CLIMBING UP THE TALL SHAFT. Plucky People Who Walk to the Top of the Monument.

OVER TEN THOUSAND OF THEM WHO HAVE GONE UP, BUT WHO DON'T CARE TO CLIMB 900 STAIRS AGAIN-THEY WILL WAIT FOR The passenger elevator of the Washington monument is in position, and will soon be completed and in readiness to carry passengers to the 500-loot level, when Congress shall authorize such use to be made of it. It will be some time from 7 to 10 followed, which was largely atyet before the monument is entirely completed, for it is necessary to improve the present somewhat unsightly surroundings by forming a mound about the base, which will afford gradual, though irregular, ascent to the floor of the monument. This work cannot be commenced for a month yet, as it contemplates the filling of Babcock lake, and this is not to be done until after the fish are all removed. Preliminary steps are being taken, however, and nearly all the frame buildings surrounding the monu-ment, which were sold the other day, are now being removed. All the remaining hoisting apparatus, tools, materials, &c., were also disposed of at the sale, so that there may be a clear field for entering at once upon the proposed work when the proper time arrives. In the mean-time the monument is still open to the public, who are still permitted to work their passage to the top afoot, and they will probably be accord-ed this privilege until Congress makes some provision for running the elevator for their convenience. ABOUT AN HOUR NEEDED FOR THE ROUND TRIP. Since the 1st of April, when the iron stairway itors admitted, ten thousand eight hundred passes have been issued to applicants. Of these only two hundred were not used, and therefore did not find their way back to the monument office, showing that visitors very generally availed themselves of the opportunity to pasts. availed themselves of the opportunity to make a close inspection of the monument, even if they did not tramp to the five-hundred-foot level. The ascent of the monument is quite an undertaking, and many visitors who have gone to the trouble to secure passes are content to examine it from the ground after a glance up the dark shaft brings a realization of the task examine it from the ground after a glance up the dark shaft brings a realization of the task before them. It takes generally about an hour for persons who are not in a hurry to make the round trip. This gives twenty or twenty-five Rev. Dr. Maynard officiated. minutes for the ascent, ample time to enjoy the magnificent view from the windows at the five-hundred-foot level and twenty minutes to de-

THE FASTEST TIME TO THE TOP ON RECORD. The quickest time that the ascent has yet been made in is ten minutes. When it is con- where appeals are taken from the decision of sidered that to accomplish the task in that time it is necessary for the climber to ascend at the rate of fitty feet a minute, or as fast as the freight elevator used to ascend when the monument was in course of construction, it can be realized that this is pretty fast time.

"THE FELLER THAT DONE IT" AND HIS LEGS. "I remember the time that it was done in ten minutes," said John Shea, the monument watchman for the past twenty years, in speaking of the occurrence to a STAR reporter the other day. "The feller that done it was one of these velocipede riders. He was a long-legged one, but his legs were all one way up and down. I give you my word, when he came salin' up the hill on top of his wheel I could hardly tell his legs from the spokes, both being the same shape and so near the same size. He had no extra weight to carry and he had a good reach, and he made a good job of it. Ridin' of his wheel on the road gave him good wind and strong legs. That's the best time I know of, though I saw a neater trick than that done by signal service men were making experiments at the top of the monument with 'atmospheric electricity,' I believed they called it. They needed some water for their business, and there being none handy up stairs three of them started, each with two pails full in their hands. All three were wheelmen, and were sturdy looking young feilers. Just as they started with their loads one of them sung out, 'Ice cream on the man that first sets his palis down.'

'Agreed,' said the others, and up they went They had no lights, but there was a visitor just ahead with a candle, and he set the pace for them. Not one of them stopped to rest, and they all reached the top together in sixteen minutes. Nobody had to treat, but any one of them would have been willing to set'em up when they were through." There are 898 steps to be ascended, so that these water carriers cleared over fifty-six steps a minute, without taking into consideration the many horizontal steps on the ten platforms or stagings which form a part of the iron stair-A WINE DEALER IN A FIX.

"Speaking of treating," continued John Shea, after THE STAR man had made the above calculation, "reminds me of the way one of the boys here put the screws on a visitor at the time the capstone was set. The visitor, who by the way kept a wine shop, wanted to go up the outside perpendicular ladder, which you remember then reached from the 500-loot level to a scaffold hall way up the roof. He got up the ing, of Peoria, Ill.; Marty, of Dakota; Monsignor cold world, because I teared that if the world fadder, but he lost his heart when he went to this city. Rev. P. L. Chappelle, of got too cold he would come back to me. So I crawi on to the scaffold, and yelled for help.
One of the boys, who knew him, was standing near by and halloed, 'Now I have you where I want you. The best bottle in the shop or you'll have to stick there, for devil a bit will I help you.' The promise was made in less than no time, and he was helped up." The suggestive way in which Shea wiped his mouth, as ne concluded, gave rise to a suspicion that he knew that the promise was kept. LADIES WHO MAKE THE TRIP. "Do many ladies go up?" repeated Shea. "Well, I should say so; nearly as many as men; over a hundred visitors a day you may know that a good many ladies make the trip. I never he went out of business and left the fer remaining away for some time he down in good shape. It isn't a hard trip if you don't hurry. I have known two ladies, both on crutches, to stump every step of the way to the top and back again. Nearly everybody has something to say when they get back, but the remark I hear over and over every day is: 'Well! that's the last time I'll make that trip! and you can be sure it's the lirst time.

> "I suppose everybody has some questions to sk?" suggested the reporter. "I never saw but one that didn't, and he was a mute from Kendall Green. You see the peo-ple that come here are from Senators down to loafers and burgiars, and their questions are as different as they are. When they stick to the monument I am all right, but when they carry by extending it to Berryville, making a juncformerly employed by Mr. W. B. Marche, on Capitol Hill, on suspicton of having caused the fire on Monday night, has also found two wita little to satisfy them.

SOUNDS IN THE SHAFT. THE STAR man took his stand inside the monument, and the noise of a party descending sounded as if they were dancing a jig on the head of an enormous bass drum. The sound of their feet striking the iron steps was taken up and re-echoed down the enormous shaft, filling it with a weird din. Above it all, how-ever, could be heard the voices of the sightseers as they called to one another in the darkness. They were nearer the top than they were the bottom, too. ley, quartermaster's sergeant; Henry Zell, drum major; J. O'Leary, fife major; S. R. Andrews, color-bearer, and H. B. Robertson, sentinel.

Stealing at the Workhouse.—Wm. Halbach, a colored laborer, was given a home at the Washington asylum sometime ago, with the understanding that he was to get his board for working about the grounds and milking cows. Somehow or other he had money to spend and show among his fellow-workmen to the young man who spend the bottom of the steps.

"That isn't as pleasant a sound as I heard in here the other day," said the watchman, coming beside The Star man. "A party of young ladies were coming down," he continued, "and they began singing. It was beautiful. Their voices for as clear as belis and the nearer they came the more beautiful was the singing. Lord love you, sir, I was really sorry when they reached me and got here," meaning at the bottom of the steps.

After the visitors had all reached the bottom the young man who spends they came the watchman, coming beside The Star man. "A party of young ladies were coming down," he continued, "and they came the more beautiful was the singing. Three men compose the regular watch lorce, and each one is on duty eight conwatch lorce, and each one is on duty eight con-secutive hours. In addition a man, as stated, is stationed at the five hundred foot level dur-ing the day, when visitors are admitted. Not-withstanding all the precautions that are taken the monument has not escaped the vandalism of the sight-seer. Names have been scribbled on the walls and the memorial stones have been smoked by candles held too close, and have even been ruthlessly chipped by relic hunters. All visitors are advised to carry a light, particularly ladies, although it is not ab-

Appeals from the Police Court.

NEW DEPARTURE OF JUDGE SNELL. In all prosecutions brought against person for alleged violations of the municipal laws, the Police Court, the person appealing is re- bonds or the bonds of any state. quired to deposit $5, as a docket fee, with the clerk of the court, in the city hall, in addition to giving bonds in the Police Court for appearance in court and prosecution of their appeal. The amount of docket fee is often equal to or more than the amount of fine imposed, and therefore makes it expensive to get a trial by twelve impartial citizens. For this reason a large number of poor persons, although not at all satisfied with the judgment given against them by the Police Court, are compelled to submit to it, as they would not do if they could afford to appeal. In cases where violations of the United States laws, such as assaults, rob-beries, etc., are charged, it is different. In such cases no docket fee, but simply a bond for apcases no docket fee, but simply a bond for appearance is required, and consequenty the appeals on the United States side are much more numerous than those on the District side. Numbers of cases in which appeals have been taken but not perfected within ten days have been held in the clerk's office for a year or two and then sent back to the Police Court, and seven congressmen, and votes upon two proposed amendments to the constitution of the state, one of which provides for the renewal of the public debt, which matures in 1893, and the other changes the time for the taking of the state census to 1891 and every stant use day and night, the receipts must be live marks (say shillings) a minute to make it some of these velocipede riders. It was one hot | citizens who have often forgotten the facts conthe fine. Recently the clerk sent back to the Police Court a number of cases, and before the court had time to enforce its original judgment counsel for defendant would get Judge MacArthur to vacate the rule requiring a docket fee and request the case to be sent back again Such cases became numerous and troublesome, and Judge Snell has notified the cierk not to comply with any more such requests.

The act establishing the Police Court gives persons feeling aggrieved by the decision of the Police Court the right of appeal to the Criminal Court and trial by jury, and states that the case is to be tried the same as in the court in which it originated. Nothing is said about docket fees. Before the establishment of the Police Court all cases brought by the District were tried in the Circuit Court, and the amount of the fee was $8; but after the establishment of the Police Court the fee was reduced to $5, instead of being abolished altogether.

I soon learned that he was running an Airican dormitory and a poker lay-out in my stable, and the general appearance of my premises finally brought me letters from the American Misslor ary Union asking permission to establish one of their Congo out stations between my barn and the kitchen. This, as much as anthing else, induced me to part with Albert. He shipped with me under the nom de plume of Albert Wilson, but I noticed that some of the natives cailed him "Lame Jake," and he requested me, in writing his letter of recommendation, to call him Thompson Easley. By and by my neighbor said to me: "That man, Sam Norton, you sent me—did you ever have any trouble with him?" I said no, never. "Well," said my neighbor, "I can't get along with him. He won't do one thing I tell him, not a thing." "Oh, well," I said, "ne tried that on me, too when he first came, but I settled that in short which will be commenced next spring. The plans have been prepared by one of the most prominent architects of the country. It was stated that $500,000 had been subscribed in neighbor was real angry with me and abused him. You see, he had no tact. That very night Albert landed on my coast again. He confided to me that his real name was James Sinclair.

BROTHERS DROWN TOGETHER.-A Nyack, N Y., special, Oct. 25, says: Yesterday morning Tan Duany and H. Duany, his brother, aged 37, both of Rockland lake, and their cousin from Albany, took two light canvas canoes from the lake village to the Hudson and round to Nyack. After remaining here a few hours they started late in the afternoon on their return trip. The two brothers had one cance. Off Hook mountain, at the upper end of upper Nyack, their cance was swamped. Their cousin was paddling ahead of them, but turned and hastened to their assistance. He threw them a rope and both men grasped it. The elder brother, how-ever, was lame, and after a brief struggle both sank and did not reappear. Darkness was rapidly approaching, and after waiting some time and vainly crying for help, the cousin rowed to Rockland lake. A search for the bodies was made in vain to-day. The brothers belonged to a wealthy Cuban family, and settled on an estate near Rockland lake. Tan Duany was vice president of the Rockland county farmers' racing at the farmers' piculc. Both he and his brother were fine swimmers. They lived with R R O O Y AAA L

From the Lowell Citizen. City editor to new reporter-"Well, sir, have you found out anything as to the improved business outlook? We shall want that article to-morrow." Reporter-"Yes, sir; I have learned something very encouraging about two very important industries," Editor—"Very good; what is it?" Reporter—"They tell me that the horse-car drivers are working full time and that the electric lighting stations are running nights."

He Wanted Their Esteem.

From Texas Siftings. Hostetter McGinnis is a male flirt. He was taken to task by Gilhooly, who said, reproachfully: "You have been courting all four of those Longcoffin girls all summer; why don't you marry one of them?" "I'd do it, Gilhooly, but I don't want to do anything to forfeit the esteem of the other three."

ROSINA VOKES DANGEROUSLY ILL.—A special to the N. Y. World from Chicago, October 27, says: Miss Rosina Vokes, the actress, is confined to her room at the Hotel Richelleu, a very sick woman. Before the curtain rose on the first act of "The Schoolmistress" last night Miss Vokes complained of pains about the region of the heart, but concluded to proceed with the play. At the close of the second act she fell to the stage unconscious and was hastlly removed to her hotel. Her illness was pronounced a species of heart disease which might only be temporary. To-night Miss Vokes is still very sick and much anxiety is lelt for her. Cecil Clay, her husband, said that Miss Vokes would probably not play again this week, but she hoped to be able to go on next Monday night. Miss Agnes Miller, an "understudy," is playing the past for Miss Vokes. In a stage career of more than thirty years this is the first time Miss Vokes has been compelled to neglect a performance because of illness, and this fact distresses her very much.

THREE HUNDRED MORE MORMONS.—The steamship British King arrived at Philadelphia yesterday morning from Liverpool, having on board 800 Mormons. One hundred and three were Scandinavians and the rest were from England, Scotland and Wales. The greatest sum held by any single one of the party was $3, while the majority had less than sixty cents. At a meeting of the Yale corporation y

PILIBUSTERS FOR MEXICO. K. Cutting Said to be Organizing a

Army to Invade Chihuahua. A telegram to the New York Herald from El Paso, Texas, October 27, says: It has been an open secret in El Paso for some time that A. K. Cutting, of international fame, had convinced himself that he could organize an expedition against the northern states of Mexico and "take out of their hides," as it were, his grievance against that country. To-day the details were learned for the first time. The scheme appears o others chimerical, but to Cutting and his backers as easy as falling off a log. The facts are El Paso is the headquarters of a secret ex-ecutive committee, which is seeking to organize a filibustering expedition against Mexico. It is highly probable that A. K. Cutting is the most influential member of this committee.

OBJECT OF THE FILIBUSTERS. The leading features of the movement are: An army of 10,000 men is to be raised in the United States, cross into Mexico, seize the states of Chihuahua, Sonora and Durango, wrest them from Mexican dominion and erect them into an independent socialistic republic. Circulars, calling for men, have been sent broadcast to "safe" persons all over the country, especially in the southern states, and pledges have been received already amounting to eight thousand men. Work is being done in New York, Chicago and other great cit'es, with a view of ting the surplus unemployed laboring men. The leaders are confident of raising ten thousand men easily, and assert that thirty or forty thousand more would follow very rapidly. Great aid is expected from the Yaqui Indians and from the Mexican revolutionists. Capitalists, representing over $40,000,000, and living in New York and Chicago, are now discussing the making of a loan, taking a large amount of the bonds of the new republic, and also on the land and mineral deposits of Chihuahua, Sonora and Durango. Durango. MORMONISM BACKING THE MOVEMENT.

The leaders here say there is no more trouble about funds. The Mormon church has also given assurances that it will raise a large amount of money in consideration of a home undisturbed. The conspirators say it would take an army of $50,000 to guard this frontier so that they could not get across. They say that their movement is only against the corrupt and tottering Mexican government, not against the Mexican people. They propose to abolish the peon system, cut up vast baciendas into small farms and give prosperity and happiness to the peo-ple. They expect to have assistance from the Mexican masses and the good will of the Cath-olic church. Several priests are known to be taking part in the matter. Revolutions are breaking out in every part of Mexico, and these priests hope the proposed filibustering expedi-tion will be the means of overthrowing the Diaz government and re-establishing the power of the church. Mexican priests are represented very triendly to the conspirators, and many letters were shown, but for prudential reasons all names are withheld for the present. The leaders are confident. Cutting has been mys-New York elects a judge of the court of appeals, assemblymen and thirty-four congressmen and votes upon the question of holding a men and votes upon the constitution of the constitution ndemns it in round terms.

> Telephone or Telegraph? From Nature.

The question of telephony vs. telegraphy has been recently discussed by a well-known German electrician, Dr. Wietlisbach. The chief versation would cost at least 50 marks (£2 10s.) That is, of course, too dear for ordinary traffic. The telegraph works with almost the same speed more than ten times more cheaply. Thus the question as to rivalry between telephone phone up to about 500 km. distance (say 310 miles) will more and more displace the telegraph, and find an extension which the telegraph would never reach. But for greater distances the telegraph must keep the upper hand. Thus telephone and telegraph are really not rivals, but fitted to supplement each other.

It is not old, but was give by Napoleon Bonaparte to my grand uncle, Albert McMahon, one of his soldiers. The province of Lorraine passed after-ward into the German power, but the estate was not confiscated. My grand uncle died in 1870, leaving the estate and title to his son Albert. He died on the 18th of last July, bequeathing the estate to me. The search instituted for me was not successful until two weeks ago. The connection between my mother's family and the McMahon family began with the marriage of Miss Kearnes (her first name I forget) to the first Albert McMahon." A. T. Stewart's Apple Woman. From the Cleveland Leader. I hear a queer story of the superstition of A. To $20. Carriage robes from $2,00 to $20. To Pham's, 1231 Pa. ave. as a New York merchant until shortly before his death he imagined that his fortune was bound up in that of the little old apple woman who had a stand in front of his store. When his chief store was down by the city hall this little old apple woman was encouraged and protected by him, and when he moved further up Broadway to the big white building now occapied by Denning, it is said that he personally superintended the carrying of the little apple woman's effects to a new stand outside of to me that his real name was James Sinclair, and he brought with him his brother, whom he introduced as Walter Taylor. They took up their old quarters in the barn and boarded with me for a week, before I was able to secure them places in the county work house. They took in the good, and he often said, so the story goes, that when she died or left the place that the places in the county work house. They took in the good, link would go with her street to the place that the places in the county work house. his good luck would go with her. Strange to say, it was even so. A few months after this Stewart began to decline, and the apple woman was hardly forgotten before he was in his grave.

SENSATIONALISM IN THE PULPIT.-The Bap tist ministers of Philadelphia held a spirited meeting Monday, the topic for discussion being "Is Sensational Preaching Profitable?" The Rev. R. M. Luther said: "Of course sensational preaching is profitable. The objection generally comes from those who are not gifted to attract attention." The discussion was closed by the Rev. Dr. Peddie, who said: "We had better preach to small congregations than resort to mountebank methods. I believe the cause of Christ would be better served if we did not advertise on Saturdays subjects for sermons."

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to an andoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is, therefore, singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid hemselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives. But this will never do. Catarrh must be me every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms.
