HOOVER SIGNS BILL INCREASING POLICE

White House Force Also Placed Under Secret Service Control.

President Hoover today signed a bill placing the White House police force under the control of the United States Secret Service and increasing the force from 38 privates to 43. Richard Jervis, head of the White House secret service, will be in charge of the force, with Clarence L. Dalrymple. House secret service, will be in charge of the force, with Clarence L. Dalrymple. who for 20 years has been in command of the force as sergeant, as active head with the rank of captain. Under the new law Ernest M. Saman, who has been sergeant, will be promoted to lieutenant. The three sergeants provided by the bill will be Adolphus Walters, A. W. Gall end John M. D. McCubbin. Up until four years ago the White House police came under the supervision of the metropolitan police force, but an act of Congress at that time made them a separate body, subject to the supervision of the White House. Soon after coming in office President Hoover, by an official order, placed the White House police force under the control of the Secret Service. The new law now definitely establishes that relationship. Under the law the White House police shall have the same pay and retirement privileges accorded the metropolitan police force and the percented way he drafted from the latter. m-tropolitan police force and the per-sonnel may be drafted from the latter creanization or the United States public park police.

WARRANTS TO ARREST DETECTIVES DENIED

Ridgway Charges Three Men Entered Home and Assaulted Him.

Assistant District Attorney John R. Fitzpatrick today refused to issue a warrant for the arrest of Precinct Detectives E. C. O'Meara, John F. Boxwell and Licut, Sullivan of the sixth precinct at the request of Guy. B. Ridgway, 407 Fourth street, who said they entered his home and assaulted him without reason.

they entered his home and assaulted him without reason.
Ridgway is said to have made several complaints to District Commissioners about the conduct of the officers. On April 4 Inspector Albert J. Headley was appointed to investigate the complaint.
Ridgway declared that the police failed to show their badges until they had searched the house and made an arrest. Police said they entered on an arrest warrant and subsequently found the person for whom the warrant was issued in the home. They declared they were under the impression that Ridgway was resisting their efforts to enforce the law.

STREET BRIDGE DEDICATION HELD

Col. Ladue and President Bowles of Georgetown Association Speak.

The new M Street Bridge was officially opened yesterday afternoon, when 9-year-old Sue Ann Dietz, 3039 Q street, cut a ribbon stretched across it following speeches by Col. William B. Ladue, Engineer Commissioner for the District Engineer Commissioner for the District, and B. A. Bowles, president of the Georgetown Citizens' Association.

The ceremony took place before a gathering of residents of the community, most of whom later went on the pilgrimage to Georgetown's old and historic cerelons.

the pligrimage to Georgetown's old and historic gardens.

Col. Ladue said there had been a bridge on the present site since 1789, when the first one was built. The next bridge was built, he asserted, in 1800 and from that time to this the banks of Rock Creek at M street have supported several other structures.

Both Col. Ladue and Bowles told of the work done by the Georgetown The old bridge which spanned Rock Creek at this point was of wood and steel construction. Five years ago it was found necessary to raze it.

Questions of land purchase engaged the attention of the National Capital

Park and Planning Commission during its three-day meeting. Land cesired first when the Capper-Cramton park purchase bill becomes law, was under consideration, but information on the sites was lacking, the commission deeming it best to make no announcement of this program, due to the possibility of increased prices to the announcement of this program, due to the possibility of increased prices to the Government.

The commission was prepared to take into consideration the alternative plans submitted by Charles W. Eliot, 2d, its city planner, setting forth the proposed priority purchase under the Capper-Cramton measure, and based on various sets of figures, which the Bureau of the Budget might sanction for inclusion in the deficiency appropriation bill, if the park purchase measure becomes a law immediately.

A. L. Harris, municipal architect, is slated to appear before the commission and advise it of further details in the construction of the District municipal construction of the District municipal center. The commission likewise has for consideration a joint meeting with the Fine Arts Commission to inspect potential sites for the new War and Navy Department buildings.
