BOWIE TRACK RADIO UNSAFE ELEVATORS

INQUIRY IS BEGUN
ARE NAMED IN SUIT
Apparatus Found Believed
Used in Gambling Ring.
Four Men Held.
Lifts in Several Buildings
Not Properly Equipped,
Charges Allege.

W. D. Terrell, chief of the radio division of the Department of Commerce, today started an investigation of the radio apparatus of the Prince Georges County police uncovered in a house about a mile from the Bowie race track yesterday afternoon, which they believe is the heart of a gambling ring.

A small radio sending set, mounted in a man's vest, found hanging on a chair in the house, a larger sending and receiving set within the house and connected with a 200-foot antenna, powerful spotlights mounted on the house and two powerful telescopes formed the equipment of the station, the Prince Georges police declared today.

Four men were arrested at the house. They gave their names as Peter Coane, John Fay, Thomas Payette and John Troy. At first all the men said they were from Baltimore. At the office of Deputy Sheriff A. W. Hepburn, they were held for the action of the Prince Georges County Police Court, and it was stated that three of the men, it has been found, are from New York and the fourth is from Montgomery County. The Prince Georges County police refused today to state which of the men is from Montgomery County.

Charged With Bookmaking.

All of the men were charged with bookmaking and giving out racing information unlawfully. They were released in $750 bonds each, after appearing before Justice of the Peace H. W. Gore at Upper Marlboro. They were held for the action of the Prince Georges County Police Court, and it was stated that three of the men, it has been found, are from New York and the fourth is from Montgomery County.

They entered the house and on the second floor found two powerful telescopes also trained on the track. There was in addition, several pairs of powerful binoculars in the room in which the telescopes were mounted. In another room was found the vest-size sending set and other radio apparatus. The big antenna and the message slips completed the equipment of the house. A woman and her three children, who live in the lower part of the house, were not taken into custody, police believing they were not implicated in the operations upstairs.

Probe to Be Thorough.

Terrell today said that a thorough probe would be made of the outfit found in the house. He said that before the Government could take any action it would have to be determined what use has been made of the radio apparatus in the house. It has been found that the apparatus has been used for violations of the law action can be taken.

At the request of the Government the case was continued until November 27. GIRL STUDENT CLUBBED.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., November 23 (AP).—Clubbed on the head while she was returning from class at Salem College, Miss Lorraine Barnett, niece of S. E. Barnett, Clarksburg police chief, was in a hospital here today. Her skull was fractured.

Miss Barnett was attacked near her home last night. The only description of the man, who, she said, struck her with a club, was that he was young and had red hair.

TWO ARE ARRESTED

IN SKYLIGHT DEATH
Men Are Held as Witnesses
to Fatal Fall in Apartment House.

Seeking further information as to the circumstances which preceded the death of John J. Grady, 35-year-old railroad worker of 35 T street northeast, who fell through a skylight early Wednesday morning at 1614 Fourteenth street, police today arrested two more persons, whose testimony they consider essential. The hearing this morning was postponed until 11:30 o'clock Monday.

In addition a man and a woman in the third-floor apartment with Grady when he crashed through the skylight are held as witnesses. They are Mrs. Vera Berry, from the window of whose apartment Grady fell, and Albert Green, 934 New York avenue. They were arrested last night by the headquarters homicide squad.

The police this afternoon arrested William A. Kappel, 934 New York avenue as a witness. John Joseph Macdoug, 28, of the 2500 block third street northeast, also was taken into custody. Police say that they have information which leads them to believe that Macdoug was in the apartment at the time of Grady's fall. He denies that he was there.

Grady died at Emergency Hospital Wednesday morning as a result of a hemorrhage of the brain.

POSTER-SLOGAN RACE

EXTENDED TO DEC. 1
Prince Georges County Homemakers' Market Prizes to Be Given.
More Clubs Join Movement.

Special Dispatch to The Star.
HYATTSVILLE, Md., November 23.—Time for submission of offerings in the poster and slogan contests being conducted by the recently organized Homemakers' Market of Prince Georges County, and open to residents of the county, has been extended to December 1. The market, located in the building at Queen Chapel and Ager roads in West Hyattsville, is furnished rent free by former Mayor William P. Magruder of Hyattsville.

Slogans must contain not more than nine words, and for the best a prize of $3 will be awarded, with $2 and $1 going for the second and third best. Prizes of $3, $2 and $1 will be awarded in the poster contest, which is open to sixth and seventh grade and high school pupils. One poster and one slogan only may be submitted by an individual. They are to be mailed to Mrs. James E. Steele, Franklin street, Hyattsville. The management of the market reserves the right to reject any slogans or posters and none will be returned.

Several additional clubs have taken out club memberships in the market. A variety of articles is sold by the market, the object of which is to give women of the county an opportunity to dispose of their handwork at a reasonable profit. The market is open every week day from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

STAUNTON, Va., November 23.—Bowman Kennedy, 35 years old, a farmer of Crimora, suffered the loss of his left hand in a corn shucker Wednesday. He was taken to King's Daughters Hospital. Mr. Kennedy was getting the feeder in orderly condition, when his fingers were gripped by the rollers and his hand was drawn through.

NEW LYON VILLAGE

VOTE PRECINCT URGED
Citizens' Association Committee Adopts Plan of Relieving Congestion in Clarendon.

Special Dispatch to The Star.
LYON VILLAGE, Va., November 23.—The executive committee of the Lyon Village Citizens' Association last night adopted a resolution urging the establishment of a voting precinct in the village. The association will be asked to approve the resolution at its meeting next Wednesday.

A voting precinct in the village, the committee pointed out, will tend to relieve congestion at the polls in the Clarendon precinct, which was so great November 6 that many voters were forced to stand in line for an hour or more before casting their ballots. There are now more than 100 qualified voters in the village, it was said, and this number is expected to be doubled within a year.

The committee adopted another resolution, requesting the association to retain counsel to ascertain the rights of property owners in the village with respect to road improvements. This action, the committee said, was provoked by an unsatisfactory answer from the firm of Lyon & Fitch, developers of the village, concerning the association's request for information as to the road maintenance plan.

A special committee composed of H. E. Stelle and E. H. Harris was appointed to make arrangements for an entertainment for members of the association. It will be held December 7 in Odd Fellows' Hall in Clarendon.

SENTENCE DELAYED

FOR WORK ON FARM
Montgomery Youth Told by Judge "First-Offense" Plea Has Been Overdone and He Must Serve.

Special Dispatch to The Star.
ROCKVILLE, Md., November 23.—James Hungerford, 21-year-old son of an up-country farmer, pleaded guilty in Circuit Court yesterday of stealing parts of a sawmill belonging to William J. Lewis of the Woodfield neighborhood. It was shown that he had been his father's mainstay on the farm, and Judge Robert B. Peter permitted him to return home to help with the heavy fall work, but told him that he would be required to report later for three months in the county jail or house of correction.

"Experience has taught me," said the judge, "that the only way to check criminal tendencies among the young is to let them understand that they will have to pay the penalties of their misdoings, even though they be first offenders."

Judge Peter expressed the belief that the feeling among the young in many localities that they can do almost anything and get off with a suspended sentence, provided it is a "first offense," encourages the commission of crimes, and he made it plain that suspended sentences in his court would be few and far between.

AUSTRIA OFFERS DEBT SETTLEMENT

Would Pay Off Claims Before
Moratorium Limit, U. S.
Is Informed.

A specific offer to pay the Austrian war debt of about $35,000,000 to this country was made today to the Treasury Department by Austrian officials.

The Austrian debt, payment of which had previously been postponed by this government to June 1, 1933, under terms of a special moratorium to Austria, would be paid off at an earlier date, it is understood, under terms of the offer made today.

Details Are Withheld.

Details of the Austrian proposal were withheld, but they are understood to be identical in nature to the agreements already signed between Austria and seven of its nine creditors.

The Austrian proposal will be submitted by the Treasury Department to the House ways and means committee when Congress convenes.

The Treasury last Spring supported a resolution which is now before Congress after being reported out by the House ways and means committee, which would have authorized the Treasury to negotiate for settlement of the Austrian debt at an earlier date. The resolution also would authorize the granting of priority over the Austrian war debt to a reconstruction loan proposed to be privately floated in the sum of about $100,000,000.

The committee at the Treasury to day developed further the previous Austrian request for a debt agreement and for priority for the new loan by getting down to exact terms as to just what the Austrians will and can pay. Under the terms of the war loan originally no settlement could be made with any one creditor unless similar agreements were made with all.

Cites Need for Loan.

The Treasury Department will thus be able to go before the House ways and means committee with a precise offer from Austria instead of the presentation made last Spring.

The Austrian government was represented at the conference today by its Minister, Edgar Prochnik, and Dr. Richard Schuller, chief of the bureau of economics of the Austrian government.

The American Government was represented by Undersecretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills, Dr. A. N. Young of the State Department and others.

The Austrian officials at the conclusion of their technical conference with the Undersecretary, paid their respects to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

From Dr. Schuller the Americans obtained a mass of reports and information concerning the economic status of Austria and the reasons why that government for some time had been asking for permission to float its new reconstruction and refund its old indebtedness under a new agreement.

Dr. Schuller, it is understood, outlined at length the need for the $100,000,000 loan which is to be used by Austria for capital expenditures and for productive purposes.

ROYSTON IS HELD IN KUMLER DEATH

Driver Detained for Grand Jury at Inquest Into Fatal Accident.

James A. Royston, 40 years old, of Oakland, Va., was held for the grand jury this afternoon at an inquest into the death of Preston Kumler, prominent 50-year-old State Department official and clubman, whose car he struck at Twenty-eighth and M streets Wednesday evening.

Policeman Clarence Morgan of the seventh precinct testified that Royston admitted to him circumstances which proved that Kumler had the right of way.

The accident occurred as Kumler was en route from his quarters, at the Metropolitan Club, to the home of Mrs. Medici McCormick, at Twenty-eighth and Q streets, where he was to be a guest at dinner. Mrs. McCormick was recently elected to the House of Representatives from Chicago.

Morgan testified.

Royston had told him that he was going east on M street and Kumler was proceeding north on Twenty-eighth street. Morgan testified. Nathan H. Barton and Samuel Harris, both colored, told the coroner's jury that Kumler was driving south on Twenty-eighth street.

Kumler's car was struck on the left rear fender and spun completely around, throwing him out and onto the curb. His skull was fractured and he died three hours later at Georgetown Hospital. Royston's car continued about 50 feet past the point of collision, the testimony indicated, and struck a brick wall, knocking a hole in it.

Eldridge Tests Car.

Assistant Director of Traffic Eldridge testified that he tested Royston's car and found the brakes in poor condition. At the time of the accident Royston told police that his foot slipped off the brake onto the accelerator. Director Eldridge said he repeatedly tried to slip his foot from the brake onto the accelerator, but every time it went under the accelerator.

A pan-American exposition is being urged in Cape Town, South Africa.

The attractions of Washington include a large number of beautiful church edifices. Some of these are national institutions, while others are purely local.

On the church pages of the Saturday Star you will find notices of most of these churches, together with a detailed account of the various services, pastors' names, sermon subjects, etc.

The arrangement, according to denominations, will enable you readily to find the church you may choose to visit on Sunday.
