

whose mother has taught her that the only thing of any account is the frivolous entertainment of society—the girl who says 'mother says that I cannot go to the party unless I have a carriage, as I will take cold.' You will find that the father of that girl has his nose to the grindstone all the time. The girl would expect her husband to do the same.

"When I find a girl who looks good to me I immediately begin to pay attention to mother, and so far I have not found a mother who can measure up with my ideal—my own mother! When I do I'll probably buy a license if the daughter will have me."

While this chap is rather cold-blooded, there is a lot of good sense in what he says. Yet I have known a girl who was the most unselfish child in the world, just because her stout, selfish mother expected so much of her!

—o—o—
Omaha, Neb.—Several members of fire dep't here found guilty of giving out false reports of their heroic acts in imagined fires.

—o—o—
UNPLEASANT MOMENT

MOTHER BURNS TO DEATH TRYING TO SAVE BABY

A mother's effort to save her baby from a burning cottage was ended by death for both last night.

The mother was Mrs. Margaret Brown. She went to the store and left her two children, George and Stanley, alone in their home, 2622 Ward street.

When she returned the little home was wrapped in flames. Dashing by several policemen she entered the smoke-filled hallway and emerged a few moments later with her oldest boy, George.

In spite of the efforts of the firemen to stop her, she went once more into the cottage, by this time almost gutted by the fire, frantically calling her baby's name.

An hour afterward, when the fire had been extinguished, firemen found the charred remains of the mother in a corner of the bedroom, holding in her arms the body of her baby.

—o—o—
Father (to his old friend's pretty daughter)—Good-bye, my dear. I won't kiss you; I have such a cold. His Son (with alacrity)—Can I do anything for you, father?

WEATHER FORECAST

Snow this afternoon and to-night for Chicago and vicinity; Sunday probably, snow flurries; colder; lowest temperature to-night about 10 degrees above zero; moderate northwest to north winds.