MEMORY TRAINING FOR WOMEN IN THE GOVERNMENT SERVICE.

AN IMPORTANT LESSON.

It has long been a problem for scientists to discover how to strengthen the memory, and no system has been devised which excels that based upon the association of ideas. The following lesson, if committed to memory, will assist any woman in improving her memory as well as her appearance. The lesson is sim-ple, and can be memorized in one hour by a woman of ordinary intelligence. ordinary intelligence.

AN ASTLUM CONTAINING HUNDREDS OF CHILDREN THREE TIMES SET ON FIRE. GLADSTONIANS FEEL JUBILANT. SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—The attempts that were made Saturday night to burn St. Vincent's Orphan Asylum at San Rafael, this state, were renewed Tuesday night and yesterday morning. The asylum has within its walls about 600 orphans. It seemed positive that the fire in each case had been started by one or more of the children in the building. One boy has confessed having aided in starting the fire, and several of them are now under arrest. These fires have thrown the majority of the orphans into the greatest fear, as during at least one of the incendiary attempts the building came near being consumed. From the partial confession made it would seem that the boys simply tried to burn the building down in order to escape.

DR. NEWMAN MADE A BISHOP. He is Elected on the Fourteenth Ballot in the Methodist Conference. NEW YORK, May 24.-When Bishop Foster called he General Methodist Conference to order, all the delegates were in their places for about the first time since the opening day, and when Dennis Osborne, of India, announced the opening hymn the galleries and boxes were well filled. Dr. Newman was in his customary seat when the result of the 10th ballot, taken yesterday, was made known. This ballot resulted as reported, in no election. There were 435 votes cast and 290 necessary for a choice. Dr. Newman received 274; Dr. Goodsell, 267, and Dr. Cranston, 216. The result had hardly been announced when Dr. Baylis jumped up and offered a resolution in the interests of a fair count. He suggested that when a conference was called the delegates should rise and pass their votes to the teller, who should then declare the number of votes cast, of which an accurate taily should be kept. The conference would not hear of such a thing. They were all honest men and did not feel inclined to submit to any such indignity.

The eleventh ballot was soon counted, and resulted as follows: Newman, 276; Goodsell, 213; lelegates were in their places for about the first dishop by, a vote of 320 out of 430.

While the ballots were being counted Dr. Wm. Nast, the father of German-American Methodism, was invited to a place on the platform, and Bishop Wilson, of the Methodist Church South, was welcomed by the conference and made a brief speech. The question of establishing a new Sunday school paper was also discussed. The committee on book concern presented a report recommending that the magazine, The Study, be suspended, and that the policy of Our Youth be broadened. A minority report was presented recommending the establishment of a new paper. Before the matter could be decided the tellers returned with the count of the tweith ballot. The Newman faction remained solid and added another vote to their number. Of the 294 added another vote to their number. Of the 294 added another vote to their number. Of the 294 necessary Newman got 277.

The thirteenth ballot being taken the tellers retired, and the question of a new Sunday-school paper was again taken up. The recently-elected bishop, J. H. Vincent, made an appeal for a continuance of the present magazines, and opposed the minority report. Dr. Lanchau also opposed a new paper because it would multiply the number of officers in the church, which is now about one to ten. While Dr. Lanchau was talking the tellers came in and the result of the thirteenth ballot was announced.

In this respect, therefore, in spite of what the Standard says, he stood practically on the same footing as his liberal opponent. It is believed the sharp practice by which the government hurries on the election in the absence of the liberal candidate really proved favorable on the whole to the latter's chances. Putting aside these considerations, it is not possible to doubt, broadly speaking, that the Southampton electors gave their decision on the Irish policy. The late member never had authority to vote in favor of coercion. It is now clear to all unprejudiced observers that in doing so he acted contrary to the views of his constituents. New York, May 24.—About a dozen old women were sorting rags on the fourth floor of Hugh McGinnis' five-story rag factory in the rear of No. 59
Spring street to-day, about a quarter to 11 o'clock, when fire broke out there. The fiames seemed to leap up from every point almost simultaneously. The rear windows overlooked the roofs of the houses facing Madison street, and out of these, three or four women tumbled in a heap. One of themwas injured by the jump. Meantime the other women got out in safety. Not so with Bridget O'Mara, who apppeared to have lost her reason. She caught hold of a rope used for hauling bundles up and down through the hatchway. With this she jumped out of a window and might have reached the yard in safety but she let go her hold when opposite the third-story window, and, uttering a scream, fell in a heap on the paved courtyard below, sustaining critical injuries. Later on the firemen found an old woman named Sullivan on the fourth floor burned almost beyond recognition. It is not expected she can survive her burns. The flesh peeled off her limbs and body.

The damage to the building will figure up about $4,000. Fire in a Rag Factory.

Their remains were mangled almost beyond recognition.

Two Aged Brothers Found Dead. St. Louis, May 24.—Investigation shows that the death of John F. and Charles G. Fuhrmann, whose bodies were found yesterday in their apartments at No. 420 Chestaut street, this city, occurred from natural causes, and there is not the slightest foundation for the theory of murder and robbery. The brothers were very old, one being eighty and the other seventy-four years of age. The younger one was in very feeble health and the elder was subject to apoplexy.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE EVENING STAR.

LONDON, May 24.—Like Chamberlain, Hartington vidently thinks the time has come to formulate a olicy in regard to Ireland. An anonymous Irish liberal-unionist takes it upon himself to write to Hartington, asking whether or not he is correct in believing his lordship of the opinion that parliament should refuse to recognize Irish nationality as the basis of Irish government, just as in the civil war in the United States the central government refused to recognize confederate nationality as a basis of the confederate government. It is interesting to know who this anonymous corre-spondent is. So accurately does he interpret Hart-ington's views in his long letter that Hartington, in his reply, merely confirms the correctness of the interpretation.

In the second district at Havre de Grace there is likely to be a contest between the friends of the present member, Dr. Shaw, and those of ex-Member J. F. C. Talbot. He was born in the state of New York in 1823, and is consequently sixty-two years old. He was educated at Cazenovia Seminary and entered the Methodist Episcopal Church. His talent as a speaker and writer soon called the attention of the City of Churches to him. At first he was a member of the Troy Conference, but a sermon preached at the dedication of the Hanson Place church, in Brooklyn, about twenty-five years ago, on the Resurrection, led to his being called to one of the richest churches in that city. From one to another of these he was transferred, finally becoming attached to the Baltimore Conference. Here he was stationed at the Metropolitan M. R. church in this city. It was here that the warm friendship sprang up with in Gen. Grant, which continued until Gen. Grant's death. From 1869 to 1872 Dr. Newman was chaplain of the United States Senate. Later Gen. Grant made him inspector of consulates, an office created for the purpose. In this capacity he spent two years abroad, extending his trip through Palestine. When he returned he was appointed again to the Metropolitan church, and subsequently was appointed to the Seventh-Avenue Central M. E. church, New York, where he remained two years. He was then for a time, at his own request, placed on the superannuated list. On the resignation of Dr. Davis, of the Madison-Avenue church, he accepted the pastorate at a salary of $10,000, with fees, &c., perhaps amounting to as much again. HIS MARVELLOUS STORIES OF DYNAMITE, ETC. Tuesday evening a badly frightened man calle t police headquarters on important business. I had just arrived here from Fredericksburg, and magined himself an expert detective. Bands of Irish dynamiters, he said, had assembled it Fredericksburg, and were to form several com panies of cavalry. There were at the head of them thirty-five ex-confederates, and unless something was soon done there would be a great deal of trouble in the country. The news, he said, must be conveyed to the President within twelve hours. The streets, he said, were then crowded with useless soldiers (Knights of the Golden Eagle) who had better be put in the arsenals and forts ready for service, and unless such action was taken the country would soon be at war, but it they took his advice the United States would come out on top. He told several miraculous stories concerning startling crimes which have been committed in all parts of the country, and claimed to know the whereabouts of Tascott, the murderer of Millionaire Snell, of Chicago, He also claimed that there was a party of men near Fredericksburg manufacturing counterfeit money. When they learned that he knew of their conduct he was offered $60,000 as hush-money, but he was too patriotic a panies of cavalry. There were at the head of them that he knew of their conduct he was offered $0,000 as hush-money, but he was too patriotic a clitzen to be bought off. He was referred to the Secret Service Division of the Treasury Department to make his complaint about the counterfeit money. He went to the Treasury yesterday morning, but in the afternoon he returned to headquarters and stated that he was not given a chance to make his complaint. He showed receipts of merchants in Fredericksburg, which he said proved that dynamite had been purchased of them by the dynamiters. He gave his name as Thomas Early. He is about sixty years old. He were a white cotton coat and was otherwise roughly dressed. not fully compiled with, to rectify the mistake.

Mr. Cahill said that there was but one matter of fact to be passed upon, viz: at what time did the withdrawal of Mr. Reisinger take effect.

It was argued that the case should be submitted to the jury on the testimony heretofore taken.

Mr. Riddle read the testimony, first, that of Henry Reisinger, son of John G. Reisinger, that the latter had assented to the license and withdrew his assent; that on the 8th of December Miss Ball spoke of getting his father to withdraw his name, and the next morning he went to Capt. Blackford's and signed the paper withdrawing his father's name, signing "J. G. Reisinger, per H. Reisinger." It was prepared the night before and dated December 8, and when he signed it the next day the date was changed. It was about 9:30 o'clock, and after he signed it he went with Capt. Blackford to Major Waiker's and then to his brother's, on Louisiana avenue, near the Central National Bank; that the power of attorney was drawn about eight or ten minutes after 10 o'clock, and he took it to Capt. Blackford's house, where he left it. About 10:30 o'clock witness, in the wagon, went past the house, and they were then taking up the body of Capt. Blackford, he having died in the meantime.

Mr. Cahill read the cross-examination of Henry Reisinger, in which he states that he signed his lather's name about 9:30 o'clock at Capt. Blackford's house, Massachusetts avenue and 1st street; that Maj. Walker drew up the power of attorney, but it was executed before Jno. N. Walker; understood from Capt. Blackford that it was to be fined by 11 o'clock.

The testimony of Mr. J. N. Walker, the notary public, as to the execution of the power of attorney followed, as also that of Miss Florence Bail, a DEATH OF MR. B. T. NORRIS.—Mr. B. T.
