

Getting near home, Frank Chance won another game. Ray Keating turned the trick by holding the Tigers to three hits. Keating has pitched the three games won by the Yanks this year. After Ty Cobb had fanned twice, the Peach said he had a headache and quit the game.

The Boston Red Sox were licked twice. Cy Falkenberg of the Naps won his fifth straight game, holding the world's champions to six hits, and after the game the players mixed in the runway leading to the clubhouse, Tris Speaker and Catchers Carrigan and Nunamaker battling Olson, Beall and Graney. Trouble started during the game when Carrigan bumped Graney in the head with his knee. Other players resorted to rough tactics throughout the game. Jackson and Graney hit Leonard hard during the ball game.

Brown of the Athletics walked three St. Louis players in the first inning, but Lapp caught two of them stealing. After that Brown pitched good ball. Frank Baker and Jimmy Austin each maced homers. Brief, subbing for George Stovall, poled a hit and handled 14 chances.

Rube Benton of the Reds gave the Giants three passes and five hits in two innings, when he was lifted in favor of Packard, who did a good job. Tinker was unable to overcome the Giant lead, though Ames was chased. Marsans, Egan and Bates each swatted two hits. Shafer cleaned up 12 chances at short for the Giants.

Hans Wagner soaked three hits, but Tyler outpitched O'Toole, and the Braves beat Pittsburgh again. Maranville, the Boston shortstop, played an important part in the victory, smiting three hits.

Lobert got a double and single, his two-bagger driving home the winning run for the Phils in the tenth. Three double plays held down the Card score. Seaton pitched better ball than Griner. Larry McLean and Rebel Oakes got two hits each. Jimmy Sheekard made two errors in right field. Four assists were made by the Philly outfielders.

George Stovall, deposed as manager of the St. Louis Browns, and also suspended for spitting on Umpire Hildebrand, will know his fate tonight. The first baseman asked Ban Johnson for leniency, and also got the backing of President Comiskey of the Sox. Stovall's past good record will be considered by the league head in dealing with him.

Willie Ritchie is to start training the second week in June for a fight July 4. Ritchie's opponent has not been named, but it will probably be Leach Cross or Joe Rivers. Harlem Tommy Murphy is also entitled to some consideration, though we doubt if he'll get it.

Martin Sheridan, the great New York weight thrower and Olympic champion, will retire from athletics. Sheridan says it interferes with his duties as a policeman.

Roger Salmon, a left-handed pitcher turned over to Louisville by the Athletics, has been sent to New Orleans. Connie Mack has a string on him.

THE BRYAN BANQUET

'Tis strange how unfermented juice
So much excitement can produce.
The tongues of Europe loudly wag
'Cause diplomats escaped a jag.
Because of sobriety
Hence all this notoriety.
