TIPPING OFF THE BAT STARTED BY CONNIE MACK

Connie Mack, according to ancient history, is the man who originated the trick of a catcher tipping the bat of an opposing player on the third strike. It's a mighty clever little stunt, which isn't allowed by the rules of base ball, but it helps win games frequently.

Mack sprung the trick the first time when he was playing with Pittsburgh years ago. In those days Connie was about the niftiest catcher in the game. Dr. James Casey, one-time third baseman, was the victim, and Casey roared loud and long.

The secret of the thing is to get away with it without the umpire seeing, which isn't so difficult as it may sound. To turn the trick the catcher crowds the plate as close as the position of the batter will permit. It's particularly good when the bases are cluttered and there are two strikes on the batter. As the batsman starts his swing the catcher tips the bat with the back of his mitt. Sullivan is quite a favorite among the Albany fight fans, as he gave Frankie Madden, the New York lightweight, a trimming in his last engagement there.

BOUT FOR KID SULLIVAN.

He Will Meet Frankie Smith in Albany Monday Night.

Sammy Harris, manager of Kid Sullivan, closed negotiations last night for a match with Sullivan and Frankie Smith of California, in Albany Monday night. While in New York Harris will make a bid to land Cy Smith to meet Terry McGraw in a battle in Baltimore. If McGraw wins from Kid Attell in their special eight-round fight to the Burns-Loughrey set-to at the Monumental Theater Friday night.

Albany, was brought east by Heine Raphael, prominent in western pugilistic circles. Smith has beaten Johnny Marito and Matty Baldwin in his big mills in the east. Sullivan is quite a favorite among the Albany fight fans, as he gave Frankie Madden, the New York lightweight, a trimming in his last engagement there.

McALEER MAY A NEW FIRST BASEMAN TO TEAM

Schaefer Recommends Purchase of Anderson of Flint Team—Errors Lose First Game in Boston—Play Two Today.

Special Dispatch to The Star.

BOSTON, June 22.—First Baseman Anderson of the Flint team of the Southern Michigan League is one of the players who may be added to the Nationals' list ere long. Herman Schaefer, who has been on a scouting tour through the Wolverine state, seems to have been very much impressed with Anderson, and in his report to Manager McAleer he recommended that the youngster be given a trial.

An effort is now being made to arrange a deal for Anderson, but whether it will be possible to secure him at this time of the season is decidedly doubtful.

Manager McAleer was still in the dumps over yesterday's defeat when seen this morning. He said it was just one of those off days which might be expected of a team which had spent thirty-six hours on a train suffering from the sweltering heat.

"Yes, we are doing a lot of scouting in the hope of finding the players we need," said he. "With a few additions to the present team I am satisfied that we could have a first division team, and that is what we are striving for. Any young player who has promise of development can get a chance with us, and we are willing to spend money for the right kind of material."

Speaker is still on the hospital list and will probably be unable to play in the series. Carrigan is also on the sick list with an attack of tonsillitis and will be out of the game for a week at least. The locals are lucky to have Jack Kleinow to rely upon at this juncture.

A pass to Lord started the mischief in the first and then George McBride muffed Street's perfect throw and turned a most peculiar play. Lord was chased back to second on Hooper's bouncer to Gray and Hooper on a special dispensation to put an attack of tonsillitis and will be out of the game for a week at least. The locals are lucky to have Jack Kleinow to rely upon at this juncture.

Bull Perrine umpired by his lonesome, as his partner, Silk O'Loughlin, had been given a special dispensation to put an attack of tonsillitis and will be out of the game for a week at least. The locals are lucky to have Jack Kleinow to rely upon at this juncture.

Heiney Wagner simply robbed Elberfeld of a hit by his wonderful one-handed stab in the fourth, getting the ball close to second and nailing his man. In the sixth Lord robbed Elberfeld of another hit by a great catch off which he made a double play.

"A bum thrower, I guess," observed one of the vets of the press as when Street hit Wagner on a try to steal in the fourth.

Collins has been doing great work of the pitching line. He fanned three out of four men in the third and fourth innings.

Two-base hits—Conroy, Lewis, Engle. Sacrifice hit—Milan. Sacrifice fly—Street. Double plays—Conroy and St. Louis; Lewis and Engle.

Washington, 4; Boston, 5. First base on balls—Collins, 4. Errors—Mr. Perrine. Time of game—1 hour and 45 minutes.

Lelivelt, Gessler and McBride paying tribute to his skill Gray retired three out of six men in the first three innings. Milan showed his speed all right when he beat to first base his wide grounder to Stahl in the sixth.

In the second inning Conroy wandered off first and an attempt was made to run him down. It took the entire infield to take a hand in the game, and the crowd was convulsed and gave Wild the glad hand when a poor throw of Kleinow allowed him to get back to his base.

A double-header is announced for Wednesday, the first game starting at 1:45. As usual, the bargain matinee will bring out a big crowd.

The first inning was a long one, lasting eighteen minutes, this being due to the long time it took to dispose of the Bostonians. With two in and two on bases Chicago went to the limit and with three balls and two strikes it took longer to get rid of him than ordinarily the right side, and he finally retired on strikes.

It was easily the hottest day of the season, the bulb ascending beyond the nineties, and on this account the attendance was far from what it would have been with weather conditions normal.

Gessler hurt himself against the fence in trying for Lewis' hit in the sixth and retired in favor of the pitcher. His injuries were not serious, however.

Lelivelt and Milan each robbed Capt. Lord of hits by remarkable running catches in the second and seventh innings, respectively. Lelivelt ran in and gathered his ball just at the edge of the shortstop's position, and Milan got his at his shoe lace, almost tripping over in making the catch.

There was absolutely no excuse for the failure to gather Engle's high fly in the eighth. It was McBride's ball and an easy chance, yet the ball was allowed to drop safely, and this slip-up cost the game. The score:

TYRUS COBB MAKES UMPIRES' WORK HARD

Umpire Billy Evans believes that Ty Cobb is the hardest man in base ball for the umpires. "It's tough to face because Cobb makes more close plays than any player, and close plays are always had whichever way the decision goes," says Billy.

"Cobb uses every trick of the trade, and he has you on the alert every second of the time he is on the base. There is always an issue of doubt. It needs the closest kind of attention when Cobb slides into a sack, chasing up the dust, and the fielder puts the ball on him or misses him by an inch or so."

"Many decisions on Cobb make it appear as though he were getting the best of the deal. If it is an even break the decision will naturally be in favor of the base runner, and most of the time Cobb gets that or a fraction above or below it."
