International President Bowen, First Vice President Presce and Second Vice President Thornton attended the meeting and took arecordings. part in the proceedings.

It is asid there was a close division on every issue, and the battle for votes was a fleree one. Not a single issue was settled by a year and nay vote, and several times when a division was called, it resulted in a tie, and the presiding officer was compelled to resort to a roll call. This proved true on the final vote. Many of those present fought bitterly for a secret ballot, when a motion was made for it. But many others were equally voelferous in their demands for a yea and may on roll call. Resolutions Adopted.

The strike resolutions as adopted by the bricklayers and stone masons are said to be those passed by the convention of international and national officers and trade representatives Saturday, as follows: "We, the subcommittee appointed by this conference to draw up a plan of action in A CHANCE FOR OCCUPATION order to combat the open shop, being now enforced by the Master Builders' Association of the District of Columbia, beg leave

That it is the order of this conference of national and international officers and representatives of the respective trades in the building industry, shall cease work on and after Saturday,

Be it further resolved. That a committee be appointed from the building trades to be known as the grievance committee, whose duty it shall be to call upon the individual contractor and his representatives, who are parties to this controversy, for the purpose of endeavoring to adjust the existing difficulty according to the rules of the unions involved. In the event of their failure to comply with the above order, the mandate of August 10 will be put into effect.

No Further Demands

"It is further ordered by this conference that no unions make any further demands other than now existing.

president of the Bricklayers and Stone Masons' International Union; Frank M. Ryan, grand president of the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers; W. J. McSorley, grand president of the Wood, Wire and Metal Lathers, and M. D. Sullivan, grand president of the Sheet Metal Workers

SUBJECT RACES PLEAD.

Ask at The Hague Equal Rights With Belligerents.

THE HAGUE, August 8 .- A large gathering, which was attended by representatives of the Armenians, Georgians, Albanians, Poles, Boers, etc., today adopted a resolution in favor of the extension to the case of belligerents.

The meeting decided that the rights of the subject races and populations in time of civil war, rebellion or other disturbance should be identical with the rights of belligerents, as defined by The Hague conference; that the condition of slavery among the subject populations should not be maintained; that the forcible appropriation of land, produce or labor be prohibited, together with wrongful deportation, and that all subjects of a distinctive nationality should be guaranteed the management of their own affairs.

NAMES IN CHICAGO.

Directory.

CHICAGO, August 8.-The Chicago directory for 1997, which will be published today, of 21,300 names.

As has been the case for several years, the Johnson family leads, with 6,549 names, not including the Johnson clan, of which there are 454. The Smith tribe follows second, with 4,877, and Schmidt 1,278. Anderson is third, with 4,441, and Andersen 376. The shortest names in the directory are Ek and Ex. Among the names commonly samples: Zeysz and Szyszkiswicz. Royalty is well represented with 3 Czars, 185 Kaisers, 3 Sultans and hundreds of Kings, Queens and Princes. With this array of royalty is a court nobility of nu merous Dukes, Earls and Barons, 16 Marquises, 1 Don, 48 Barons and a large number of Knights. Part of the money stolen was from express packages in the station. Francis remained bound until the crew of a freight train, failing to secure a clear block, stopped for orders. The Baltimore and Ohio police have ar-rested several suspects.

Churchmen Are Shocked.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, August 8 .- The Republican League is being attacked because it has arranged odd contests for women for its picnic to be held August 15.

The contests to which the protests have been made are: The beauty contest, beautiful forearm match, and the wading contest, the latter coming in for most of the com-plaint. Churchmen, clubwomen, religious societies and other bodies have criticised the contests as immodest and ridiculous. The wading contest will take place in an in-geniously improvised pool of clear water.

TANGIER, August 8.-The French warships yesterday landed 2,000 additional men at Casa Blanca, where street fighting apparently continues, judging from the desultory firing heard day and night by those on board the ships anchored off the town.

The Jewish quarter of Casa Blanca has peen sacked. Many persons were massacred enthusiasm. There was very little appearin the streets; the city is said to be full of dead Moors, and the Moorish quarter is in ruins, having been set on fire by the shells from the big guns of the cruisers.

All the stores are closed, and much hunger and distress prevails among the poor. The foreign consuls have ordered the stores to be reopened, and have established a special tariff for food stuffs, designed to mitigate the sufferings of the

The Europeans, who are all safe, either on board ships or at the consulates, are guarded by bluejackets.

The warships continue to drop an occasional shell into groups of Kabyles on the beach in order to prevent them from approaching the town.

Advices from Rabat say that the Kabyles have given the governor a fort-night in which to withdraw the French controller of customs. Otherwise they say they will attack the town. The activity among the Andjerras tribesmen near Tangler is creating some apprehension that a surprise attack may be made on the city.

Political Aspect.

PARIS, August 8.-In spite of the firm intention of the French government to keep within the terms of the Algeciras convention in its dealings with Morocco, the French press clearly foresees that France. unless the situation rapidly improves, has entered upon a long and heavy task. The newspapers express the opinion that France, upon which the chief burden in restoring security on the disturbed country will fall, may be forced to occupy in turn all the Moroccan ports, and then probably be com-pelled to undertake a punitive expedition to Fez, after which it would be impossible to withdraw, as was the cast with the British in Egypt.

As the British bombardment of Alexanresolution in favor of the extension to the subject races of the rights granted in the bombardment of Casa Blanca will have a similar effect in Morocco. An expedition to Fez, the newspapers point out, would like the British victory at Tel El Kebir, complete the parallel. The Petit Parisien today prints an interesting interview with a "high person-age" at the German foreign office, who indicates that Germany recognizes the logic of the situation and is prepared to acquiesce in France's "incontestable predomiin Morocco, provided France prepared to give a quid pro quo in the shape of the admission of German gov-ernment and German industrial securities into the French market.

OPPRESSIVE WEATHER.

Sweltering Temperature and Humidity That Add Much to Discomfort.

All Washington sweltered today under an oppressive atmosphere and a high temperature, and shirt-waist men were very much in evidence on the streets. There was a sort of stagnation in the air which was deadly to the usual business briskness that is so noticeable in cooler weather among the business men, and the adage 'Go slow" was generally obeyed. The mercury in the downtown thermometers registered 95% degrees of temperature at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, while the official instruments at Uncle Sam's weather bureau gave a reading of slightly over 90 degrees at the same hour. When Prof. Alfred J. Henry, the official forecaster, was asked as to the outlook for tomorrow he gave the cheering information that a temporary break in the hot conditions is his star waned the rank and file were correspondingly worried. State Chairman Vandiver opened the convention. After dwelling in a general way upon the hopes of the democracy he spoke of the question which is nearest the hearts of the democratic voters-namely, negro suffrage.

Mr. Vandiver said he believed a constitutional amendment could be framed which would meet all objections and be accepted by the state.
Mr. Vandiver named D. Warren H. Reynolds of Cumberland as temporary chair-man, and Col. Gibson of Queen Anne's and Col. Goodman of Baltimore as secretaries. During the forenoon a conference was held at ex-Gov. Brown's headquarters, at which an attempt was made to further Judge Crothers' candidacy, whereupon the Williams men began to show strength. Ex-Gov. Brown tried to throw the city delegation to Crothers, but could not. At a meeting of the Baltimore city delegation it was decided to support Williams unanimously. When news of this decision spread around the Williams boom gained renewed impetus. While the temporary organization of the convention was being effected, the Williams men were hard at work among the delegation. When at 1:20 a recess was taken for one hour the Williams men were claiming his nomination on the first ballot. The convention was noticeably lacking in ance even of interest, not to speak of ardor.

Jackson Gets Out. Murray Vandiver's appearance on the stage was greeted with applause. Gov. Warfield's entry was also marked with handclapping. When the name of A. P. Gorman, jr., was mentioned there was a counter demonstration from the "old guard." Joseph D. Baker and Blair Lee were applauded, but the whole assembly seemed lukewarm. The Maryland Theater, where the convention was held, was crowded to the doors and stiflingly hot. The delegates soon "shucked" coats and collars and seized everything in the way of a fan.

Ex-Gov. Jackson was not able to sit in the hall, but drove up to the door in a hack, where he sat and received the visits of the leaders. Ex-Gov. Jackson vacillated between Crothers and Williams all afternoon. J. Fred Talbott stood pat for Williams and claimed to force an adjournment until tonight to rearrange their lines. Adjourned for a Conference.

The hour of recess between 1:30 and 2:30 o'clock was occupied in hurried conferences among the factions. The Williams forces were very confident and said they would resist the proposition to adjourn until 8 o'clock tonight.

J. Fred Talbot was busy among the delegates and urging Williams with every breath. "I don't know any more than the man in the moon who will be nominated." he said at 2 o'clock. "But my opinion is that it will be Williams."

The delegates were very much dissatisfied with the vacillation of ex-Gov. Jackson. He has in turn favored Baker, Crothers, Seth and Williams, and at 2 o'clock it was hard to say who was his last choice.

At 2:20 it was reported that ex-Gov. Jack-Smith. It was said that the two had assurances from some of the Baltimore city people that the Baltimore city delegation could be divided if an adjournment until 8 o'clock could be taken, and that in such event Judge Crothers' chances would be very much enhanced. The Crothers people at this writing are very much encouraged.

At the afternoon meeting of the committee on resolutions, Gov. Warfield won a vic-tory by securing the adoption of a resolu-tion that primary election should be under the Crawford county system, and all viola-tions placed under the operation of the corrupt practices act. The plank regard-ing disfranchisement has been drawn by State Senator Gorman, who acknowledged the authorship, and provoked an animated debate, which was in progress at this hour, 2:40, and with no chance of agreement bea late hour this afternoon. At the hour of going to press the convention was voting on whether to adjourn until 8 o'clock or not. No decision as to candidate for governor been told to many persons living in the vicinity of the camp, who are familiar with the territory in which the boy may be found. It is hoped to interest many such persons in the search, as it is believed their knowledge of the lay of the land is valuable.

The officers of the camp are actively engaged in the search, and all are trying to enlist volunteers. Rev. Mr. Van Schalck says he desires to get 100 men at work. He will ask the po-lice department for that number of officers, but it is not believed that the detail would be practicable. Therefore the pastor will ask for 100 volunteers to keep up the search

Another hard worker at the camp is Edward Gilfillan, who is in charge of the boys there. He went to Rock creek this morning and waded up and down the basin for a long distance in an effort to find if the boy had been drowned. Rock creek is about half a mile from the camp, and had Robert started in that direction, it is declared, he would have reached it in about half an hour. By that time it would have been dark last night, and the little fellow could easily have made a misstep over the bank of the stream and tumbled into the water. Such is one of the worst fears of the mem-bers of the searching parties, and the failure to find the body in the waters when Mr. Gilfillan conducted the search today gives hope that he was not drowned.

Trying to Find Father. The police are making efforts to locate the father of the missing lad. The mother says she does not know his exact whereabouts. She, however, expressed the opinion that he would not carry off her child or try to get possession of it. She told the police that he has had many opportunities to take the child, but never molested the to take the child, but hever moissed the little one.

The fate of the Marvin boy, who disappeared from his father's home near Wilmington, Del., a few months ago, is constantly before the searchers from Camp Good Will. They cling to the belief that the child has wandered into the woods. The Marvin boy was lost in a similar way, and it was thought in his case that the boy died from hunger and from exposure. It is real-ized that the Barker boy must be found

RECORD AS LIFE SAVER.

Samuel Copp's Heroism in the Surf at Colonial Beach.

News has just reached Washington of a remarkable feat of heroism at Colonial Beach Sunday, in which one young man succeeded in saving three boys from drowning. Samuel Copp of 1407 33d street northwest, an electrician in the employ of the Potomac Electric Power Company, was the bright particular star of the occasion, and he has modestly disclaimed any great credit for the rescue work in which he figured so prominently.

The boys who owe their lives to Copp's quick action and to his ability as a swimmer are: Paul Robey of 416 South Capitol street, Lloyd Prather of 304 G street northeast and Al Noyes of 404 South Capitol street

According to the story as related by eyewitnesses, Robey, Prather and Noyes were bathing off the old freight wharf at Colonial Beach when Noyes' strength gave out and he cried for help. The water at that point is eight to ten feet deep, and when son had finally settled on Crothers and had Prather went to Noyes' assistance the latter seemed to have become panic stricken and he gripped Prather frantically, pinning his arms to his sides. In this locked embrace both sank, and Robey, the youngest of the three, who is not a strong swimmer shrieked for help at the top of his voice.

At first Copp thought the boys were simply "ducking" one another, but when he realized the seriousness of the situation he plunged overboard from his boat, at th same time calling to some one to row a boat to the scene. Noyes was nearly gon when Copp reached his side, but by strenuous exertion the rescuer raised him above the surface of the water, and literally hurled him into a boat. Prather had ther sunk a second time, but Copp caught him by diving and lifted him into the boat Robey had become so wildly excited by the danger of his companions that he, in turn, became helpless in the water, and Copp went to his assistance. On reaching the shore Prather was quickly restored to con-sciousness, but strenuous first-aid methods were necessary to bring Noyes back to life. Fined for Losing Badges.

Privates Wasson and Scherer, members of the police force, have come to the conclusion that the badges of authority a policeman is privileged to wear on his breast are worth more than the highly-polished tin that they are made of. These two minions of the law were unfortunate enough to lose their badges several weeks ago, and today, upon the recommendation of Maj. Sylvester, the Commissioners have imposed a fine of $2 on each of them.

Changes in Police Department. The Commissioners today appointed James F. Beckett and Edgar A. Spruce members of class 1 of the metropolitan police department, vice Adcock and Dellamico, promoted. They also commissioned Joseph J. Bell and John F. Ward as special policemen for duty in and about the Public Library. These appointments were made upon the recommendation of Maj. Sylvester, chief of police.

The Commissioners also accepted the resignation of E. E. Crismond as fireman on the police boat Vigilant, and have named William K. Gross to succeed him.

right before we go ahead, hence our fair proportion of success. The recent sentence will not (Photo Copyright by Clinedinst.) affect departmental action "I have no information as to alleged intended meeting of attorneys general of the Mississippi valley."

In reply to the question whether individuals would be proceeded against by criminal action, the Attorney General said: "I have noticed a good many complaints that criminal prosecutions against trust magnates and sentences of imprisonment for them have been very infrequent, and, in fact, for practical purposes, unknown. It is perfectly true that, in my opinion, at least, a better moral effect would be produced by sending a few prominent men to jall than by a great deal of litigation, however successful, against the corporations

Some time since two corporations and their respective presidents were indicted jointly for violation of the anti-trust law. If the corporations were guilty of such, it would be hard for the lay mind, at least, to understand how their presidents could be innocent. Nevertheless, the jury convicted the corporations and acquitted their presi-

"It is the avowed purpose of the Department of Justice to prosecute criminally any one who is really responsible for violations of the anti-trust law wherever it can do so with any reasonable probability of success. It does not care to prosecute mere underlings, who are known to every one to have acted under the direct authority of their superiors. But if it can get a case against any of the superiors such as justifies a reasonable hope on the part of experienced lawyers that can be punished personally, the department will undoubtedly take advantage of the opportunity as soon as it is presented."

The Department of Justice may employ one of two methods of attack in the Harriman matter. The first plan open is that employed against the Northern Securities merger. The second plan would be to have the federal courts review the entire course of Mr. Harriman's stock operations for the account of the Union Pacific from the time when the parent road in his system issued $100,000,000 of convertible bonds in 1901 for the Southern Pacific acquisition and the purchase of the Northern Pacific stock that led to the memorable corner down to the eventual transfer to the Union Pa-cific last year of upward of $100,000,000 of securities in the various railroads in which the funds derived from the 1901 bond issue found their way upon reinvestment.

Mr. Bonaparte will return to Washington and will be at his desk in the department next Monday. Mr. Bonaparte was asked, aside from the Harriman matter, what he thought of the $29,240,000 fine laid upon the Standard Oil Company of Indiana by Judge Landis in Chicago. He said:

"The law under which the indictment was drawn provides for a penalty of not less than $1,000 or more than $20,000 for each separate offense. One of the questions arising in this case was how many separate offenses had been proved, and undoubtedly that question will be one of those to be determined on appeal. Supposing that a great corporation made a great number of shipments and obtained an unlawful re-bate on each shipment. The law not only authorizes but requires a penalty of at least $1,000 for each one of the violations of law committed. It is entirely at the discretion of the court whether it will impose the minimum or maximum or some inter-

That is to say, the only question of law involved is in what did the offense consist which was to be punished as the law prescribed. It being granted that all the elements of crime as defined by the statute existed in the facts set forth on each count of the indictment, the amount of penalty to be imposed, as a matter of fact, is a matter as to which no one had anything to say except the judge before whom the case was tried. Of course any question as to whether each of the separate counts contained all the elements of the crime is one to be determined in the last resort by court of errors.'

"As to the probability of collecting the fine," he said, with a smile, "presup "As to the probability of collecting the nne," he said, with a smile, "presupposing, of course, that the conviction should be affirmed on appeal, I can only say that in that contingency my department will do its best to get all it can. There is an old adage that says, 'When there is nothing, the king loses his right,' and for practical purposes it may not make any difference whether nothing exists or whether there is something which cannot be reached. Nevertheless, there are means of persuasion which can sometimes be used, and I may say that I think the discussion is a little

Mr. Bonaparte was asked what the resultant situation might be if an attempt

But Attorney General Bonaparte would not say what means of persuasion might be availed of by the government in the case of the Standard Oil in the event that the fine was upheld by the higher courts. He did, however, hold to the belief that any individual corporation convicted and unable to pay its fine, might be put out of business to the extent of having a receiver appointed to take charge of the assets until such time as the fine was worked out.

"And the government," he added again, "would be pretty likely to have something to say about the appointment of such a receiver,"

WOMAN HAS STEREOTYKY.

Mrs. Storm Says the Same Thing Over and Over, the Doctor Says.

NEW YORK, August 8.-Dr. Allan Mc-Lane Hamilton reported yesterday to Justice Dayton in the supreme court that he believed Mrs. Theresa Storm, wife of Henry Storm of Straiton & Storm, elgar manufacturers, to be incurably insane. Dr. Hamilton was instructed some time ago to examine Mrs. Storm, who is in a sanitarium at Rivercrest. Her husband asked for her commitment and opposed the writ of habeas corpus sued out in her behalf by Mrs. Julia Brockmann, her sister.

Dr. Hamilton says that Mrs. Storm suffers from stereotyky, a form of dementia that leads her to repeat certain words and sentences over and over again. He says an asylum and not allowed to receive vis-

MONTE CARLO, August 8 .- The finding of the dismembered body of a woman at Marseilles, August 6, in the baggage of two travelers, who were first referred to as Mr. and Mrs. Gold, but who have been identified as persons who were known here as "Sir Vere and Lady Gould," has created a sensation here, where the parties were regarded as people of leisure and respectability. The police say the investigation indicates that the woman, whose name has now been definitely established as Emma Levin.

was murdered by the Goulds. Jewels believed to have belonged to the victim were found in the female prisoner's hand satchel. A commission has been dispatched to England to investigate the antecedents of the Goulds. The male prisoner passed as an Irish baronet of Montreal, where his wife, a Miss Giraudin, earned her living Stealing Timber From the Nation.

From the World Today.

Men who live in the northwest know, since the conviction of the late Senator Mitchell, what it means when it is said that a man or a corporation made his or its money in timber. Countless greedy corporations have illegally swept from the possession of the government the entire timber lands of the states of Washington, Oregon, California, Montana, nesses also stated that they saw the arrest of Mason and did not see either of the two Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, Arizona and defendants strike him, as was testified by the government witnesses.

The trial attracted much attention, and Nevada. Great lumber companies were organized with the express view of com-mitting wholesale robbery upon the public domain under this act. So flagrant and bold became the stealings that in many instances, in the northwest, agents were stationed upon prominent lines of railroad traversing those sections, to se-cure tramps, furnish them with store clothes, shave them, maintain them for the necessary sixty days in idleness, pay all the expenses, pay for the land, and give them anywhere from $10 to $100 each, in order that they might exercise their "land rights." Deeds were taken from them are soon as they received the final land office receipt for the payment of the money, and often the deeds were taken in advance of final receipt. The billions of timber in quantity and the untold millions in value that have been untoid millions in value that have been thus stolen under this stone and timber act and are still being stolen wherever there is timber not carried into the for-est reserves can hardly be estimated.

Men and Toothache. from the Chicago Record-Herald.

"Men are more cowardly about having dental work done than women or children." said a member of the profession whose large practice qualifies him to speak authoritatively. "A man will suffer all the torments of the infernal regions with a toothache before he summons up enough courage to go to a dentist and have the aching molar attended to. He usually comes to the office smelling of liquor, hav-ing taken two or three drinks of brandy to brace himself for the ordeal. If the tooth has to be extracted he will often get out of the chair and go away rather than submit to the forceps. When he returns the fol-lowing day, as is frequently the case, he is in a state of mind bordering on insanity. He is desperate, and climbs into the chair as if he were going to be electrocuted. Grasping the arms of the chair he makes himself rigid, and in his mind is saying Well, go ahead, doctor, I'm at your
