ARRANGING FOR THE INAUGURA- mined that gentleman to take no steps in the TION.

The Great Interest Manifested by the District Democracy-The Situation in District just at present is the invention of some method by which ail can harmoniously and satis inauguration of Gov. Cleveland as President of the United States. While, of course, all the democrats are not anxious to appear prominently, yet there are enough to keep the entire number in a kind of a quiet ferment, and there is a good deal of discussion going on as to men and methods. This sort of talk began as soon as Cleveland's election was astalk began as soon as Cleveland's election was assured, and the jealousies, which exist between the different local organizations, soon began to manifest itself. All the prominent members of the clubs watched each other closely, and kept a careful eye upon those prominent democrats who are unattached, so to speak. It was thought at first that the Columbia club, which has the credit of being rather exclusive, was proposing to take the lead in making the arrangements for the inauguration, and every body else at once prepared to sit down heavily on such a project if it was attempted to be put into execution. The agitation over this phase had hardly reached a head when it was given out that a number of gentlemen, mainly members of the Metropolitan club, had determined to assume the burden of the inaugural preparations themselves and not allow the "local politicians" to have a controlling voice. Commissioner Edmonds was credited with being the head of the movement and the silk stockings," as they were derisively called, became at once objects of interest. Whether either of these rumors had any grounds to rest upon must remain in doubt, but, however that may be, there was no doubt in the minds of many that something of the sort was in the wind. "The silk stocking" combination being regarded as the most dangerous and the necessity for united action being apparent to overcome it all other jealousies were forgotten, and gentiemen representing the national comtraid district committee were requested by the Columbia club to confer with the national democratic committee and to ascertain from them what their wishes or that of the President-elect were in regard to the inaugural arrangements. This action, as it comes from no one body, but from the democracy of the District, met with general approval. The democracy of the District then regarded themselves as solid and united in opposition to Commissioner Edmonds and his silk-stocking following, as the expression ran. They waited to hear from New York, and the recent intelligenc sured, and the jealousies, which exist between the designate a committee of their number to make suitable arrangements is regarded as a victory for the anti-Edmonds party. The announcement of the names of this committee is awaited with some interest. It is supposed to be the executive committee of the national committee, of which Senator Gorman is chairman, and Senators Jonas, Ransom and others are members. Nearly all are members of Congress, and it is expected that they will hold their first meeting in this city after Congress convenes.

A NATIONAL INAUGURATION. The idea of these appointments, as explained by some of the local democrats here is, that in this way the inauguration will be made a national affair under national auspices. It is expected that this committee will call upon the citizens to assist them in making the arrangements for the inaugu-ration, and that all the details will be managed by ration, and that all the details will be managed by the citizens as heretofore.

It has been suggested that the members of this national sub-committee, knowing some of the prominent democrats here, will call upon them for information as to prominent members of the party in this District, and that they can consult with them in regard to the best plan for beginning the movement looking towards the inauguration of Gov. Cleveland.

This action of the national committee, it is thought here, will prevent any premature or hasty thought here, will prevent any premature or hasty measures looking towards an organization, and that the arrangements will not be embarrassed at the start as they were four years ago by a split at that time among the leading republicans of this District

Edmonds "in relation to the stand he has taken in trying to take from the democratic citizens of the District of Columbia (who have alded in gaining the victory) the honor of alding in celebrating the coming inaugural ceremonies." The resolutions further set forth that Commissioner Edmonds has never been identified with the democratic party or taken any interest in its weltare, and deciare "that we, the Jefferson Democratic association, as part of the loyal democracy of the District of Columbia, insist that Commissioner Edmonds take a lumbla, insist that Commissioner Edmends take a back seat; that the democracy (not he) may inau-gurate their President. And that we ask ail demogurate their President. And that we ask all demo-crats to aid us in defeating any scheme this man of check may resort to, that might deprive us of our andisputed right as democrats (not republicans.)" Remarks were made by Mr. Emner, Mr. C. Dufour, president of the 7th district, and Messrs. Cusick and Carroll, criticising Mr. Edmonds.

The Madison Democratic association, at its meet-ing last night, appointed its secretary, Mr. J. Fred. Kelly, to represent the association at the public meeting to be held to make arrangements for the inauguration.

What Commissioner Edmonds Says. THE MONUMENT DEDICATION AND THE INAUGURATION what a morning paper says about his going to New York concerning the inauguration of President Cleveland, and asked how much truth there was in the statement, answered that there was non at all, except that he went to New York with his wife, and was there a day and a-half, and neither as went and would not even know how to go about it. He believes the less parade there is the better it will please Mr. Cleveland, as it would Thomas Jefferson it has never alive.

believes the less parade there is the better it will please Mr. Cleveland, as it would Thomas Jefferson if he were alive.

Mr. Edmonds said there are matters that should have the attention of our citizens, irrespective of party. Both the dedication of the Washington monument and the inauguration of the President will be made the occasion for thousands of people to visit Washington, and there should be some provision made to give them lo iging. Hotels and restaurants can provide food but not lodging. Already inquiry is made of the Commissioners whether provision is being made to take care of the numerous military organizations that will wish to visit this city. The answer given is that the Commissioners have nothing to do with such matters, but that doubtless the citizens will do all in their power to take care of them. doubtless the citizens will do all in their power to take care of them.

Mr. Edmonds thinks that at least 50,000 or more people will attend on those occasions if they can learn that they will find some place to sleep, and thinks that the citizens of Washington will giadly welcome them all, and that if this is the sentiment of the people they should appoint a committee to make the necessary arrangements, and that everybody will cheeriully co-operate to make those occasions both pleasant for the thousands who come and an honor to the District. This will require a good organization, much work and correspondence, and the proper steps should be promptly taken.

MR. EDMONDS' DEMOCRACY. Mr. Edmonds' attention being called by a Star reporter to the resolutions of the Jefferson civil reporter to the resolutions of the Jefferson club questioning his democracy, remarked:

"It is hardly worth while talking about that. Why, I have been a democrat all my life. I voted the democratic ticket in New York where I was born. I was a democrat for twenty years in lowa, where a man's democracy is as well tested as in Massachusetts or Vermont. What I mean by that is that in Iowa a man is not a democrat for revenue. I was apppointed a District Commissioner because I was a democrat, and, as I am informed, upon the request of nearly one hundred democratic members of Congress, who applied to the President for my appointment without my knowledge."

In reference to publications to the effect that the Metropolitan club, of which Mr. Edmonds is a member, was seeking to monopolize the control of the maugural ceremonies so far as their management is entrusted to citizens, Mr. Edmonds said that such a statement was ridiculous, and that he had never passed a word with one of the members of the club on the subject. He did not believe that such a thought had ever entered the mind of one of them. The club, he said, was not a political body.

Cross-examined.—The woman was Pearl Hough. She was distant twelve feet or more from the men. Afterwards saw blood in front of the tree box.

James O'Conner testified that he was at Hoy's September 28th, and McMahon introduced him to Hough. Witness then went to the pool table and Hough and McMahon had a wrestle. McMahon had been drinking right heavily.

After recess testimony was given by Edward A. Maxwell, Robert Hoy and Wm. Elmore for the defense.

ANNUAL REPORT OF AUDITOR TICHENOR The report of Auditor Tichenor, of the District was submitted to the District Commissioners to-day. The entire revenues of the District during the last fiscal year, the report says, including appropriations by Congress, were $4,130,403.2°, as follows: Baiance on hand July 1, 1883, $461,580.29; received during the year, $3,658,183.41; repayments to appropriations, $10,640.22. The total expenditures for the year were $3,614.63.76, leaving a balance on hand July 1, 1884. of $515,764.16. The number of checks drawn upon the Treasurer of the United States during the year was $2,203, aggregating the sum of $2,257,631.79. The number of audits for the same period was 4,700. The whole levy of real and personal tax to be collected for the year was $1,513,566.25. Of the delinquent taxes the sum of $74,449.89 has been paid since July 1, 1884. The system established more than a year ago, under which the receipts of the collector are audited, has proved entirely satisfactory. In order to complete the system in all its parts it is necessary that all arrears of taxes due the District, both real and personal, should be brought forward and consolidated into arrears tax books, which would enable present owners the more readily to discover the existence of back taxes running against their property or property which they are about to purenase. Assistant District Attorney Thomas appeared on behalf of the prosecution, and Campbell Carringsistant District Attorney Thomas appeared on behalf of the prosecution, and Campbell Carrington for the defendants. John Tyler, a young man residing at 418 8th street, testified that on the night of November 5th he was in Oppenheimer's saloon, on Pennsylvania avenue, near the corner of 11th street, when the desendant Hicky, came in with a crowd, whom witness treated several times, after which he found Hickey's hand in his pocket. Witness left with his friends and went to several saloons, being followed by Hickey and his crowd. Finally he got away from them and went a round-about way until he reachee the corner of I and 5th streets, when he was knocked down and robbed. Chas, Hurdie, a saloon keeper in the "Division," testified that he read an account of the robberty to Mitchnor, who said: "I did it; he was game." Fred Dyson, colored, testified that on the morning after the robbery Mitchnor told him that he did it but the man was so strong that he did not get any money. The defense offered no testimony, and the case was dismissed.

In the matter of the Smithsonian highway robbery case against them, which was tried on Saturday, they were held for the grand jury; bonds, $500, in default of which they were committed to jail.
