Royal Audience at Sandringham. Special Cable Dispatch to THE EVENING STAR.

LONDON, April 27.-The Pall Mall Gazette publishes an exclusive report of the special performance by the Lyceum company before the queen at Sandringham yesterday. The prince's ball-room was converted into a temporary theater and most elaborate scenery was specially painted, the idea being to produce the Lyceum in miniature. The company left London by a special train in time for the performance at 10 o'clock. The queen sat in an arm chair in the front of the room, the prince on her right and the princess on her left and 100 invited guests behind. The play, "The Bells", was loudly applanded, the queen frequently whisper-ing criticisms. The trial scene of "The Merchant of Venice" followed. Ellen Terry was warmly cheered in the mercy speech. The queen after-ward received her and Irving and expressed warm pleasure in the performance, specially thanking Irving for his elaborate trouble,

The liquidations on both sides of the account have been about completed, although the heaviness of last evening was carried over to this morning and first prices among the shares traded in were gen-erally from % to % per cent below those of Berlin, April 27.—Messrs. Kasson, Phelps, last night. The subsequent dealings developed a little business in Union Pacific, Reading, and tuations in the stocks mentioned were in no case for more than % per cent, and possessed no significance and showed no tendency in either direction. The market simply settled down to utter stagnation and no change oc-curred during the hour, and at 11 o'clock it was intensely duli and steady at opening fig-
