

Arrival of March Is Marked By Service Engagements

The arrival of the first day of March brings with it more than the usual number of wartime engagements, many of them being members of the services or of service families. Brig. Gen. Alden H. Walt, U. S. A., and Mrs. Walt today are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Betty Alden Walt, to Mr. John William White, A. U. S., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Todd White. The wedding is planned to take place in the spring.

The prospective bride is a graduate of Agnes Scott College in Atlanta and since coming to Washington she has been active in the Red Cross as a Nurse's Aide. Mr. White, who is a graduate of George Washington University, now is a senior in the school of medicine there and is a member of Sigma Chi.

Lt. Col. Stanley R. Goodrich, A. U. S., and Mrs. Goodrich of Arlington announce the engagement of the latter's sister, Miss Elizabeth Palmer Ricker of Berwick, Me., and Arlington, to Mr. John Norfolk of Northallerton, Yorkshire, England, first officer in the British Royal Merchant Navy. No date has been set for their wedding.

Miss Ricker is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Smith Ricker of Berwick. Mr. Norfolk is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert James Norfolk of Northallerton. He is on active duty aboard a trans-Atlantic liner in the Atlantic theater of operations.

A naval officer, Lt. (j.g.) David O. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Johnson of Takoma Park, will take a bride in the very near future, his engagement to Miss Elizabeth Harrover of College Park.

being announced today by the latter's brother, Mr. David Harrover of Manassas.

Both the prospective bride and bridegroom are graduates of the University of Maryland. Miss Harrover is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, Phi Kappa Phi, Alpha Lambda Delta, Pi Delta Epsilon and Mortar Board and in her senior year, 1940, she won the citizenship prize as the outstanding woman student at the university. At present she is employed in the Office of Price Administration.

Lt. Johnson is a member of Alpha Tau Omega and Pi Delta Epsilon and he was editor of the 1940 Terrapin, the student annual. Since joining the Navy he has seen much service on a destroyer in the Atlantic and Mediterranean areas.

By the Way— BETH BLAINE

Good-looking Mrs. Edwin H. Herzog serves both as a Red Cross Nurse's Aide at Columbia Hospital and as an interviewer at the Nurse's Aide Recruiting Office at the Walsh House. Four days a week she interviews prospective Nurse's Aides and two days a week she works at the hospital. Her training course was right here in Washington.

A native of California, Mrs. Herzog attended the Anna Head School in Berkeley and the University of California. She later went to the School of Modern Photography in New York because photography has always been one of her hobbies. The other is raising cocker spaniels, and she and her husband are the owners of the famous Alderbrook Kennels. In fact her husband shares both hobbies with her, for he, too, loves amateur photography. After Mrs. Herzog studied the technical end of photography she gave her husband some pointers and now both do their own printing and developing as well as actually taking the pictures.

Before the war brought them to Washington (Col. Herzog is a lieutenant colonel in the Army Air Force and is now stationed here) the Herzogs made their home in New York and owned a farm in Springfield, Mass. They have a small daughter aged 10 who goes to Potomac School here and the whole family loves Washington so much that they want always to live here. They've sold the farm in Massachusetts and they hope someday to own a house here, Mrs. Herzog says.

"Do you still need a lot of Nurse's Aides?" we asked Mrs. Herzog.

"Indeed, yes!" she answered. "For the day classes we need many, many more, especially for Gallinger and Providence Hospitals. There's a new class starting on March 27, and do you know," Mrs. Herzog asked, "that the Red Cross Motor Corps sees to it that aides are taken from the Walsh House to Gallinger Hospital and returned every day of the week? So there can't be any transportation problem for that particular hospital."

If you're interested in being a Nurse's Aide and filling one of the most vital roles that a woman can play in the war effort go to the Walsh House on Massachusetts

The Rev. John G. Magee, acting rector of the church, officiated at the 8:30 o'clock ceremony before an altar banked with palms and ornamented with tall vases of white gladioli.

Miss Carolyn Moody of Chevy Chase, the maid of honor and only attendant for the bride, led the bridal procession to the altar. She wore a lovely green taffeta gown made with a bouffant skirt and a matching Dutch cap and carried an arm bouquet of large yellow jonquils.

The bride, escorted by her father, who later gave her in marriage, wore a white satin gown made with a sweetheart neckline and a long tulle veil bordered with lace. She carried a cluster of white orchids.

Argentine Urges Nonco-operation With Regime

Co-operation with Argentina's present regime is merely playing into the hands of totalitarianism, Dr. David Efrom of Argentina declared yesterday before members of the Washington Club.

Born in Buenos Aires and educated in that city, Paris and Berlin, Dr. Efrom has for several years been professor of social psychology and of Latin American culture in the United States. At present he is Latin American consultant to the National Planning Association, Washington, and has recently returned from Argentina, where he spent five months on a field trip for the association.

Dr. Efrom asserted that while the regime realizes the power of the Axis is broken, it intends to preserve a nucleus of fascism in the Western Hemisphere to enable a revival of these political policies later. He said he believed the best method this country can use to combat subversive elements in Argentina is to lend moral support and approval to elements in Argentina actively opposed to Nazi methods.

He described the groups antagonistic to the Nazi system as including students, intellectual leaders, labor and ecclesiastical groups. In spite of threats, a large proportion of the Argentine press has "dared to be vigorously pro-United Nations," he declared.

The church is somewhat divided, he added. But the far-seeing and liberty-loving Catholic leaders oppose the regime, he said.

Quoting the Bishop of Temnos, Msgr. Miguel de Andres, he said, "In defending freedom throughout the world the church will be defending its own freedom."

Dr. Efrom said that women's groups also have been active in opposing the present government. He cited the "Junta de la Victoria," a women's organization with a membership of 50,000, representing all strata of the social community, as actively awaiting a chance to strike. This group represents a different picture of South American women than that frequently accepted, he added. The organization was disbanded by the police on the pretext that it formed a "front" for gambling.

In reality, the speaker concluded, the members had been producing quantities of knitted goods for the United Nations, of which 300,000 pesos worth of scarves, sweaters and socks were confiscated. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin.

A meeting of the senior board and senior presidents of the District Societies of the Children of the American Revolution has been called by Mrs. Carl H. Giroux, State president, for 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at her residence, 4128 Arkansas avenue N.W. A joint session of the senior, intermediate and junior groups will be planned for late in March.

Canadian Zionist Addresses ORT

How thousands of young Jewish refugees in various parts of the world have been trained in useful trades in schools established by ORT was described by Louis Fitch, president of the Canadian ORT Committee and former member of the Canadian Parliament, at the annual luncheon meeting of the Washington Chapter, Women's American ORT, yesterday.

Coming from Montreal to attend the affair at the Mayflower Hotel, the speaker appealed for greater effort on the part of Jews enjoying the freedom of democratic countries to assist unfortunate Jews in other parts of the world.

He told how ORT had established schools for homeless young Jews in prison camps to enable the mto support themselves by a knowledge of trades and agriculture.

"We must help these people to help themselves wherever they are," he declared. "We must disengage them from charity and hope. The road to humanity lies through humanity and the road to respect through respect," he added.

Mr. Fitch told of the first ORT school established outside of Montreal for German Jewish prisoners brought from England following the fall of France. Five hundred of these young men trained in the manufacture of tool dies and in tool repairs proved so valuable to the Canadian government that all of the prisoners were eventually released for training in additional schools established by ORT in collaboration with the government, he added.

Trade schools to prepare Jewish refugees to support themselves have been established in Buenos Aires, Sao Paulo, Brazil; Santiago, Chile; Havana, and Switzerland, Mr. Fitch continued.

"ORT goes to any part of the world where Jews are found," he declared, "and Jews are found wherever there is trouble." Mr. Fitch shared honors on the program with Marquis Childs, newspaperman and columnist, who spoke of recent visits to London, Sweden and South America.

Mrs. Emmett H. Markwood, the president, presided and introduced the speakers. Mrs. Milton Kellert, vice president, announced that this year's luncheon doubled the attendance of the donor luncheon last year.
