ARGUMENT HEARD.

Proceedings in Which the United States Government is Defendant.

In connection with the proceedings instituted by Morgan Bryan, trustee in bankruptcy, to secure possession of the judgments obtained against the United States by Alice V. Curtis, administratrix of the estate of William P. Curtis, argument was preserted on behalf of the United States by Assistant District Attorney Jesse Adkins before Justice Barnard today. In this case William P. Curtis entered a claim against the United States under the Indian depredations law for reimbursement for damages done his property by the Indians. While the case was in the court of claims the claimant was declared a bankrupt, and Morgan Bryan was appointed trustee in bankruptcy.

Shortly thereafter Curtis died, and his widow, as administratrix of his estate, had her name substituted as the claimant against the government, and was successful to the extent of obtaining two judgments, aggregating $6,000. The trustee in bankruptcy has sought to restrain the claimant from receiving and the Secretary of the Treasury from paying the amount of the pital Must Wait. An order recently issued by the assistant secretary of the interior abolishing the office of second assistant surgeon at the Freedman's Hospital has been rescinded, although the office has not been filled. The original order was issued at the instance and upon the recommendation of Dr William A Warfield, the surgeon-inchief of the hospital, who said he did not believe the necessity existed for more than tion with the knowledge and approval of one assistant. The office paid a salary of $1,000 per year, and this sum, it was arranged by the Interior Department, should be paid in certain proportions to fifteen or twenty of the minor employes of the hos-

The order passed the board of District Commissioners, to whom all such natters are referred, but was turned down by the auditor for the Interior Department, who stated that he did not believe that such use could be made of funds appropriated by Congress for a specific purpose. He therefore refused to allow the claims made for its payment in shares to the other employes, and the order was accordingly re-voked. It is not likely that another second assistant will be appointed, but that Congress will be asked to adjust the matter at the next session.

FREMONT AND LINCOLN CLUB. Meeting of "Old Boys" to Be Held at Riggs House Tomorrow.

There will be a meeting of the Old Boys' Fremont and Lincoln Club at the Riggs House at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening. At that meeting the committee appointed at the last meeting of the club will make its report and there will be an election of officers of the national organization, as well as of the local club for work in the District of Columbia.

The movement to form a club of men who voted for Fremont and Lincoln has progressed so far as to insure its success. The club has been promised all the assistance it will need in perfecting its national organization. It is expected by its leaders that within a month or six weeks the organiza-tion will be in full working order and that many thousands of the men who voted for the great emancipator will be banded to gether for active campaign work for the election of the republican ticket. While the movement is still in its formative period, it is said that hundreds of approvals of the plan have been volunteered from men whose assistance will mean success.

Lawn Fete Tonight.

Extensive preparations have been made for the lawn fete of the Independent Order of Sons of Jonadab, which will open tonight at the corner of 9th street and Massachusetts avenue northeast. A feature of the fete will be a vaudeville and musical program. Lieut John C. Daley and his assistants will be on hand to welcome the Death of Mrs. Alonzo E. Stoddard. News has been received here of the death of Mrs. A. E. Stoddard, the widow of Alonzo E. Stoddard, who was a well-known singer, which occurred at North Brookfield, Mass., today. Mrs. Stoddard resided in this city much of the time since the death of her husband, and went to North Brookfield to spend the summer. A week ago last Tuesday she suffered a stroke of paralysis, from which she did not rally. She had many friends here who will regret her loss. Two children, Mrs. A. M. Ferguson of Passaic, N. J., and Mr. E. F. Stoddard of this city, survive her. The latter left for North Brookfield, where the funeral will take place. Mrs. Stoddard will be buried there by the side of her husband and a son.

MR. GARFIELD'S SUMMONS HERE FROM MENTOR.

Tracewell's Decision Controller Against His Claim for Expenses While on Vacation.

R. J. Tracewell, controller of the treasury, has rendered a decision that James R. Garfield, commissioner of corporations, is not entitled to his expenses from Mentor, Ohio, to this city, when he was called here by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor. Mr. Garfield was on vacation at the time and claimed that he was sent for and that the expense should be borne by the government, The youcher of Mr. Garfield was for actual expenses in traveling from Mentor, Ohlo, his summer home, to Washington and back to Mentor. Mr. Garfield's letter to William L. Soleau, disbursing clerk of the depart-

I was, with the knowledge and approval of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, on vacation at my summer home in Men-tor, Ohio. I was recalled to Washington for consultation upon official matters by telegraphic instructions from the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, a copy of which accompanied my account. In response to such instructions I came immediately to Washington for the sole purpose of the de-sired conference, and after such conference returned at once to my home for the re-mainder of my contemplated vacation."

Mr. Garfield claimed further that this travel was undertaken under orders from his superior, and left no discretion on his part but to obey, and that this fact distinguishes it from the travel which occa-sioned the decision of the controller referred to by the disbursing officer, in that the travel was undertaken upon his own from the duties of his office on vacation, and if he is allowed to do so by his superown expense.

"I see no difference in principle in the case cited in the 3 Comp. Dec., 170, and the one in hand.

"In the case of Fitzpatrick vs. United States, 37 Ct. Cl., 332, in discussing the question of the right of an officer to traveling expenses when recalled from a leave of absence, the court said: 'An officer takes his leave of absence at his own risk; it is not granted for the benefit of the govern-ment; if the government wants his services

"I know of no exceptions to this rule even where the law provides for the granting of leaves of absence, and the fact that an officer leaves his official station for a vacahis official superior would certainly give him no greater right to traveling expenses in returning to meet an exigency requiring his presence than that of an officer allowed leave by law.
