

beside which the soldiers sleep, when they get a chance to sleep.

In one army division yesterday, seven hundred men died of cholera, and not one was buried.

It will take a century to undo the havoc wrought by the war.

The whole country swept by the Bulgarian troops in their advance on this city is depopulated. There is nothing but smoking ruins of villages, burned out crops, roads cut to pieces by artillery—and the dead and the ground-mist finger of death that means cholera.

Sofia.—Turkey has rejected the peace terms offered by the allies. The Sultan says he would consider giving the allies about half what they asked.

Berlin.—A report here says that in arranging peace terms with Turkey, the Balkan allies have provided concessions for Britain, France and Russia, and left Germany, Austria and Italy out of it.

France and Russia are to get commercial advantages, it is said, and Britain the Cretan port of Suda Bay.

The report has caused tremendous excitement and an outburst of anti-British feeling here.

Vienna.—Austria has sent an urgent demand for information concerning the Austrian consul at Prisrend to Serbia.

When the Serbs took Prisrend, the Albanian natives took refuge in the Austrian consulate. The Serbs demanded that they be given up.

M. Prochaska, the consul, flatly refused to do so, and the consulate was stormed.

Since then Austria has heard nothing from Prochaska, and it is feared he was murdered.

Prague.—Czechs and Slavs created a great demonstration here while an Austrian regiment was entraining for the Servian frontier.

The Czechs and Slavs gathered around the soldiers' train, and began shouting.

"Shame! Shame! They are going to fight our brothers! Hurrah for Servia! Down with the Germans!"

The police scattered the patriots only by repeated and bloody charges.

If Austria declares war on Servia or Montenegro, her chief trouble will be with the blood brothers of the Serbs and the Montenegrins who live under her own flag.

Fourteen thousand Austrian troops left Trieste for Dalmatia on the Montenegrin frontier in the last 24 hours. Another detachment was due to leave tonight.

Athens.—Russia officially recognized the Greek occupation of Salonika today.

Belgrade.—The foreign minister of Servia today said he did not expect any armistice with Turkey until Tsar Ferdinand's troops were in Constantinople.

Bucharest.—The cholera plague which first gripped the Turkish defenders of Constantinople has spread to the Bulgarian besiegers.

Podgoritz.—A fierce battle is
