

Majority of Hospitals Side With Children's In Chest Fund Dispute

A majority of the District's hospitals were aligned with Children's Hospital today in the six-month-old dispute between that institution and the Health Security Administration over withholding of approximately $25,000 of Community Chest funds.

Meeting yesterday at Children's Hospital, officials of 9 of the 11 hospitals represented in the Hospital Presidents' Association adopted a resolution calling on HSA to pay Children's Hospital the Chest funds, withheld since September as a result of a difference in interpretation of regulations governing treatment of charity patients.

Allocation Held Back. HSA, which disburses Chest funds to local hospitals, has held back a portion of the in-patient fund allocated to Children's because of the hospital's alleged failure to comply with an agreement calling for HSA certification of charity, or out-patients.

Willard C. Smith, HSA director, at a meeting last August, told Charles Drayton, president of the board of Children's Hospital that the funds were being withheld because the hospital was not returning to HSA all out-patient payments of more than $1, as called for under the agreement.

Children's Hospital, in refusing to refund charity payments over $1, maintained that the actual cost to the hospital per out-patient treated was $2.23. Under the hospital's interpretation of the agreement, it felt entitled to keep out-patient fees up to the actual cost figure.

New Agreement Sought. Mr. Drayton, who also is chairman of the Hospital Presidents' Association, said yesterday he would appoint a committee consisting of himself, another hospital president and three superintendents, to draft a new agreement with HSA in an effort to iron out the difficulties.

The new agreement, he said, will be submitted for approval to a future meeting of the association before discussions looking toward its adoption are undertaken with HSA and Community Chest officials.

U. S. Pay Bill Backed By Bellevue Association

The bill providing for 18 1/2 per cent pay increases for Federal employees was endorsed last night by the Bellevue Citizens' Association.

The group also supported a shorter work week for District firemen through adoption of the three-platoon system.

Grievances concerning trash collections, street repairs and police protection will be discussed at the association's next meeting with a representative of the National Capital Housing Authority.

The meeting was held at 211 Byers road S.W.

Huffman on Air Tonight

Senator Huffman, Democrat, of Ohio, will be interviewed at 7:45 o'clock tonight over Station WINX on the Huffman-Lucas resolution which would cancel the forthcoming Pacific atomic bomb tests.
