

ARLINGTON FIRST TO GET TELEPHONE
C. & P. Co. Official Addresses
County Kiwanis Club at Weekly Meeting.

By a Staff Correspondent of The Star.
CLARENDON, Va., March 10.—Arlington County had the distinction of having the first telephone in Virginia. Edwin P. Hill, information director of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. of Washington, told members of the Arlington County Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon meeting here yesterday.

This telephone, the speaker declared, was operated on a private line and connected Fort Myer, then known as Fort Whipple, with the office of chief signal officer of the Army in Washington. It was placed in service in October, 1877, about 18 months after the telephone was invented by Alexandria Graham Bell.

Relates Phone History.
Mr. Hill related the history of the telephone from the time of its invention to its present state of development, explaining that the first conversation over the telephone was held March 10, 1876, in Boston between the inventor and his assistant, Thomas A. Watson.

The speaker stated that telephone communication today can be held with 49 countries on six continents. There are now 19,600,000 telephones operated by or connected with the Bell system and users of the service in this country now average about 80,000,000 calls daily.

Continuing the speaker said:
Cities Are Connected.
"Washington was connected with Baltimore June 25, 1883. Washington and New York and Boston were connected December 31, 1885. Subsequently long distance lines were connected with every section of the country."
The program, which was under direction of John Webster, vice president of the club, included solos by Mary Francis Glenn, soprano, accompanied by Alice E. Elliott.

OCEAN AIR TRAVEL SEEN IN FEW YEARS

Society for Testing Materials Hold Prospects by Goodyear-Zepelin Official.

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 10.—Transoceanic airship lines will be in operation within a few years, if enabling legislation now before Congress is given favorable consideration. Dr. Karl Arnstein, vice president in charge of engineering of the Goodyear-Zepelin Corporation, told the American Society for Testing Materials at a dinner here last night.

Dr. Arnstein, designer of the U. S. S. Akron and its sister ship, Macon, now under construction, spoke at the conclusion of a symposium on rubber manufacturing, in which engineers and scientists engaged, discussing the merchant airship bill, introduced in both houses, to extend to airships the provisions of existing legislation governing steamships.

The proposed law does not include the construction loan feature of marine legislation, however, he pointed out.

"The rigid airship has succeeded throughout a long term of practical application and has proved to be the practical type for large commercial ships," he said.
BROOKLYN PAPER SOLD
NEW YORK, March 10 (AP).—Sale of the Brooklyn Standard Union by Paul Block to Fremont C. Pack, owner of the Brooklyn Daily Times, was announced yesterday in formal statements carried in both newspapers. Effective today the two papers will be consolidated as the Brooklyn Daily Times and Standard Union. The Times was established February 28, 1848, and the Standard Union 15 years later.

A Sloane-Furnished Bed Room
—is a Work of Art and Comfort
THE inspiration for the designs of these Suites comes from the Early American and Colonial motifs. The renditions are faithful to the originals and give to the room an atmosphere at once refined and restful, while they have the background of superior craftsmanship.
A composite group, creating a most attractive suite, in maple, finished in the old antique color, furnishing an extremely handsome room. Poster bed with canopy and valance of figured chintz, with bedspread to match. The chest is a reproduction of block-front type, effectively carved, hanging mirror, highboy with broken pediment top, dressing table with chintz drapery and maple triple mirror, night table, ladder-back chair for use at dressing table, side chair of the Carver design, with rush seat. This is the suite illustrated.
The Sloane influence on production $650 makes the price only.....

Early American Suite of eight pieces reflective of Colonial New England. Construction is cherry and maple, finished in the soft, old amber tone so delightfully artistic. The eight pieces comprise twin poster beds, bureau with hanging mirror, chest, dressing table with hanging mirror, pedestal night table, Hitchcock chair and bench.
The Sloane influence on production makes $275 the price only.....
Cape Cod group, in mahogany, consisting of eight pieces—twin poster beds, bureau with hanging mirror, chest, dressing table with hanging mirror, night table, chair and bench.
The Sloane influence on production makes $425 the price only.....
American Sheraton Suite of genuine mahogany, inlaid with satinwood. A suite not only extremely practical, but effectively decorative. The eight pieces consist of twin beds of the semi-footless type, bureau with hanging mirror, chest, dressing table with hanging mirror, night table, chair and bench.
The Sloane influence on production makes $450 the price only.....
Empire Colonial Suite of mahogany, with foundation of gumwood. Beds and drawer fronts of selected mahogany and the entire suite finished in the old red color for which the Empire period was famous. Eight pieces comprise the suite—twin single beds, bureau with hanging mirror, chest and standing mirror, dressing table with hanging mirror, night table, chair and bench.
