The casher of M. Guggenheim's Sons, 96 and 98
Franklin street, one of the largest import houses in the United States, writes under date of June 30, 1888, as follows:
For years I have suffered from abscesses which always formed on the back of my neck, and had to be cut from time to time to obtain relief. I used all sorts of blood purifiers, but without avail. The abscesses would always reappear. I suffered very nuch pain until my physician advised me to use the genuine imported Carlsbad Sprudel Salts (powder form). I used this for about four weeks, and since that time I have been entirely free from the disease. My complexion cleared, and I have enjoyed good health ever since. I cannot speak too highly of this really valuable remedy, and have recommended it to all my friends, who also speak of its wonderful effects as a lazative.

The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his Radical Cure has won the hearty approval of thousands. Commissioner Raymond to-day received a le ter from the Bentley Knight Co., urging upon the District Commissioners that before franchises be District Commissioners that before franchises be given for the erection of unsightly poles and wires in opportunity be given that company to demo strate that the conduit system is to-day practicable, and that by its use an ideal system of street railways is brought within reach, and offering to appear before the Commis-sioners at any time and to exhibit full details of their construction and equipments.

They claim that the elevated conductors should never be used, except in suburbs or outlying roads between neighboring villages. They suggest that the beautiful streets and avenues of a city like the beautiful streets and avenues of a city like Washington, should be, if possible, exempted from the disfigurement of unsightly poles, and wires suspended across the streets. Their company has, they say, constructed, and is now operating a successful railway, the conductors for which are carried in shallow sub-surface conduits, laid wholly between the ties and the surface of the street. This road is a present financial success, and while passing through the principal streets of Allegheny City and supplying effective service to the citizens, presents none of the disadvantages which must always be present wherever the overhead system of conductors is employed. In New York, they add, the conduit system has been adopted by the North and East River Railway Co.

AT THE CAPITOL TO-DAY. The Senate Tariff Bill.

WILL NOT BE REPORTED TO THE PULL COM A STAR reporter was authoritatively informed to-day that the Senate tariff bill will not be re-ported to the full committee at the regular meeting to-morrow. The members of the subcom-mittee do not give any date as to when the bill will be reported. It is stated that the tariff bill is all ready, but that it will not be submitted to the full committee until the 11th of September. The reason for this delay is said to be that the bill contains a 50 per cent on lumber, and the republicans do not want that fact to become public until after the Maine election. They fear, so it is said, the effect in that state, and hence will hold back the bill until after the election there. District in Congress.

Dr. J. M. Toner, in speaking of Mr McGuire today, said: "He had a natural eye for pictures. His taste in that direction lead to his own fine collection, and to his being selected by Mr. Coreoran as trustee when the Corcoran Art Gallery was opened. His knowledge of art seemed to be instinctive. Of late years his gallery has not fairly represented him. He became neglectful of it, and, owing, perhaps, largely to his poor health, he did not keep up the weeding-out process, which is necessary to establish any good collection. His house and table were for many years open to the many well-known artists visiting this city. The portrait of Mr. Corcoran which now hangs in the gallery was painted in Mr. McGuire's gallery. In the collection of pictures he followed no special line. His tastes were too broad and his love of art too comprehensive. He was fond of books and collected more than ordinarily a large library. One of the notable books in his library is the celebrated 1623 follo edition of Shakespeare. He has a large collection of autographs and manuscripts of well-known men. His library, if arranged, would be notable even at the present day, but before the war it was far in the lead of anything in this city. His social qualities and his acquaintance with the statesmen of the country from 1835 to the breaking out of the late war was not exceeded by any resident of this city." His taste in that direction lead to his own fine col-approval. The complainants, the New Orleans Base-Ball Park Association, filed a bill against the Washington National Base-Bail Club and Wm. Widner to restrain the engagement of the last-named, on the ground of a prior contract with complainants. Mothershead, a watchman employed on the Baltimore and Potomac Ralfroad, appeared on the wharf. Mclihaney walted a few moments, then walked around a pile of lumber and jumped in. Mothershead heard the splash and at once went to the drowning man's assistance. The watchman soon saw Mclihaney rise to the surface and cry for help. Then he swam ashore and was lifted to the wharf by means of a rope lowered by the watchman. Two policemen appeared in the crowd, which soon assembled on the wharf, and the would-be suicide was escorted to the fourth precinct station, where he was placed behind the bars. Later in the day he was turned over to some friends, who took charge of him. Mclihaney lives on Maryland avenue, near 10th street. For the Eye of the Herdie Company, Will you permit me to inquire through the col-umns of your valuable paper why it is that some of the herdics on the line running out 13th street have recently been taken off? Why are we who have recently been taken off? Why are we who live on this line subjected to such vexations delays at our homes and at the junction when all the other lines are running regularly. Is the cause of this the opening of a new line on F street. I am reluctant to take this view of it, for I can hardly think that the Herdic Company would be so unwise as to sacrifice the patronage already obtained on this old line. Whatever the cause may be, the fact remains that these herdics are now run so far apart as to frequently compel us, who live right on the line of them, and who heretofore have always used them, to go to 14th street and take the cars. Will the Herdic Company explain to its patrons on this line the cause of this seemingly unfair treatment, and whether or not we may expect better accommodations?

THAT $10,000 CONTRIBUTION, The President Always Ready to Ald His Party.

The reported $10,000 campaign contribute from the President was the theme of discussi up town and down town to-day. When asked a STAR reporter about the story, Col. It is well knewn that the President has always openly and above board been in the habit of making such contributions as his means justified toward defraying the necessary legitimate expenses of his party's campaigns, whether he has been a candidate for office or not, and this year is not likely to be an exception. The expenses for documents, meetings, &c., in a national campaign covering the whole country, run up into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Somebody must pay, and none could be expected to more cheerfully than those who are supposed to have a personal interest in their party's success. The President will, as heretofore, assist the democratic party in this manner, as far as he thinks fair and proper, just as I suppose Gen. Harrison and Gen. Fiske will aid the republican and prohibition parties. I don't know what sum he will give, and I don't know what sum he will give, and I don't understand that it is any of my business, but I am quite sure that the sum you mention ($10,000) is not unusually large."

MR. BLAINE ON THE MESSAGE, His Sharp Criticism of the President's Course in Regard to the Fisheries

James G. Blaine went to Lewiston, Me., Saturday evening, to speak at a raily of the Androscoggen County republicana, and was greeted by the largest audience ever assembled there to hear nim, and he has spoken there every presidential campaign for twentypears. After a short speech by Mr. Dingley on the tariff question, Mr. Blaine was introduced and was accorded a great reception by the assembled people, who arose in their seats and cheered tumultuously. When he announced that he should devote his attention to the President's fishery manifesto the excitement ran high, and all listened with rapt attention, and when the speaker made his most pointed utterances they expressed their approval in hearty applause.

Speaking of President Cleveland's message on the fisheries he said: "With all due respect to the Chief Executive of the nation, I must say that considering all circumstances it is the most extraordinary document that ever was sent from the White House to the Capitol." He said that in order to bring the government of the Dominion to a just appreciation of the subject, Congress authorized the President in the spring of 1887 to adopt at his discretion a policy of suitable retaliation, directing among other things, that whenever and so long as American vessels were deprived of commercial privileges in the ports of Canada, Canadian vessels should be deprived of like privileges in the ports of the United States. This, if I may indulge in appropriate slang, was a genuine tit-for-tat policy, in which the punishment was admirably fitted to the crime. President Cleveland declined to enforce the policy and allowed outrage after outrage upon our fishing vessels to go unredressed. He was tent upon some form of negotiation with England, even against the expressed wish and will of the United States Senate, and in dehance of the large share in the treaty-making power which the Constitution assigns to the Senate.

States Senate, and in dehance of the large share in the treaty-making power which the Constitution assigns to the Senate.

Mr. Blaine charged the President with giving a partisan character to the matter by sending to the Senate the treaty with Canada. He then said: "Why should the railways of the United States, that annually transport fitty millions of Canadian goods in transit, be deprived of their business and endure a large loss on account of a sudden whim of the President! Why should the transit from Detroit to Buffalo and New York, over both American and Canadian lines of rail, be suspended when District Government Affairs.

THE TAX-SALE BILL.

The Commissioners, in company with Attorney Davis, were at the Capitol this morning endeavoring to get the Senate to recail from the President the bill providing for the advertising and sale of property for delinquent taxes in the District of Columbia, heretofore referred to in The Star, for the purpose of changing the date on which the sale was to take place, as it is impossible to prepare the list in time to have the sale take place in September of this year.

The Commissioners this morning received a letter from Assessor Fish, calling their attention to Canal Company on real estate in the city of Washington. He says that for many years the company has ceased to operate as a canal, and this ground has ceased to operate as a canal, and this ground has been entered on his books as taxable. The question in the precise manner which their Senate now contemptuously rejects, or, after all, fellow citizens, is not the President's position a mere political device to divert the attention of the American people from his free-trade message, and from the stills' tariff bill? Is not the bluster on the fisheries to be the plan of campaign for the democratic part? Are not permits for bravade to be issued by the political agents of the Administration, marked on the back Good till after first Tuesday of November?

sued by the political agents of the Administration, marked on the back Good till after first Tuesday of November?

"The treaty was launched as a democratic partisan measure, rather than a patriotic American measure. And the London papers have been following their usual vocation of eulogizing the democracy, and abusing the republicans with greatly-increased vituperation against the republican party ever since it was found that the Senate was bent on maintaining the national dignity. It is plainly apparent from the text of the Constitution itself that the wise men who framed it intended that the ordinary legislative power should be committed to the majority, however small, but that no treaty could be framed without the overwhelming support of public opinion. They provided, therefore, that it should require in all cases two-thirds of the Senate to radiy a treaty; but despite this the national Administration went ahead, regardless of results, and negotiated a treaty so repugnant to the American instinct of national seit-respect that instead of securing a ratification by two-thirds of the Senate it was absolutely rejected by a majority vote. What then? At the first rebound the President has leaped so far on the other side that he asks authority to cripple all our commercial relations with Canada, from Passamaquoudy Bay to Vancouver's Island. Having for three years offered to waive the rights of the Bishermen and the national dignity at the same time, the President desires now to cross over to the other side of the question, and out-Heroded Herod in his demands for referss. He seems eager to-day to discharge a whole battery of Krupp guns on the question, when last year a blank cartridge from a pocket pistol would have settled the whole same time, the President's exers now to cross over to the other side of the question, and out-Heroded Herod in his demands for referss. They were met at the depot by Mr. Cannon, and were evidently a detachment of his plural wives, for he embraced them one after another, and the meeting was an affecting and affectionate one. The quartet then took a carriage and drove to a private residence on Tyler street, where quarters had been prepared for them in advance. They remained indoors during the afternoon and evening, at midnight a back called for them, and they were driven to the Santa Fe depot, where they took the train for the West. It is supposed they were driven to the Santa Fe depot, where they took the train for the West. It is supposed they were bound for the land of the Zunis in old Mexico, where the Mormon Church, through Cannon, has purchased a large area of land for the occupancy of Latter Day Sainta. It was generally thought that Mr. Cannon has been in Mexico all the time, but he said before his departure that he had just returned from a visit East. Two hundred thousand acres have been purchased in Mexico by Mr. Cannon and the leaders of the church, and they say that several thousand Mormons will at once move from Utah to that country, where they can live unmolested.

SANSTARY PRECAUTIONS. Protection Against Yollow Fever

NEULTATION OF REALTH OFFICER TOWNSHERD WITH SURGEON-GENERAL HAMILTON-AN INSPECTOR TO BE Health Officer Townshend had a conference with surgeon-General Hamilton Saturday to take some surgeon-General Hamilton Saturday to take some steps toward the establishment of a quaran tine here against persons coming from the yellow fever districts. It is likely that an inspector will be appointed by Dr. Hamilton upon the recommendation of the Health officer. This inspector, should such an appointment be made, will be stationed at the Baltimore and Potomac depot. It will be his duty to inspect passes held by all persons from the infected district, and exercise general supervision over all trains arriving from Jacksonville. It was reported this morning that all trains coming north from Jacksonville had been stopped, in which event the health officer thinks there will be no need for the appointment of such an inspector. Neither the health officer nor the surgeon-General believe that that there is danger of the disease spreading this far, but they propose to do all in their power to protect the city.

LATER—THE INSPECTOR APPOINTED—HE WILL GO DUTY THIS APTERNOON. Surgeon-General Hamilton has appointed Dr Stratton, formerly a health inspector of Richmo Stration, formerly a health inspector of Richmond, Va., to act as inspector of all trains coming into this city from the South. He will board the trains between here and Alexandria, and, by examining the tickets, will discover all passengers coming from the fever-infected points intending to stop over in Washington. Such persons will be closely watched and located by Health Officer Townshend, at whose request the appointment was made. It is not intended to quarantine the city, but to keep a lookout for refugees. Dr. Stratton will begin work this afternoon.

Health Officer Townshend sent a letter to the District Commissioners this morning, stating the result of his conference with Surgeon-General Hamilton, as above, and adding: "There being no runds at the command of this department to pay for the employment of an inspector of inspectors, the Surgeon-General has consented to aid us to this extent from the appropriation at his disposal. I would therefore recommend that Dr. T. E. Stratton be given authority to act as train inspector under the direction of the health officer, with compensation to be fixed and paid by the Surgeon-General of the Marine Hospital Service. This, in my opinion, is all that is necessary at the present time." PAID FIVE DOLLARS FOR RIDDING THE NEIGHBORHOOD OF CATS.—Mr. Russell R. McCarthy, who

be was given an overdose of lead, from the effects
