THE OTHER SIDE .- One thing may be said of English journalism. Its exceeding variety gives a chance for all sides to be heard. Thus, while a large proportion of the London press are against the "strikes" now prevalent, the Morning Star very philosophically says: Let those who simply condemn strikes because they are strikes fully understand that social problems are not to be disposed of thus. Prejudice has no summary jurisdiction in human affairs, though it often neurps it."

A THREATENED SUIT .- The Illinois Company of Chicago, whose premises were invaded by a mob of eight-hour men and their employees driven from work, have notified the city government that they shall hold the city of Chicago responsible for the losses which they sustained.
