'Listen! Among Christians, we want not so much jaw, but a little more joy." Such was the message of the English evangelist to an audience that packed the First Congregational Church at the first afternoon meeting yesterday at

Dramatic and impressive was the close last night of the great meeting in huge Convention Hall. The evangelist had read from the Bible of how Mary, mother of Jesus, lost Christ, how she found Him in church, how she had to go back to where she had lost Him to find Him. He told how easy it is to lose Christ frm one's life; easy even to lose Him in church. How necessary it is to go back a hard way to find Him again. Then all heads were bowed in prayer. "Where He leads me, I will follow," he sang, taking up a refrain which the
