RANK POLICE GRAFT TO BE UNEARTHED IN N. Y.

REVOLT ON AGAIN

Charleston, W. Va., July 30.—Paint Creek, quiet after the bloody riots of last week, flamed into revolt again today.

Striking coal miners are arming to exterminate the private detectives hired by the mine owners. Guards of state militia have been doubled in anticipation of outbreaks.

The miners claim that the private detectives, who have been the reason for most of the disorder, are not needed since the militia reached the strike-ridden valley. The operators refuse to discharge the gun men until Gov. Glasscock gives them assurance of protection when they resume operations with strikebreakers.

STRIKERS WIN

Boston, Mass., July 30.—With complete victory for the strikers, the strike of the employes of the Boston elevated and street railways came to an end today.

The company agreed that in future there would be no discrimination against union men, and all strikers were given their old positions. The cost of the strike will total $1,500,000, of which the men lost at least one-third in wages.

New York, July 30.—New York's police force is to have a thorough housecleaning. The indictment of Police Lieut. Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, a gambler, is but the first step in an investigation that may shatter many reputations, and hold the grafters, naked of all pretense, up to the public gaze.

That there may be no escape for the guilty men, the board of aldermen today decided to start a probe of their own. It will be entirely independent of the grand jury investigation, conducted by District Attorney Whitman. Mayor Gaynor, who Saturday refused to sign the aldermanic petition, today completely reversed himself, and declared he would see money was appropriated to carry through the investigation. Outside counsel will be employed.

With the confessions of Bridgeway Webber and Bald Jack Rose, the trail has been opened. No one knows where it will lead. Police officials are anxiously awaiting further disclosures from the informers.

Rose admitted he was the "collector" for Becker, but made the significant statement that Becker did not get all the graft; that men
