PRAYER HEALINGS CITED AT SESSION

Nazarene Society Will Hold
Curative Meeting to Prove Point Today.

Several instances of healing of the sick by the laying on of hands in the name of Jesus Christ were officially reported today to the Triennial Conference of the Society of the Nazarenes, meeting at Trinity Church, Third street and Indiana avenue.

The program, under direction of Rev. John Gayer, pastor of the Nazarene Cathedral of this city, and director general of the society, included an address and sermon by the Rev. Dennis Whittle of Covington, Va., a reading of an official report from Mrs. W. H. Nes, head of the Inter-Parochial Guild of the Episcopal Church in New Orleans, and a woman who was practically blind from the congregation.

Demonstration Planned.
An open meeting for the healing of the sick was scheduled for Trinity Church by the society this afternoon at 4 o'clock. At this time it was expected by members that a power of faith in healing would be practically demonstrated.

Testifying that he had been blown up by a shell in the World War and had been twice wounded, that his family physician "didn't seem to know how to help me," Rev. Whittle told the story of how he said he had been entirely healed by the laying on of hands in London, England. He also told of experiences in Virginia, where he himself had seen the power of Jesus Christ heal serious ailments when he himself laid on hands in the Holy Name.

Among these cases he quoted a man who had been paralyzed by poison, a child ill with pneumonia and a man suffering acutely from some kind of bone disease.

Benefit Sale Opens.
A rummage sale for the benefit of the Utaline Sisters' day nursery opened today at 1409 U street and will continue through Saturday. It is being held under the direction of Mrs. Frank Wall, assisted by Mrs. Charles Dwyer, Mrs. S. A. Tucker, Mrs. D. J. Donovan, Miss Elizabeth Lynn, Mrs. Harry Newman, Mrs. J. J. Downey and Mrs. A. O'Connor.

Foot Ball Player, Tackled in Game, Breaks Both Legs

Lucas Howard, colored, 14, of 1829 S street, received two broken legs when he was tackled during a foot ball game yesterday, at Missouri avenue and Third street. He was taken to Casualty Hospital. Another youth, Abraham Brooks, 14, of 218 Kentucky avenue southeast, suffered a fractured arm during a game in Eastern High School Stadium.

ARCHIVES BUILDING MAY BE BEGUN NEXT

Smoot Expects Storehouse for Valuable Records to Be Started in Another Year.

The proposed Archives Building, one of the group being planned for the triangle south of Pennsylvania avenue, probably will come next on the schedule after the Commerce and Internal Revenue structures. In the opinion of Senator Smoot of Utah, chairman of the Public Buildings Commission.

The archives structure is to go on the interior of the area bounded by Ninth, Tenth, Pennsylvania avenue and B street. Senator Smoot indicated this building probably would be started within a year from next spring.

The building will fill the important need for a safe and adequate place in which to preserve documents and records of the Government. The plan is to erect this building in the center of the square mentioned, so that another building later could be put up around it and fronting on Pennsylvania avenue.

ORVILLE L. GANBIN DIES; FORMER PENSION CLERK

Saw Long Service in Bureau and Served in the Spanish War.

Orville L. Ganbin, 58 years old, retired chief clerk of the United States Pension Bureau, and Spanish War veteran, died at his residence, 4320 Holiday street, Brentwood, Md., yesterday after a long illness. He served as chief clerk of the bureau from July 24, 1925, until the time of his retirement, in April of this year.

Mr. Ganbin was born in Fredericksburg, Va., September 28, 1870. His parents moved to Washington shortly after and on July 2, 1893, President Arthur appointed him a messenger boy in the Bureau of Pensions. The only break in his long service was when he resigned, June 6, 1896, to enter the war with Spain, as paymaster's clerk, United States Navy.

He was a member of the James S. Pettit Camp of Spanish War Veterans. He also belonged to Mount Vernon Lodge of Masons.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p.m., at the chapel at Glenwood Cemetery. Interment will be in Glenwood Cemetery, with Masonic rites at the grave.

Mr. Ganbin is survived by his widow, Arthur, and three daughters, Mrs. Lillian Prince, Mrs. Norma Ganbin and Miss Wilma Ganbin.

And the wedding of Julius Meyer, Graf Zeppelin machinist, will be held as scheduled. Here he is, suit case in hand, with his fiancée, Miss Doro Stockel, ready to leave Lakehurst for the big event which adds another thrill to his transatlantic trip in the big gas bag.

15 BIDS SUBMITTED FOR G.P.O. EXTENSION

Proposals Also Are Made for Furnishing Equipment for New Structure.

Treasury Department officials had before them today for study bids from 15 firms who are seeking the contract for the construction of an extension to the Government Printing Office on G street west of the present structure.

In addition to the construction bids, officials also considered a number of proposals for mechanical equipment, heating, lighting and ventilating for the new structure, and the Treasury Department expects to award contracts in a couple of days.

The construction program calls for the raising of a two-story brick boiler house, a one-story brick garage, a two-story brick laundry building, 3 two-story old frame residences, 2 two-story brick residences and five steel metal garages.

Officials of the Government Printing Office plan to abandon offices in the old building at North Capitol and G streets after the new structure is completed, and use the evacuated space for storage purposes.

The complete job Congress has authorized $1,200,000, of which $700,000 has been appropriated.

The Rust Engineering Co. of Pittsburgh, Pa., was the lowest bidder, with $823,700. George E. Wyne of 2525 Pennsylvania avenue, this city, next, with a bid of $839,700.

Under the contract the successful bidder will be allowed 540 calendar days from the date of his receipt of notice to proceed with construction.

The Virginia Engineering Co., Inc., of Newport News, Va., was the lowest bidder, with $96,900, for mechanical equipment for the new eight-story fireproof extension, the Standard Engineering Co. of this city, bidding $102,900.

The W. G. Cornell Co. of 1003 K street, this city, bid $107,990 for the job.

Baby's Cries Baffle Judge and Parents In Trial of Neighborly Fence Dispute

The conventional decorum of Police Court was seriously interrupted and court proceedings delayed 10 minutes today when the year-old baby of Mrs. Anthony Grasso, 1800 block Rhode Island avenue northeast, refused to stop crying as its mother attempted to testify in defense of her husband, charged with making threats of personal violence against his next-door neighbor, Addison R. Hester.

All efforts by the parents, court attendants and suggestions from Judge John P. McMahon failed to quiet the child and finally it was sent out to the stonemason of the judges. Even then it kept up its cries, and the mother gave her testimony with the distant sound in her ears.

Hester charged that on the 18th of August while building a concrete fence, Grasso, a campaign speaker for the Republican party, started abusing him, brandished a revolver and threatened to kill him because the fence interfered with his view.

Speaking in the positive manner of campaign orators, Grasso denied making any threats, or owning a revolver, and countered with the charge that Hester challenged him to fight.

Judge McMahon continued the case until after election at request of Mr. Grasso, and warned the principals to stay away from each other.

CHICAGO, October 18.—Machine guns peppered slugs into a sedan yesterday near the spot where "Spike" O'Donnell escaped an attack last week.

Two men dropped. Ralph Murphy, a bartender, was dead. Michael Quinlan, described as a gambling resort proprietor, may not live.

The men had entered Quinlan's car, parked outside the saloon where Murphy worked. A moment later bullets ripped into the machine.

Thirty-five empty machine gun cartridges were found in the basement of a building across the street. Police connected the shooting with recent wrangling over the South Side beer trade.

HOOVER CAMPAIGN WORK IS APPROVED

Indorsements of Engineers' Committee to Be Presented to Candidate.

Two indorsements of the work of the District of Columbia section of the engineers' national committee favoring Herbert Hoover for President, and of the women's auxiliary of the committee, one from John Hays Hammond and the other from Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, will be presented to Secretary Hoover today by Henry C. Morris, chairman, and Cabot Stevens, secretary.

Dr. Wiley, who is director of the bureau of foods, sanitation and health of the Good Housekeeping Magazine, expressing his thanks for being listed as a member of the executive committee, said in indorsing the committee's activities in a letter to Mr. Stevens: "I feel that every engineer throughout the country is under a serious obligation to join in this effort, irrespective of former political affiliations. We need in the White House a man of broad vision, an administrative engineer of high character and ability and one of sober judgment. All of these attributes apply to Herbert Hoover."

Mr. Hammond, who is honorary chairman of the committee, sent the following wire in commending the women of the auxiliary on their work: "The women's organizations throughout the country to elect Hoover, are rendering most valuable service and are showing an astonishing executive ability. Their appreciation of the importance of good judgment, with their high patriotic aspirations, is one of the most reassuring features of this campaign. My hearty congratulations to the Engineers' National Committee in enlisting the cooperation of the women."

The auxiliary is composed of the wives and daughters of members of the Engineers' National Committee, which has pledged itself to the support of the Hoover-Curtis ticket.

The officers of the committee are John Hays Hammond, honorary chairman; Henry C. Morris, chairman; Cabot Stevens, secretary, and Edwin F. Wendt, treasurer. The following are committee members:

Albert L. Baldwin, J. Rowland Bibbins, L. D. Bliss, Ovid M. Butler, William Malcolm Corne, Roy W. Crane, Robert H. Dalgleish, John H. Finney, John M. Gries, Charles B. Hawley, Arthur B. Heston, Amasa M. Holcombe, Harrison E. Howe, Edward E. Hunt, Vernon L. Kellogg, A. B. McDaniel, Theodore W. Newburn, F. H. Newell, C. O. Oliphant, Charles L. Parsons, Donald H. Sawyer, Edwin E.
