CONSTITUTIONALITY OF THE RECONSTRUCTION LAWS.—Ex-Judge Willoughby, of Virginia, who is counsel for United States Judge Rives, in the is counsel for United States Judge Rives, in the Virginia cases involving the constitutionality of the reconstruction laws, set for the 14th of October in the Supreme Court, had an interview with the Attorney General on the subject Saturday. These cases went over at the last term of the Supreme Court because the department of justice was not then ready to go on with them. The consultation was with regard to the conduct of the case, the Attorney General taking great interest in it.

OUR ASIATIC SQUADRON .- In a report to the Navy Department, dated on board his flagship, the Richmond, at Yokohama, Japan, Sept. 2d, Rear Admiral Patterson says that the Ashuelot would proceed from Yokohama to Shanghai Rear Admiral Patterson says that the Ashuelor would proceed from Vokohama to Shanghai for repairs as soon as the season will permit, probably about the 1st of October. The Monocacy, at the earnest solicitation of the Italian Minister, left Shanghai August Stat, to assist in the search for the Italian corvette "Nettor Pisani," commanded by the Duke of Genoa, but on reaching Woosung was notified of the arrival of the Pisani at Nagasaki, and returned to Shanghai. At an extensive fire which occurred in the French Concession at Shanghai, August 15th, a detachment of officers and men'rrom the Monocacy rendered good service, which was acknowledged by letter from the French Concession at Shanghai, Admiral Patterson, upon receipt of this intelligence, ordered the Monocacy and Palos away from Shanghai to Chefoo. They would return about the ist of October. The Ranger, before leaving China for Nagasaki, had two esses of typhoid on board, and was ordered to Yokahama, where she will remain for the present. One case of cholera coccurred on board her at Nagasaki, but yielded to treatment. The Monongahela, under orders from the department, would proceed to the United States—to the Mare Island navy yard. Admiral Patterson would remain at Yokahama until the department, would proceed to the United States—to the Monongahela, and would as soon thereafter as practicable go to Shanghai and Nagasaki.

SECRETARY MCCRARY left here last Saturday SECRETARY MCCRARY left here last Saturday evening for lows, to be gone about a week. His family, who accompanied him west, will not return, it is thought, to Washington, as the Secretary's nomination to succeed Judge Dillion will be among the first sent to the Senate upon the reassembling of Congress in December next. There has been no change in the decision to nominate ex-Senator Ramsay to succeed Secretary McCrary, as heretofore stated in THE STAR.

THE SOUTHERN REPUBLICANS met last Saturday night in the tea room at Willard's hotel There were about twenty present, including Solictor Rayner, First Auditor Reynolds, Deputy Comptroller Tarbell, Capt. Jack Brown of Georgia, Col. Hill of Arkansas, ex-Senator Fowler, ex-Senator Poole, Messrs. Cardoza, Kirk and Nagier of South Carolina, and Clark and Judge Kells of Alabama. One of the gentlemen present said to a Star reporter to day that the business under consideration was the reorganization of the republican party in the south and the practicability of demanding from the National organization some recognition. Speeches were made by a number present to this effect, and it was thought that before easting their votes in the next convention the southern delegates should have an understanding with the candidate for whom they vote. No particular candidate was referred to in the discussion. An adicurnment to Thursday evening next was hal, a committee—consisting of Capt. Brown, Col. Hill and Dr. Nagler—being appointed to resort then a plan of organization. While a number of those in attendance were connected with office they are not expected to take any active part in the proposed work of the association, but all such will be allowed votes on any 26 ion proposed to be taken. THE SOUTHERN REPUBLICANS met last Satur-

The Political Situation in Louisiana

The Political Situation in Louisiana
THE ELECTION IN DECEMBER—THE DEMOCRATS SPLIT UP AND THE REPUBLICANS WITHOUT ORGANIZATION OR LEADERS.
Louisiana is classed as one of the southern states that is likely to revolt against democratic rule, and not infrequently, of late, it has been claimed that its eight electoral votes might be cast for the republican ticket next year. For the purpose of getting some correct information in regard to the political situation in that state, a reporter of THS STAR called upon a prominent Louisiana republican now in Washington. He was a brigadier general in the union army, and when the war ended settied in Louisiana. He is not actively in politics now, and therefore preferred that, his name should not be published as the author of the information furrished. In the first place, he explained that the state election ordered to take place next December is in pursuance of the new constitution, which has to be voted upon at the same time. The Nichoils administration was inaugurated in the spring of 1st for four years; therefore, under the present constitution the regular state election would not take place until November, 1sst; but the new constitution, adopted by the convention recently adjourned, contains a provision ordering an election for all state officers, except treasurer, and for members of the general assembly in December, thus cutting of non-year of the Nichoils rule; but should the new constitution be rejected, of course the election for state officers falls with it and the state will be administered under the old constitution.

Star:—"But, will the new constitution be repled Time is no probability at all of that," repled Time is no probability at all of that," re-

Star:—"But, will the new constitution of re-jected?"

"There is no probability at all of that," re-plied Tus Stars: informant. "It is acceptable to all classes of people, with the exception of the debt ordinance, and that is to be voted upon separately. There is a great deal of objection to that ordinance, as it is looked upon as par-tial repudiation, and it may be rejected, but the constitution itself will be adopted by an almost unanimous vote."

constitution itself will be adopted by an almost unanimous vote.

Star—"What will be the course of the republican party it will not be course of the republican party it will not be likely to take any course. It is without any organization and the leaders, or those who process to be its leaders, are thinking more of controlling the state delegation to the national convention part year than of organizing concerts in the state. As to how the mass of republicans will vote, much will depend upon the action of the democratic state convention which meets at Raton Rome or the 6th of next.

action of the democratic state convention which meets at Baton Rouge on the 6th of next month."
"The vote of republicans depending upon the action of a democratic convention?" asked the month."

"The vote of republicans depending upon the action of a democratic convention?" asked the reporter, with some surprise.

"Yes; I will explain that," was the reply. "Witz, the present lieutenant-governor, is a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor. He is known as the ring candidate, and is run in the interest of Burke and the others, who are seeking to run the state in their own interest. He is opposed by the decent element of the democratic party, who are seeking to run the state in their own interest. He is opposed by the decent element of the democratic party, who are running Ogden. These two factions of the democratic are making a bitter light, and it may end in a split or a boil. That is what the conservative republicans are hoping for. In the event of a split we would support Ogden, who is a thoroughly honest and conservative man. He is carnest and almost fanatical in carrying out anything he undertakes. He is in favor of a just and honest administration, and of protecting all class so of clizens in their rights, and the conservative republicans feel that they could thist him. Therefore, the majority of the majority of the state of the chances of the majority of the state of the chances. The should Ogden win the nomination at Baton. "Should Ogden win the nomination at Baton. Boyle, as I believe he will," replied the general. "the Wiltz-Burke faction will bolt, and they can depend upon the support of the rough element of both parties will unite in support of Ogden, and that will be the issue. Congressment Ellis is working with all his might for Ogden. The truth is that the conservative element of both parties will unite in support of Ogden, and their decent conservative dement of general and that will be the issue. Congressment Ellis is working with all his might for Ogden. The truth is that the conservative element of both parties will unite in support of Ogden. The truth is that the conservative element of both parties will unite in support of ogden for the state's oredit and faith count, acus, increases, as I've said, he will get the votes of conservate republicans If he runs for governor."

Star:—"If there is no democratic split what will the republicans probably do?"

"Should the democratic convention nominate Will's and the Ogden people accept and support the ticket, then we will endeavor to get the republican convention, which meets on the 20th of next month, to nominate a ticket that will appeal to the conservative people for their votes. Should we get such a ticket we could hope to form some sort of union with the conservative democratis that would give us a chance to break the ring ticket. Should the republicans, however, nominate a ticket objectionable to the better elements of the population, then many voters of both parties would remain away from the polls and the ring ticket would be elected—or counted in—as it has control of the machinery. Therefore, I say very much depends upon the action of the democratic convention, and nobody can tell with any certainty what the outcome may be until after it meets. Really the republican party has no leaders in Louislana now; at least none that the mass of the party will follow. Those who profess to be its leaders are scheming for their own advancement and trading upon their supposed influence with the party."

Getting Back Our Gold and Silver.

Getting Back Our Gold and Silver Editor of The Star: Your paper condenses and crystalizes so many valuable facts for the and crystalizes so many valuable facts for the general reader, that it is the more important to correct any error inadvertently made. Saturday's STAR makes the largest importations of foreign coin and bullion, before this year, $40,745,000, in 1877, which is correct as to the period since 1861; but it adds—"that year we exported $18,000,000, leaving a balance of only $27,000,000 in our favor." This overlooks wholly our export in 1877, of $43,134,738 American gold and silver; the $18,027,409 exported baving head our export in 1877, of $43,144,738 American gold and silver; the $13,027,499 exported having been of foreign production. Our real coin exports that year were $85,162,237, which, deducting the imports, $($40,774,414,1) leaves a balance of $15,357,532 of the precious metals sent abroad in excess of importations.

In fact, ever since the suspension of specie payments in 1801, the United States has been drained of specie to the net amount of $85,687,586, or over fifty millions a year on the average. Not a single year showed a balance in our favor. But now, with coin restored to its normal place in the circulation, and with our debt to Europe daily diminishing instead of increasing, she no longer pays us for breadstuffs in our own paper; the drain on us for gold has stopped, and we are draining Europe at the rate of over hair a million a day, for the time beling.

EXTENSIVE GEODETIC MEASUREMENTS,—Information has been received from Lieut. Commander C. H. Davis, U. S. N., now at Pernambuco, of the completion of the last link in the chain of telegraphic longitudinal measurements extending from the Greenwich England Observatory to Buencs Ayres, in South American. The satisfactory completion of this important work is a source of gratification to the naval officers, who have for several months past been engaged upon it, and will reflect credit on the naval service for the skillful and thorough manner in which the difficult task has been performed.

In answer to the opinions rendered by Mr. Riddle, attorney for the district, in the matter of certain assessments against property owned by Mr. Columbus Alexander, the latter has returned to the Commissioners an elaborate review of the attorney by the Commissioners.

In arelation to this review Mr. Riddle states, in a communication to the Commissioners.

In relation to this review Mr. Riddle states, in a communication to the Commissioners, that he is always glad to be advised by the opinions of counsel, which are often most useful. It is impossible for him to engage in a long written controversies upon peints when counsel disagree, such points must be submitted to the courts. In his letter of advice to Treasurer Dodge he held that on old corporation taxes still due, interest should be computed from March 3d, 1875, and of course until paid. In Mr. Alexander's review he takes two exceptions to this—first, that it should be computed from the first of April instead of March. The act says that one per cent, a month shall accrue on the first day of each month. Clearly when this is communed for interest, that should date from a time back, unless the interests is to be paid in advance. The penalty is for the time through the passage of a month intervence, a penalty occurs of the time that he can be accounted to the community of the time that he can be accounted to the community of the com

Mr. Entwisie, inspector of buildings, has submitted a plan to the Commissioners for a new pound, to be located on the site of the present pound, east of the Observatory wall, on 23d street. The plan contemplates enlarged facilities for the proper care of stock held, and their separation in different compartments. The cost estimated is about $500. It is probable that the Commissioners may adopt the plan, but delay carrying out the design until money can be appropriated by the next Congress. Such an improvement is very much needed.

The Most Damaging Testimony against Post-tion in life.

THE MOST DAMAGING TESTIMONY against Post-master Tyler was given by a witness who only consented at the last hour to testify. It seems that a young lady was given a place in the post office by Gen. Tyler when he first took possession, who was commended to him on account of her friendless condition. Her father and mother are dead, and she has no relatives of near or remote degree. Soon after she went to the post office she told an intimate friend that Gen. Tyler had made improper advances to her, but she feared to expose him, lest she might lose her place. According to her testimony before the special agents, the indecent solicitations were continued and gave her great distress of mind, but her necessities compelled her to remain in the post office. When the investigation was begun she refused to testify, but was finally persuaded that it was her duty to tell the whole divided to the attempt on the part of year to prove that she is a person of unchaste the and not worthy of belief. On this point strong testimony was submitted in rebuttal.—[Batt. Special to Phile. Press.]

A dispatch to the Times from Simia says:—
"There is a very general distrust of the conduct of the Ameer during the Cabul outbreak; but as he has now come to our camp he has given a material guarantee for his future good behavior. The gates of Cabul are closed, apparently with a vague idea that the British are close at hand." The Times, in a leading article this morning, points to the fact that Daoud Shah being alive and at the British camp confirms the suspicions of the Ameer's instincertry; as he in a dispatch to the Indian government at the time of the outbreak stated that Daoud had been killed while endeavoring to quiet the rebels.

EXCITEMENT AMONG CATHOLICS A Funeral Party Excluded From a Church.

New York, Sept. 29.—Considerable excitement has been created among the Irish and other Roman Catholic residents of Jersey City by the action of Rev. Father Hennessy, of St. Patrick's Cathedral, one of the oldest priests of the diocese, in closing the doors of the Cathedral to a funeral party because they had violated an order of the bishop prohibiting the use of more than twelve carriages. It appears the order has existed for some time; but has not bedy of Endgel of Compressis. Yesterday the cathedral with a following of abought to the risges. The mourners inally compromised by sending away all out en of the carriages, but after the ceremonies in church were over the others rejoined the procession. Father Hennessy referred to the matter from the pulpit last evening. "These pretentious funerals are for show only," he said "In most cases the long line of carriages were not paid for, and even where they are paid the expense of them takes bread and butter out of hungry mouths." The matter is likely to cause general comment among the poorer classes of catholics here.

Mr. Phillips thinks he can serve the the greenback movement more efficiently by remaining outside party lines. Mr. Phillips letter of declination is written in his own foreible style of expression. He says he does not decline because of lack of interest in the greenback cause, but he thinks he can serve it best outside of partylines. He is devoted to four great causes—the greenback, womans suffrage, prohibition of iguor selling and protection of the negro. He considers them equally important and vital to the national welfare. He denounces both the hold parties in vigorous terms; says the democratic party is dead in a number of states and approaching dissolution in the others. He halls the "death of the democrate party and the assault that will break the republican party to pieces." "To-day," he writes, "our greatest enemies is the republican party—wolves in sheep's clothing, hypocrites stealing the livery of Sunner and Wade to serve Shylock and Lamar." He says Gen. PENNSYLVANIA POLITICS.—The democrats held a picnic at Jine Grove park, Cumberland county, Pa. Saturday, which was attended by about 4.000 people, Among the speakers were United States Senator Wallace, Speaker Randall and ex-Congressman Stenger. Senator Wallace denounced the federal election laws and centralization of federal power. Speaker Randall said the republican leaders were bent upon establishing a stronger government, which, if successful, would result in the destruction of the republic. He referred to the encroachments of corporate power, and said people could stand it no longer. The revival in trade, he declared, was largely attributable to the retrenchment in expenses inaugurated by a democratic Congress.
