Facts About Gold

How the Precious Metal is Handled in India and China.

The Cyanide Product

(Continued, by Frank C. Conners, from the New York Star)

About the African Mines and the Australian Gold Fields.

The article continues with detailed descriptions of gold mining activities and processes in India and China, including the use of cyanide products in the extraction of gold. The text is detailed and informative, providing insights into the methods and technologies used in gold mining.

Pictures by Wire

Some Inventions and What is Claimed for Them.

Arrival of New Fruits

Light Waves and the Problem of Transmitting Them.

Some Curious Devices

The article also includes various illustrations and diagrams related to mining activities, showing the methods and equipment used in the mining process.

The Horse Market

Horses That Can Be Witnessed at the Local Stables.

Some horses that are on display at the local stables are described, including their breed, age, and value.

Swell Carriage Fads and Hunters Bring Big Money.

The article discusses the current trends in carriage fads and the rising value of hunters, highlighting the financial opportunities in these areas.

The Development of a Unicorne.

From the New York Star.

A new development in unicorne technology is discussed, with details on the progress made and the potential benefits.

The article also includes a variety of illustrations and diagrams related to horse breeding and carriage fads, providing a visual complement to the written text.