premises, but no money was found upon her. She was told she would have to go to jail for a further hearing. She seemed to be alarmed, and requested to be allowed to go in the garden. She went, and was watched. She was taken to the office of Justice Donn, and, while there, the family sent word that the money had been found in the garden. There being no evidence to fasten the larceny upon her, she was dismissed.

THIRD DISTRICT SCHOOLS -List of Premiums fc.-The following is a list of the scholars in the public schools of the Third District who are returned by their teachers as worthy of receiving the medals, premiums, &c., which are to be awarded to them this afternoon by the Board of Trustees. The presentation is to take place at the new Methodist Church, on Fourth street, near I street south, in the Navy Yard section of the city, and will no doubt be an occasion of attraction to those interested in public education. THE MEETING AT THE ASSEMBLY ROOMS, last night, was thinly attended, and utterly failed to produce an impression favorable to a reorganization of the District militia. The Light Infantry and National Guards were well represented, and various proposals were made as to ways and means, which were not received with much warmth by the audience. Addresses were made by Capts. Tait and Davis, Lieut. Lloyd and others It was proposed that such of the audience present as felt disposed should come forward and enroll themselves as members of a new regiment; but there was no response. It was then proposed to endeavor to get up a sufficient numper of signers to form two companies of the Infantry and two of the Guards, to uniform alike and parade as a battalion; thus forming a nucleus around which to bring about an organization worthy the metropolis of the country. This project filled to produce a favorable sensation, and left but one impression on the minds of those who had the matter most deeply at heart-that of utter failure on the part of the citizens to second any movement for the improvement of the military organization of the District. When our regiment parades the citizens deride and utter harsh words about the apparent lack of military arder among the people. When these same in-dividuals are invited to assist in any measure to abate this state of military apathy, they " haven't time to play soldier." When they are asked to put their hands in their pockets for the support of the military they complain of the beggarly spirit that pervades the military.

RAPID MULTIPLICATION .- We learn that Mrs. Leppart, residing on N street, near Four-and-ahalf, on the faland, gave birth to three children, two boys and one girl, on Monday night. They are all still living, and, together with their mother, doing well.

THE PROCEEDINGS of the Board of Aldermen are crowded out to-day.

The Atlantic Cable.

QUEENSTOWN, July 5.—The steamer Niagara with her consort, the Gorgon, arrived this morn-Three attempts were made to lay the cable, and several hundred miles of wire have been lost, but there is still sufficient on board the two vessels to accomplish the undertaking The squadron experienced very beavy weather during the cruise. On the first attempt ten miles of cable were lost; on the second about twenty miles, and on the 28th of June the cable was again joined, and about two bundred and fifts miles laid out, when communication ceasing to be received on board the Ningara, the cable was parted and the Niagara proceeded to this port. Much to the surprise of those on board of the

in before them, as was expected, from having had more than two hundred miles start. The accident is plainly attributable to the bad weather, which prevailed about the time fixed for making the splice. Indeed, during the latter part of last week the opinion was very generally expressed that such a result might be anticipated Though there has been another failure, hopes are still high that success must be oltimately obtained.

There is at present, even with the large loss, such a surplusage of cable as will warrant the renewal of the expedition without any further delay than that involved in getting a sufficient supply of coal. Indeed, it is believed that a false ralculation made in respect to this supply at the beginning is due in a great measure to the return of the Niagara and Gorgon, as the original arrangements were that even should a break occur when 500 miles were laid, the vessels should come together again for a new splice. The Niagara will start again as soon as she has finished coaling.
