PUTS HIRED GIRL PROPOSITION UP TO WITNESSES

An appeal to mistresses to show more interest in their hired girls was voiced by Mrs. Ophelia Lawrence Blair in a speech before The Forum yesterday afternoon.

"The report of the Morals Court made recently shows that of 750 girls who went wrong, 225 were formerly employed as domestics," said Mrs. Blair. "If the mistresses of the house would only take a little friendly, motherly, or sisterly interest in her servants, this percentage would be cut down a great deal and the help problem would be more nearly solved. Surely a good home ought to be an inducement to a girl. Under present conditions, however, records show it tends to drive her to ruin."
