Truman Says Need For U. S. Aid Abroad Won't End This Year

By the Associated Press
President Truman told Congress today the job of providing relief to war-ravaged lands will not end this year—an apparent indication that additional appropriations may be asked.

In a message accompanying the administration's eighth quarterly report on UNRRA's operations, the President said it is "essential that we look ahead to the relief requirements which will confront war-devastated areas in the coming year."

To the people of the United States he declared that "we must continue our endeavors to conserve our food resources," and added that—despite the success thus far in averting world tragedy—it would be doubly tragic if we were not prepared to meet the difficult task ahead.

UNRRA Fate Uncertain.
Mr. Truman's message left uncertain the way in which relief work beyond that for which funds already have been provided would be carried out: Whether through an extension of UNRRA, through the United Nations, or independently.

Present plans of UNRRA call for termination of its activities in Europe by year's end, and in Asia at the end of March, except for shipment of goods out of available resources. Any additional aid—and the United States now provides more than 70 per cent of the total—would require congressional action.

In obvious reply to criticism both in Congress and abroad that UNRRA supplies were being traded on the black market, today's report said investigation had proved "reassuring."

While acknowledging the condition did exist in some degree in Poland, Greece and China, the report said Government action is being taken in all three countries and the situation is improving.

The report also declared that UNRRA missions in the Ukrainian and Byelorussian Soviet republics found the distribution there "thoroughly satisfactory."

Aware of Value of Aid.
"Both missions found a complete awareness on the part of government officials and the people of the value and extent of UNRRA aid," the report added. "Neither found evidence of any concealment of the source of UNRRA supplies."

In ration stores UNRRA goods were prominently displayed, and in windows with the brands and countries of origin plainly visible.

The report gave these figures on the extent of United States aid to UNRRA:

"Out of UNRRA's total food shipments from July 1 until the middle of this year, the United States had furnished 79 per cent of grain, 99 per cent of dairy products, 50 per cent of meat, 61 per cent of rice, 63 per cent of sugar, 33 per cent of fish and 24 per cent of edible fats and oils."

The report showed that by June 30 the member nations had paid in to UNRRA $3,156,710,952, or 85.5 per cent of their total contributions. Of this, $196,621,300 remained unpaid and uncommitted.

Early in July the United States made the last of its $2,700,000,000 contribution available, bringing UNRRA's percentage of total paid in contributions to about 98.

18-Year-Olds Warned On Draft Registration
The Selective Service Act still requires registration of young men on their 18th birthday, even though they are not liable for induction into the service until they are 19, national selective service headquarters pointed out yesterday.

When Congress extended the act until March 31, 1947, 18-year-old boys were exempted from training and service, but the requirement for them to register was not lifted.

Churchill Told House In '40 That Nazis Had 1,900 Invasion Ships

By the Associated Press
LONDON, Sept. 26.—Winston Churchill secretly told the House of Commons in 1940 that the Germans had massed a gigantic invasion fleet of "upward of 1,700 self-propelled barges and more than 200 sea-going ships" in position for an assault on Britain.

The release last night of two hitherto unpublished speeches by Britain's wartime Prime Minister cast new light on a subject which has been argued for six years—did Hitler actually intend to invade Britain?

On September 17, 1940, while the German air force raided London throughout the night, Mr. Churchill, elaborating on what he had said at an earlier public session, had this to tell a secret Parliament meeting: "I said just now . . . that the deployment of the enemy's invasion preparations and the assembly of his ships and barges is steadily proceeding, and that at any moment a major assault may be launched upon this island."

"I now say in secret that upwards of 1,700 self-propelled barges and more than 200 sea-going ships, some very large ships, are already gathered at the many invasion ports in German occupation. . . .

"Some of these ships and barges, when struck by our bombing counter-attack and preventive attack, have blown up with tremendous explosions, showing that they are fully loaded with all the munitions needed for the invading armies and to beat us down and subjugate us utterly. The shipping space available and now assembled is sufficient to carry in one voyage nearly half a million men."

The two speeches, together with three others previously released, were to be published today under the title of "Secret Session Speeches," the seventh and final volume of Mr. Churchill's war orations.

A Locomotive at the Waldorf

TRANSPORTATION history is being made today at the Waldorf-Astoria. On the hotel's Private Siding a 6000-horsepower diesel-electric locomotive of significant new design will make its debut to the railroad and business world.

This is the first of a new line of passenger locomotives which shortly will go into service on the crack streamline trains of the Santa Fe Railroad.

These super-locomotives offer the American railroads a new solution to their key problem as they move into a period of vigorous, resourceful competition—the problem of providing the finest transportation for the lowest possible cost.

This is the mightiest of an entirely new line of mass-produced diesel-electric passenger and freight locomotives and switchers built by two great engineering firms, American Locomotive and the General Electric Company. From American Locomotive come the 16 cylinder V-type diesel engines which pack more power into less weight than any other locomotives on the rails. From General Electric come the war-born superchargers and new electrical equipment.

This is the 75,000th locomotive produced in more than a century by American Locomotive, builder of more locomotives than any other manufacturer in the world.

This is a proud day on the Private Siding of the Waldorf—proud for the builders of a new champion—proud for the Santa Fe Railroad which has a new technological triumph to offer its passengers between Chicago and the West.

"ONE RINSE—AND WASHDAY IS OVER!"

"I reach for that same midnight blue box of SCOOP on washday, too! SCOOP's new kind of suds don't form curds to cling to clothes. I no longer have to put up with the endless rinsings caused by ordinary soaps. Instead, one quick rinse, and clothes are bright and clean as can be!"

3. HOUSEWORK

"PAINT SPARKLES—WINDOWS GLEAM!"

"When it comes to housework, I don't bother with wasteful, extra products. I just turn grimy walls, woodwork, mirrors and windows over to SCOOP. Even with cool water, the house is spotless in no time. And there are no leftover soap streaks to contend with."

"I haven't dried one dish since I've had SCOOP on my pantry shelf. I just soak the grease off—rinse them lightly—and they dry by themselves, sparkling clean! There's no dull, streaky soap film to polish away. Thanks to SCOOP for my smooth hands, too. It works wonders even in gentle, cool water."
