JOHN T. CALLAGHAN HOLDING CONFEDERATE FLAG, CAPTURED FROM THE 17TH AND 18TH TEXAS CAVALRY, WHICH IS TO BE RETURNED TO THE STATE OF TEXAS.

WILL RETURN TO TEXAS
CONFEDERATE WAR FLAG

Mrs. Laura Clark to Present Ensign of Southern Cavalry Captured Before Atlanta.

After nearly fifty years the flag of the 17th and 18th Texas Cavalry, captured by Union soldiers during the civil war, is to be returned to the state of Texas.

The flag, battle-scarred and blood-stained, is now in the possession of John T. Callaghan, former commander of Camp No. 171, United Confederate Veterans, and was given to him recently by Mrs. Laura Clark, widow of Gen. William T. Clark, to turn over to Texas.

The flag was captured by the 15th Michigan Infantry of the 3d Brigade, 4th Division, 15th Army Corps, July 22, 1864, before Atlanta, Ga., after a desperate struggle in which the Texas troops were surrounded. With the flag seventeen officers and 165 men were captured.

SEE NO CAUSE FOR FEAR
OVER SAFETY OF BRIDGE

Commissioners Say Aqueduct Structure Is Not Wide Enough to Accommodate Traffic.

There is no cause for apprehension over the safety of Aqueduct bridge, according to a report sent to Congress by the District Commissioners in response to a resolution calling upon them for information as to the condition of this structure. The bridge is of sufficient strength for the loads carried upon it, but the width is not sufficient for the demands of traffic, the District heads assert.

Attention is directed in the report to the fact that the Secretary of War has jurisdiction over the substructure of the bridge. The report of the chief of engineers of the United States Army for the fiscal year 1912-13, it is stated, contains a recommendation that an appropriation of $10,000 be made for an investigation and preparation of plans for a bridge adequate to meet the traffic demands made upon the present one. The Commissioners say they do not consider that the granting of a permit to the Washington and Old Dominion Company to install overhead wires on the bridge entails danger to the public, but that, on the contrary, the public should be benefited by the increased facility in handling cars at the terminus of the road at 36th and M streets northwest as the result of the new arrangement.

HOW TO PREVENT ACID STOMACHS AND FOOD FERMENTATION

BY A STOMACH SPECIALIST.

As a specialist who has spent many years in the study and treatment of stomach troubles, I have been forced to the conclusion that most people who complain of stomach trouble possess stomachs that are absolutely healthy and normal. The real trouble, that which causes all the pain and difficulty, is acid in the stomach, usually due to, or aggravated by, food fermentation. Acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach and food fermentation causes wind which distends the stomach abnormally, causing that full bloated feeling. Thus both acid and fermentation interfere with and retard the process of digestion. The stomach is usually healthy and abnormal, but irritated almost past endurance by these foreign elements—acid and wind. In all such cases—and they comprise over 90 per cent of all stomach difficulties—the first and only step necessary is to neutralize the acid and stop the fermentation by taking in a little warm or cold water immediately after eating, from one to two teaspoonfuls of bicarbonate of soda, which is doubtless the best and only really effective antacid and food corrective known. The acid will be neutralized and the fermentation stopped almost instantly, and your stomach will at once proceed to digest the food in a healthy, normal manner. He sure to tell your chemist for the bicarbonate of soda, as I have found other forms utterly lacking in the peculiarly valuable properties—F. J. G.
