

OUTSIDE NEWS FROM WIRE AND CABLE

Taft announced today he would answer Roosevelt's speech at Toledo, O., Mar 8.

Presumably we're going to hear a president of the U. S. tell the people they're not fit to govern themselves once again.

George Washington's declaration against third term read in house today in honor of Washington's birthday.

Also as a hint to one Theodore Roosevelt.

Officially announced at Bogota, Columbia, that Senor Pedro Del Ospina had been recalled for his letter to State Department.

All hope of compromise between Wilson and Clark forces at Democratic state convention of Oklahoma lost today, when delegates went at it hammer and tongs.

"A man who knows nothing of law is, of course, better able to dictate the course to pursue than an experienced judge."—T. A. Sherwood, for 30 years justice of Missouri supreme court, which Roosevelt criticized.

Sherwood may have meant to be sarcastic, but when you come to think of it, he told the simple truth. Knowing a lot about law has come to indicate shortsightedness when it comes to dealing in justice.

Federal authorities at Indianapolis say they have uncovered new evidence in "dynamite conspiracy."

John H. Patterson, president of National Cash Register Co., and 29 other officials, indicted on criminal charges of restraint of trade at Cincinnati, O.

Street car employes of La-Crosse, Wis., likely to go on strike. Company hasn't lived up to articles on which strike was settled in 1909.

"The cherry tree story told about George Washington is a lie.—Former Senator Chauncey Depew.

Chauncey's falling into the habit of judging other people by himself.

Quityerkickin! The rest of the country got it just as bad.

All the same, some of these early robins that have been peeping around here ought to have their fool necks wrung.

Weather prophets are supposed to be a little bit nuts, but why shouldn't robins have a little sense?

"Roosevelt to enter race on Monday."—Head in Journal.

Wonder what Honorable Journal thinks Theodore has been doing these last few weeks?

"My hat will be in the ring, Monday."—Roosevelt.

Yes, and Cousin Bill Taft says he's going to heave his 380 pounds into the ring and pick that hat up.

Frank Gallon shook dice with Otto Leveren for job as porter in Milwaukee saloon. Lost. Killed Leveren.

Would that jolt your believe in luck?

Mrs. Taft has cut all Roosevelt sympathizers from her invitation lists. Slapped them on the wrists
