National League—Chicago 10, St. Louis 6; Philadelphia 4, Boston 1; Cincinnati 7, Pittsburg 2; New York 4, Brooklyn 3.

American League—Boston 8, Philadelphia 1; Washington 2, New York 1.

St. Louis outhit the Cubs, but Chance's gang bunched eight of their twelve hits in fifth, sixth and seventh innings and copped.

Tommy Leach and Frank Schulte each busted homers, Frank's being his eleventh of the season.

Lew Richie started for Cubs, but a couple of weird plays by Archer and a bevy of Card swats finished Lew in the fifth. Cards hit him eight times.

Charley Smith finished strong, yielding five hits in last four frames. Three of them came in ninth when Cubs were safe.

Vic Saier with a pair of doubles did most effective offensive work for Cubs.

Evers, with a triple and single, and Zim, with a double and single, were right behind him.

Jerry Downs played a sensation-al game in the field and kicked in a hit in sixth when Cubs counted five times.

Lee Magee and Willie Smith were regular hitting cusses for Cards. Magee stung a pair of triples and one single, Smith poling a triple and two singles.

Bob Harmon thought he would win a game until sixth, when he endured an onslaught of doubles, triples, singles and one homer.

Woodburn pitched eighth for St. Louis. Charley Smith rudely jogged him for a hit.

Pesky Giants refuse to lose. Trailing Brooklyn by one run in the ninth they hopped Nap Rucker for three hits, and some woozy Dodger fielding allowed them to score twice.

Barger pitched the first eight innings for Brooklyn and held New York to seven hits. He was lifted in the ninth to allow Erwin to bat.

Tesreau went wild in the ninth, Cutshaw's single being followed by three passes, forcing over the score that put Brooklyn ahead.

Chief Meyers smashed three of the Giant hits.

Hub Northen of Dodgers prodded a homer and double, besides pulling a sensational catch in right field.

Marty O'Toole lost again. Four bases on balls had a lot to do with his defeat. Dreyfuss' costly heaver will never be a winner until he overcomes that minor league wildness.

George Suggs, who couldn't make good with Detroit in the American, is proving to be the Reds' most dependable heaver.

Eppa Rixey pitched one of his best games, baffling the Braves, who found him for but six hits.

Hub Purdue, only Boston twirler who has won half his games this year, fell before the Phillies. They got to him for nine hits.
