

TWO WIVES TOO MUCH.

Pittsburgh, Kan., June 12.—Peter Sharp has proven that a house divided cannot live. Today his first wife, Ann Catherine, is on her way to her daughter's home in California. Peter is living happily with his second wife, Celia Samantha.

Ann Catherine's departure closes a story more unusual than that of Enoch Arden.

At the time of the Chicago fire Peter Sharp and Ann Catherine Sharp were separated. Years passed. Peter supposed Ann dead. He married Celia Samantha. They were happy. A year ago Ann Catherine, very much alive in California, discovered her husband was alive and came to him.

Peter was game and treid living with both wives. Six months ago, however, he filed suit for divorce against Ann Catherine. He withdrew the suit before it came to trial. Yesterday Peter escorted Ann Catherine to a train for California and told her good-bye. He did not kiss her.

When the train pulled out Peter returned to Celia.

ing of the scalp?"—Anxious.—When the new hair is coming in and the old hair is falling out the scalp is apt to itch. In either case it is well to shampoo every two or three weeks, to brush the hair and massage the scalp every night before retiring, and to expose the scalp to the sun and air as often as possible. A good quinine tonic will do no harm.

"What will remove freckles?"—L. W.—Frequent applications of lemon juice are good. Treatment for freckles must be kept up continually, as they return on exposure to the sun. Above all, don't worry about them, for they are not so disfiguring as those who have them seem to think.
