TRAINS COLLIDE, 4 ON FLYER HURT

B. & O. Limited, Bound for Capital, Cut in Two by Chicago Local.

CHICAGO, January 7.—Four persons were injured, none seriously, last night when the crack Washington Limited of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad was struck and cut in two by a Western Indiana Railroad passenger train as the suburban train was leaving the city on its run to the Capital.

Both trains were crowded when the accident occurred. The Western Indiana train struck a mail coach of the Baltimore and Ohio train, this fact probably saving many more from injury. One of the coaches of the Baltimore and Ohio train was thrown onto the platform of the Oakdale station, on the South Side, where several persons narrowly escaped injury.

Those injured included Stanley Day, Timon, Ohio, and L. Edward Rupert, Albion, Ohio, both mail clerks on the Baltimore and Ohio train, and the engineer and fireman on the Chicago and Western Indiana train. The wreck tied up traffic for two hours.

The Washington flyer was traveling at high speed when the collision came. It had rushed through the city on its eastward flight and was just straightening out for an express speed dash when the suburban train, headed for the city, hit it.

Several coaches were derailed and the mail car was turned on its side.

CAROLINIANS TO FIGHT FOR APPALACHIAN PARK

Senator Simmons Announces Meeting to Contest Commission's Selection.

Senator Simmons of North Carolina announced yesterday that the North Carolina Park Commission will hold a meeting here January 19, to which that State's delegation in Congress will be invited to work out plans under which the proposed new Appalachian National Park for the Eastern United States will be established in North Carolina.

Opposition has been expressed by the park commission, by Senator Simmons and the North Carolina delegation, as well as by the delegation of Tennessee, it was stated, to the report made to Secretary Work by a group of national park experts, who recommended that the proposed park be located in Virginia. The matter now is before the House committee on public lands. Members of the North Carolina delegation have expressed the belief it is not certain that Secretary Work will adopt the report, but may, instead, recommend the creation of several parks in Virginia, North Carolina and other States.

Hearings will begin before the House committee toward the end of this month.

HOOVER SPEAKS AT FARM PARLEY

Urges Relaxation of Restraint of Trade Acts to Aid Agriculture.

Asserting that he favored a relaxation of the restraint of trade acts affecting agriculture, Secretary Hoover, in an address before the National Council of Farmers' Co-operative Marketing Association, today sketched a theoretical agricultural policy.

This stressed the three points—having the United States self-sufficient as to its food supply; the up-building of organization among farmers themselves, such as the co-operative movement, and the elimination of waste, which, he said, affected the farmer as well as every other fraction of American life.

"All of the alarm that has been expressed as to the combination of farmers to militate against the consumer," Mr. Hoover asserted, "is to my mind entirely unnecessary and not worthy of consideration."

There needs to be a larger opportunity for agricultural co-operation under the restraint of trade acts, he asserted. He cited the work of the department in standardizing cement, houses, as an aid to cheapening production, distribution and consumption. Assistance at this point is needed by Government agencies, he declared.

Sees Terminals Needed.

Terminal facilities have not kept pace with demands, Mr. Hoover said, urging some type of organization at these points to assist producer and consumer. Declaring that he had had a secondary part in the Capper-Williams bill, Mr. Hoover said that he cared not by what means the result was accomplished of aiding agriculture. He advocated an outside topic for discussion today.

Recommendation that the National Council of Farmers' Co-operative Association undertake development of a national system of education on the co-operative movement was made in an address prepared for today's session of the organization's convention by Walton Petet, its secretary. Education and credits were the central topics for discussion today.

Mr. Petet urged an educational movement that would reach "down through national, state and local leaders to the farmers, to the co-operatives and to the general public."

He advocated appointment of a commission to consider the entire subject and report to the National Council at tomorrow's business session.

Asserting that inefficient management was often a result of failure of directors to understand the rudiments of sound business practice and inability to pick real business executives to head the movement, Mr. Petet suggested as a remedy a "system of self-education in co-operative marketing by and for American farmers."

DEATH OF PRELATE MOURNED WIDELY

Thousands Pay Tribute to Archbishop Moeller—Funeral Planned.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, January 7.—Reverence to the memory of Archbishop Henry Moeller of the Cincinnati province, embracing five states and a part of a sixth, was being paid today by persons of all creeds in all parts of the country.

Hundreds of telegrams expressing regret and sympathy poured into the offices of the late prelate, who died Monday night at the age of 75 years, following an attack of heart disease.

Funeral arrangements were rapidly approaching completion today. Cardinal Patrick Hayes of New York in a telegram expressed his sympathy at the loss of the venerable archbishop, and stated he would consider it a privilege to participate at the high mass next Tuesday morning.

Archbishop John J. Glennon of St. Louis, probably will preach the sermon.

Funeral Tuesday.

The body of the archbishop will remain in his Norwood Heights residence, where his death occurred, until Sunday afternoon, when it will be taken to St. Peter's Cathedral, the seat of his ecclesiastical court. All priests will gather at the St. Louis Church nearby, gowned with cassock, surplice and biretta. As the cortege passes they will form in line and march to the cathedral, where the body will be received by the Right Rev. Mgr. Louis J. Nau, newly appointed administrator of the Cincinnati archdiocese.

Directly beneath the high altar the body will lie in state from 4 o'clock Sunday until the funeral Tuesday. On Monday morning there will be a special solemn high mass at the cathedral, with a sermon for the repose of the prelate.

From the time the body reaches the church until the funeral, day and night, uniformed guards of honor will surround it.

ATHLETES OFFERED CUT RATE TUITION IN NEWSPAPER ADS

Aim Is to Build Up Teams, Says Masse School Headmaster in Reply to Critics—Called Professionalizing Boys for Scholarships.

NEW YORK, January 7.—Advertisements in New York newspapers in which offers of cut-rate tuition were made to athletes have been sorted to and were defended yesterday by W. R. Slack, headmaster of the Masse School for Boys, at Shippan Point, Conn., the Herald-Tribune says today.

The newspaper says that it traced an advertisement announcing that an advertisement offering cut-rate tuition to athletes is general throughout secondary schools all over the country.

"We don't actually pay them any money," Mr. Slack says, "and besides, they do a little work around the school, like answering telephone and waiting on the table. I don't see how the fact they accept these scholarships can affect their amateur standing."

Murray Hulbert, president of the American Athletic Union, said last night that every boy who received a scholarship because he was an athlete was professionalizing himself.

A half dozen prominent educators in the East, when interviewed, condemned the practice of cutting rates for athletes.

MAILMEN IRKED WOMAN BY STOPPING IN FRONT

NORWICH, Conn., January 7.—Miss Mary P. Huntington, who died recently, went to her grave in the same inexpensive manner in which she lived the 30 years of her life. She left an estate of $30,534.99, reduced only $142 by her funeral expenses.

Miss Huntington lived a secluded life here in her big house and was noted for her eccentric economies. For years she was at odds with mail carriers because they refused to deliver mail at the kitchen door in order not to wear out the front doormat.

The other voyage is by air around Cape Horn, starting at Balboa, western entrance of the Panama Canal, and ending at Cristobal, the eastern terminal.

POSTAL MEN PROBE FINDING OF $79,000

Suspect Quizzed in Rondout Case—Charges Against Women Dismissed.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., January 7.—Postal inspectors who have recovered in Little Rock within the past 10 days approximately $100,000 of Herbert Holliday's share in the $200,000 Rondout, Ill., mail loot, which Holliday attempted to barter for a reduction in his 25-year sentence, still are investigating the finding of $79,000 in a rural mail box 10 miles from Little Rock.

J. C. McKinney, former cellmate of Holliday, who was held for the Federal grand jury and lodged in jail here in default of $25,000 on a charge of concealing $21,000 of the loot, was questioned for several hours yesterday by inspectors, who declined to reveal the nature of the questioning.

Mrs. Ellen Holliday and Miss Helen McNeil, wife and niece of Herbert Holliday, were dismissed yesterday on charges of concealing part of the stolen securities. Miss McNeil is under $10,000 bond, however, for appearance in Kansas City to answer a prior charge of concealing some of the stolen money.

WEEKS PLEADS FOR FOUR ARE INJURED ARMY AIR FORCE IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Tells House Committee One Motorist Flees After Smash; Two Charged With Intoxication.

Secretary Weeks told the House committee investigating the aircraft industry today that the money allotted to the Army Air Service was insufficient to maintain an adequate air force.

Although the approximately $14,000,000 recommended in the Army bill for next year, he said, was the largest sum ever allotted to the service, it fell far short of the amount required. He complimented the work of Maj. Gen. Patrick, in charge of the service.

Cited Progress by Other Nations.

The impression in this country that other nations are doing more toward developing their air forces was brought about, Mr. Weeks said, because of the development of commercial aviation abroad.

Asked if the race in armament had not developed into a race in air armament, the Secretary said it had, but so far it "isn't much of a race."

The Secretary recommended building up a commercial aviation, even to the point of a subsidy, as the best means of developing an adequate air reserve force.

Unification Held Inadvisable.

Secretary Weeks would not recommend unification of the Army and Navy Air Services. Unification might have some advantage in time of peace, he said, but it would have great disadvantages in war, where air forces would be responsible to a large extent in bringing hostilities to an end.

The fields of operation of the two services, the Secretary asserted, should be defined, the Navy being restricted to relate to the fleet and its operations and the Army to cover all other planes.
