

HEADHUNTERS' PRINCE LOOKING FOR MANY WIVES IN AMERICA

Abdula Piang.

Abdula Piang, prince of the house of Piang, the powerful datto, or sultan of head hunters of the Moro district of the Philippines, has just arrived in San Francisco for a tour of the United States.

According to his American traveling companions, the prince's mission is to seek wives to take home with him.

Prince Piang brought with him his gold crown, his robes and jewels.

He is one of the twenty-four living sons of Datto Piang.

His father, who has forty-nine wives, is said to be dissatisfied with Abdula because he has but one wife, the daughter of the Datto of Mondri.

Abdula Piang will tour this country in company with L. B. Kidwell, a lumber merchant of the Calabato district.

According to Kidwell, the last admonition of Datto Piang to his son in leaving the Philippines,
