

POLICE DUTY PROVES NEW CAMP NOVELTY

Troop A, D. C. N. G., Is Getting Novel Experience in Service on the Border.

MANY VIOLATORS CHASED

BY J. CROSBY MCCARTHY, Star Correspondent.

CAMP WILSON, San Antonio, Tex., District National Guard Camp, November 6.—Nursing a "black and blue" spot on his right leg where an unruly mule had left the imprint of his "left hind" several days ago, Private Maloney, horseholder of Troop A, National Guard of the District of Columbia, is for "safety first."

"It's a mighty fine thing to be a member of Troop A," said Maloney, "but after this outfit has been doing mounted police duty and had made a couple of hundred pinches it is just a little bit unhealthy to talk too much about where you belong," he said.

Mounted police duty in this "scented city" of about 17,000 inhabitants is an entirely new experience for the members of Troop A. It is a work that formerly was done by the 18th Cavalry (regulars). The work requires the services of one officer, three non-coms and about fifteen privates, all of whom are mounted. A line of blue with the letters "M. I." in white is worn on the right arm.

Keeping Eye on Jitneys.

One of the chief duties is to keep an eye on the jitneys and other autos and enforce an eighteen-mile-an-hour speed law. Dazzling headlights and unnecessary sounding of auto horns claim the attention of the police at night. Their duties also include the enforcement of an army regulation which prohibits the use of automobiles for private parties. The members of Troop A have had some very interesting experiences since they took on their police duties. One member of the troop started at a speed which was faster than a walk and that mounted men and officers shall not be driven faster than a faster gait than a trot. Wagons must be kept to the roads and not make short cuts across fields. Disobedient conduct on the part of civilians as well as soldiers will not be tolerated.

Wagons must be kept to the roads and not make short cuts across fields. Disobedient conduct on the part of civilians as well as soldiers will not be tolerated.

"This car belongs at division headquarters," replied the chauffeur. "That does a lot better," replied the cavalryman. "Gen. Funston has issued orders against speeding and it's got to be stopped. You can't drive this car at about thirty-five when I hailed you."

The colonel didn't have a word to say. He merely sat in one corner of the rear seat with his arms folded.

Exciting Run With Jitneys.

One of the first members of the troop to have a "run in" with a jitney driver after the cavalryman from the District was given the police work to do was Capt. Washburn, its commander.

The driver made a remark that made the troop commander "hot under the collar" and he promptly ordered the driver to get out of his car.

"Get out of that car and get out of this reservation just as fast as your legs can carry you."

Camp Preparing for Winter.

Preparations for winter are being made at the Troop A camp. A supply of tent stoves has been received, and soon each of the tents will be provided with one of the little funnel-shaped heaters. A supply of heavy horse blankets also has been furnished. Construction of a stable for the troop's horses will be started soon.

One thing that is still lacking at the cavalry camp is winter clothing for the men. Only a few of them have their winter clothing. A requisition for the clothing was made some time ago and its arrival is expected any day. Lumber for tent floors has been ordered and soon the cavalrymen will have something that is somewhat cleaner than gumbo soil to step on when they get out of bed in the morning.

Troop A had a German supper Saturday night and all past performances in the matter of eating were surpassed. Neither Cook Pete Anderson nor Cook St. Allen is German, but both of them demonstrated their ability to prepare German dishes. One of the cavalrymen declared that even the Kaiser could not have prepared a finer dish of potato salad than what the troop cooks prepared.

Troop Striving for Trophy.

Soon Troop A hopes to have a trophy in the form of a handsome banner as the result of the good showing its members made Saturday afternoon in

BURNING ITCHING ECZEMA ON BABY

Appeared On Cheeks. Spread Over Face, Neck and Behind Ears. Pimples Would Turn to Blisters.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"When my baby was about two months old eczema appeared on her cheeks. It continued to spread over her face, neck and behind her ears. It appeared in pimples first, and would itch and turn to blisters. The itching and burning were so intense she would fret and cry, and could not sleep."

"I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and it did good. One large box of Ointment and one large cake of Soap healed her." (Signed) Mrs. M. C. Barefield, Bergamo, Ala., April 2, '16.

MRS. ODENHEIMER AGAIN HEADS THE U. D. OF C.

Washington Woman Re-Elected by Convention in Dallas—Other Officers Chosen.

DALLAS, Tex., November 10.—The United Daughters of the Confederacy, in session here, yesterday re-elected Mrs. Frank G. Odenheimer of Washington, D. C., president general, and all other major officers and gave a pledge to raise $100,000 toward a monument to be erected on the Jefferson Davis birthplace, at Fairview, Ky.

Although there were no other candidates for president general, twenty votes were cast by the Maryland state division against the re-election of Mrs. Odenheimer.

Chosen by Acclamation.

Three vice presidents, a number of custodians and minor officers were elected by acclamation. The only contest was that for corresponding secretary, in which Mrs. Arthur Walcott of Ardmore, Okla., won over Mrs. C. L. Hamill of Dallas, 1,272 to 982.

The organization's pledge to raise $100,000 for the Jefferson Davis monument followed an appeal and an outline of the project by Gen. Bennett Young of Louisville, Ky., past commander of the United Confederate Veterans. The monument, Gen. Young said, would cost $100,000 and would be a 350-foot shaft of granite. About $20,000 has been raised, he said.

Business was given over principally to the election of officers and discussion of the executive board's report on two controversies. By the adoption of this report the J. J. Finley Chapter of Gainesville, Fla., against which charges of insubordination had been filed, was reinstated and Mrs. Adelbert Warren Meers was declared the legally elected president of the Maryland state division.

Night Session.

"Historical night," with the annual addresses of Miss Mildred Rutherford of Athens, Ga., historian general, occupied tonight's program. Several awards of merit to various chapters were made and a scholarship announced.

General business of the convention will be continued today and tomorrow, with adjournment tomorrow afternoon.

PRICES OF FOODSTUFFS REMAIN ABOUT SAME

Eggs Scarcer Than Week Ago, According to the Market Men.

Few changes are to be noted in the prices of foodstuffs on the benches in the markets of the city from those prevailing last week, and the supply seems to be plentiful, though the dealers say eggs are scarcer than they were a week ago. Guaranteed fresh eggs still sell at 50 to 60 cents a dozen, while gathered stock has advanced to 44 cents a dozen.

Wild ducks, geese and quail are on the market in quantities enough to meet the demand. Meats show but few changes in prices from those prevailing last week and the changes that have taken place are to the benefit of the housekeeper.

In the produce market lima beans, the season for which is drawing to an end, are selling higher, and corn is off the market until next spring. Peaches are also becoming scarce and are selling today at 50 cents a pan.

Urge Co-Operation in Marketing.

The marketing of 7,000 carloads of muskmelons shipped from western producing regions annually should be done with greater co-operation on the part of growers, say market specialists of the Department of Agriculture. Co-operation is especially needed, in the opinion of the specialists, in the purchase of seeds and supplies and in the distribution of the melons. They are, however, employed, in checking up the accounts of the latter.

Prices Quoted in the Market.

The market was fairly brisk this morning and prices ranged about as follows:

FISH MARKET WELL SUPPLIED.

Prices Remain About the Same as Prevailed Week Ago.

The wholesale fish market at the 11th street wharf was fairly well supplied with fresh fish this morning from both the bay and coast fisheries, though ling and whiting were less plentiful than early in the week. As a general thing prices remain firm and range at about the figures of a week ago. Some few black bass from the Potomac and North Carolina are on sale at moderate prices and are in demand.

Early this morning buyers were on hand in numbers and prices ranged about as follows:

Spanish mackerel, 15 to 25 cents; bluefish, 17 to 20 cents; rock, 10 to 15 cents; carp, 4 to 6 cents; white perch, small, 25 to 35 cents a bunch; white perch, large, 8 to 12 cents; halibut, 15 cents; bass, 14 to 16 cents; catfish, 5 to 6 cents; flounders, 6 to 8 cents; eels, 5 to 10 cents each; gray trout, $12.50 a barrel; croakers, $14 a barrel; ling, $5.50 a barrel; and whiting, 45 to $5.50 a barrel.

The supply of oysters on sale at the wharf markets continues good and prices range about 50 cents to $1 a bushel, or shucked, $1 to $1.20 a gallon.

STILL HAVE THEIR JOBS.

Two Defeated Democrats to Return to Washington.

At least two defeated democratic candidates for office in the elections just held will return to Washington to keep good appointive jobs. One of them is John Burke, treasurer of the United States, who ran for senator in North Dakota. He was defeated by Senator McCumber, republican. The other is Edwin Sweet, assistant secretary of the Department of Commerce, who ran for governor of Michigan and was beaten by his republican opponent, Mr. Burke did not resign as treasurer of the United States pending the result of the election. Mr. Sweet tendered his resignation, but it was not acted upon. Mr. Sweet is expected to return to his position here.

NORWAY TO MAKE PROTEST.

Russian Torpedo Boat Said to Have Shelled U-Boat in Her Waters.

BERLIN, November 10.—Reports from Christiania say that a Russian torpedo boat destroyer shelled on November 2 a German submarine while the Russian vessel was between two and a half and three miles from the Norwegian town of Hømoen, near Vardø, and while the submarine was from three to four miles distant from the Norwegian coast.

The Norwegian government, according to the dispatch which was received by the Overseas News Agency, has instructed the United States minister at Petrograd to protest against this new alleged violation of neutrality.
