The contractor has notified the Commissioners that the iron castings and material are awaiting inspection before being shipped. As before stated, the Pittsburg Bridge company is to do the work. Mr. D. McComb. of the engineer department, has been ordered to Pittsburg to inspect the material.

District auditor and Controller John T. Vinson submitted to the Commissioners to-day estimates of the expenses of his office for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1882, showing that for salaries and contingent expenses $12,850 is needed. The estimate is for the same as for the iscal year ending June 30th, 1880, except for contingent expenses, which is reduced two contingent expenses, which is reduced two hundred dollars.

District Secretary Tredail submitted his annual report to the Commissioners to-day, with copies of orders passed by the board during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1830. He states that on the first of October last the old record division was temporarily placed under his supervision, and so continued. Frequent deministry was temporarily placed under his su-pervision, and so continued. Frequent de-mands for information, which could only be ob-tained from the old miscellaneous resords of the municipal corporations in the District, preced-ing the commission form of government, de-cided the Commissioners to cause these records to be arranged and indexed in such manner that r a yreference could be had to any data there-in district. In missioners of this purpose, prer a y reference could be had to any data therein desired. In pursuance of this purpose work was commenced by a clerk assigned to that duty in some 1878 and continued under a very small and constantly varying force until the first of last June. The employment of a force adequate to an early completion was precluded by the necessity of employing all available means, not required for current matters, upon the urgent duty of revising the special assessments and other duties connected therewith, to which it has been found necessary to direct temporarily, even the special pravitherewith, to which it has been found necessary to direct temporarily, even the special privition for the division. The accommodations for a labor of such diversity and magnitude have been insufficient for an advantageous arrangement of the records and of the duties of those engaged in them. Notwithstanding these diadvantages, the results thus far obtained are creditable to the clerks employed upon the work; but, for the reasons stated, considerably out of proportion to the end proposed in the establishment of the division. He estimates that it will take six competent clerks, under the supervision of a chief, who shall give his entire attention to this duty, more than a year to collect, arrange and index give his entire attention to this duty, more than a year to collect, arrange and index these record in a satisfactory manner. The force now specifically provided for this division comprises two good cierts, with sailties of $1.200 and $900 respectively, both of whom are now temporarily detailed to duty in other branches of the District government. If it be the intention of the Commissioners to esmiplete the work, he suggests that the three regular clerks now engaged upon the revision of special assessments might be transferred to this division, with a necessary part of the room they occupy when their services shall no longer be required upon special assessments.

HEALTH OFFICE ESTIMATES, ETC.

HEALTH OFFICE ESTIMATES, ETC.

Health Officer Townshend sent to the Commissioners this morning a note, stating that owing to delay caused in waiting for official figures of population from the Census bureau, and in consequence of the mass of tabular exhibits on the subject of vital statistics to be compiled and compared, he finds himself unable to present statement in detail showing operations of his office for past year at this time. The estimates of appropriation required to conduct the sanitary service, secure a full and correct record of vital statistics, &c., is appended as follows: Salary of health officer, $3,000; six sanitary inspectors, at $1,200 $7,200; appended as follows: Salary of health officer, $1,000; six sanitary inspectors, at $1,200 $1,200; two food inspectors, $1,200; $2,000; for clerks, $1,000; pound master, $1,200; messenger, $600, and contingent expenses, including books, stationery, fuel, rent, districtants, &c., $3,800—making a total of $25,200. He invites the attention to two items not included in the above, the superintendence of which now comes under his department—the collection of garbage and the provision of medicines and medical attention for the sick poor. He thinks a larger appropriation should be asked to enable him to have work in the former case properly performed, and in the latter he recommends that a specific appropriation of $8,000 be asked, that formed, and in the latter he recommends that a specific appropriation of $8,000 be asked, that this most important service may be placed on a proper footing. Payments for this work are now made from general fund for relief of poor, and should that fund become exhausted, this very first of charities must cease, and the indigent sick of our District go without medicines and medical aid.

with the request that they be taid before the atterney for the District for his opinion. He says "there was a water main laid prior to 18% on H street northwest, between 9th and 10th streets, in front of a lot fronting 53 feet on H street, containing an area of 6,000 feet. on H street, no front of a lot fronting 53 feet streets, in front of a lot fronting 53 feet on H street, containing an area of 6,000 feet. This was assessed for water main tax in June, 1866, and the owner duly notified. This property originally belonged to the Van Ness estate, and upon it was built a vault or mausoleam in which were deposited the bodies of several members of the Van Ness family. In 1873 Caas, W. Van Ness, trustee, deaded this lot to Mr. Jesse B. Wilson, which was duly recorded september 22, 1873, and the mausoleam was removed to oak Hill Cemetery, and the remains of the persons contained in the mausoleam were removed. The lot was purchased and is used for private gain and has now, the benefit of water main, the taxes for which, even if exempt under any law relative to cemeterles, would seem now to be properly chargeable for this tax. It is the opinion of this department that from the moment the lot in question ceased to be used for burial purposes, the exemption from taxation ceased; and from the moment it became private property used for purposes of gain, the lot became taxable. This office claims that there is no law which exempts this kind of property from water main purposes of gain, the lot became taxatle. This office claims that there is no law which exempts this kind of property from water main taxes." Mr. Wilson claimed that he ourehased this lot clear of incumberances and that he was not liable to the tax. This matter was referred to the attorney, who in reply states: "This tax was assessed in June, 1805, at which time no exemption law had been passed by Congress. The ordinances of the city of Washington could not exempt property from the operation of the act of Congress in regard to the water main tax. Moreover, by reference to the opinion of Mr. Riddle of December 14, 1878, a copy of which was transmitted to you August 15, 1886, in reply to a communication of B. J. Darneille, est., it will be seen that no private property is exempt from this tax."

The annual report of the superlatendent of police recommends the increase of the force by a capitain, seven sergeants and 150 privates. When the present number (200) was fixed upon by Congress the population of the District was $8,579. It is now 178,000, while the valuation of property has increased in excess of the ratio of increase of population. A patrolinan cannot give due police protection, while covering a fifteen mile beat. The buildings rented for station houses are not adapted to the service. The election of new buildings for the purpose is urged on economical and sanitary grounds. It is surgested that some provision be made for the infirm and disabled members of the force, that they may be retired from active duty and their places filled with able-bodied men. The advantages of the system of lighting alleys is noticed in connection with police patrol. After the fifty lamps to be furnished this year are put in place, there will remain about 130 afters to be provided for. It is suggested that means be provided to enable the force to patrol the river and carry into effect the law for the protection of the Potomac fisheries. The needs for a city hospital are stated, in connection with the free dispensary on 6th street; also, a reformatory for girls and the entargement of the bys reform school. A compliment is expressed to St. Abn's infant asylum for responses to calls for care of abandoned bashes, so frequently made upon it. There have been cited before the trial committee st members on charges, in as cases of which the men were dismissed from the force, and other punishments indiced, $4,500, find for the relief of the worthy poor, was distributed, and 1,802 relieved. The estimates for the next fiscal year amount to $318,711, burley the year was 13,558, of which 2,126 were females and 11,422 males. Of the present, 3,918 of these were for intoxication. sioner and Intendent of the Washington Asylum, congratulates the Commissioners upon the accession of the United States magazine properly to the asylum grounds; states that the sanitary condition of the asylum has been greatly improved during the year by the erection of a building outside for odorous operations, placing transoms over the doors, which converted the stairways into ventilating shafts by the addition of cowis on the roof and other beneficial changes, securing separate bath-rooms for both the males and females, better heating arrangements, together with economy in in fuel. The inmates are now required to take a bath at least once a week. All temale prisoners have been uniformed. Land has been recisimed by draining, a new road constructed, and running water turnished for the use of stock. The fences have been placed in thorough repair, and a hog range made from a piece of waste ground. The report notes the planting of thirty-nine trees and 1,000 strawberry plants; states that there are skuy-nine hogs of improved Berkshire breed on the place; 665 coffins have been made for paupers, and 449 interments been made in potter's field. All clothing for male pilsoners is made by themselves in a sewing room, and most of that for the females as well as all the bedding, etc., is made by the women. A large quantity of excavating and other work has been done for the engineer department. Thirteen colored and six white children have been transferred to other institutions. The twenty-two children now in the asylum will be similarly transferred when old enough. The establishment of a school for the twenty-tour minors in the asylum is contemplated. The admission of able-bodied women whose only disqualification for outside work is the possession of an infant is deprecated, and the report admission of able-bodled women whose only disqualification for outside work is the possession of an infant is deprecated, and the report suggests that one of the magazine buildings be arranged as an infant's asylum, where the children can be cared for while the mothers are obtaining employment. It is also suggested that old criminals be required to give bonds for their future good behavior or be committed for from three months to three years. He renews his recommendation to purchase 300 arres of land on the east side of the branch for the use of the asylum, and an additional appropriation of $5.000 to complete the new wing is asked for. During the year there were 2,041 immates of the asylum, 149 of whom remained there on of the asylum, 149 of whom remained there on June 30, 1880. Foreign countries furnished 316 June 30, 1889. Foreign countries furnished 316 and the United States 1,725 of the number. There were 711 white males, 206 white remales, 339 colored males and 285 colored females. Mr. C. F. E. Richardson has recently completed a row of nineteen houses on New Jersey avenue, between Rhode Island avenue and R street northwest. These houses are of brick, two-story and basement, containing ten rooms each, with bathroom and all modern improvements and conveniences. This avenue is nearly on a line with North Capitol street; is wide, with a large space for parking, and when the avenue shall have been graded, will make one of the most desirable streets in the city, having a good view of the Capitol on the south and Lebrott park on the north. The work of paving this avenue is embraced in the estimates of the Commissioners. The houses of Mr. Richardson all have tenants.

A handsome residence is now in progress of found some additional ones.

A handsome residence is now in progress of constituction for Mrs. McCrabb, on Massachusetts avenue, near Dupont Circle, 22 feet front by 40 deep. The plan has an entrance hall 7 feet wide leading to a spacious staircase hall lighted by a mullioned window of stained glass; the parlor has large windows, with balcony looking out on Massachusetts avenue; the dining-room is arranged with octagon end, giving a pretty view of the fire-place, with its claborate chimney piece, from the parlor. The second and third storicare divided into comfortable chambers, with bath-rooms, closets, &c. The front is a carefully-designed specimen of Queen Anne architecture, a striking feature of which is a large oval window, affording a view of Dupont and Scott Circles. The wood and fron work of the front is arthicked by painted in parti-colors, the sashes of lead work and cathedral glass; the roof is covered with red tile—the whole forming a quaint and cosy home. Gray & Page, architects; Charles C. Martin, builder.

Mr. A. Pollok is building a fine residence on I street, between 17th and 18th streets. The feature of the plan is a large central stair hall, with library adjoining, separated by an elaborate screen formed with columns and arches, with spandrils of richly colored cathedral glass and lead work. The staircase is divided into easy flights by square platforms, and the ornamental balustrade forms a pretty vista through the screen from the library. The front has a large nullioned bey window, with colored glass transoms, and finished by a parapet, forming a balcony to third story. The Interior trimmings are finished in the natural wood, and the fire places fitted up with ornamental tile, brass andhons and swinging grates. The house is complete in all the modern improvements and artistically finished.
