Rev. W. E. Parson III. Rev. W. E. Parson, pastor of the Church of the Reformation, Lutheran, is lying sick at his residence, 300 New Jersey avenue southeast. At first it was thought he was in a dangerous condition, and the report got out that he had suffered a stroke of paralysis. This was all an exaggeration however, and the doctors who are attend-ing him are today hopeful of his early re-covery. Mr. Parson had but recently re-turned from the meetings of the Lutheran synod held at Hagerstown, where he took an active part in the discussions and busi-ness of the session, and he came back quite overcome by his labors and by the heat. To these two causes the physicians ascribe the attack which overtook him yesterday afternoon. He was unconscious for a while, but today he is rational and is able to talk with those about him. There has been such an improvement in his con-dition that his family and physicians no longer entertain any serious fears of the outcome of the case.

TROOP A STARTS,

Off for a Long Practice March Through Virginia.

President's Troop A, the cavalry organization of the District National Guard, officially designated the first separate company, set out in goodly numbers and high spirits this morning for its practice march through Virginia and West Virginia. Quite early the troopers assembled at the National Guard armory, and for an hour or more there was a clatter of sabers and the stamping of horses' feet, Finally, however, order took the place of seeming chaos, and at 8:40 o'clock Capt, Harrison S. Barbour gave the order to move. The command marched by way of 6th street and Pennsylvania avenue to the Aqueduct bridge and then into Virginia, attracting much attention as it passed through the streets.

much attention as it passed through the streets.

The men preserted a business-like appearance. Fatigue uniform was worn, with campaign hats, leggins and web belts. Carbines and sabers were carried, the latter strapped to the saddles. Bed and rubber blankets were strapped on the cantles and ponchos on the pommels of the saddles. Curry comb and brush and other necessary articles were carried in the saddle bags. In a large wagon following after the troop the heavy baggage was transported.

Short of the sixth United States cavalry, who will act as instructor, and the militiamen were escorted through the government reservation at Fort Myer by a detachment of regular cavalry.
