MORE MILITANT RIOTS

London, June 8.—Militants yesterday invaded the Catholic churches for the first time and created scenes. In the Church of the Oratory a band of suffragets chanted:

"God save Emmeline Pankhurst and all our noble prisoners; open the eyes of this church and of the priests to put an end to the torture; in the name of the blessed Joan of Arc hear them in their hour of need."

The suffragets were forced by male ushers and worshippers out to the streets and one the sidewalk a well-dressed woman hit a militant in the face. The crowd cheered the woman who struck the blow.

In the Westminster Cathedral a woman rushed up the steps into a pulpit and shrieked: "In the presence of the blessed sacrament I protest against the forcible feeding of women." She was arrested.

BREAKING INTO PALACE CAUSES WORRY

London, June 8.—The exploit of Harry Pike, a young engineer who broke into Buckingham Palace to show how easy it could be done, has aroused consternation, owing to the recent activity of the suffragets.

Pike evaded civil and military guards at night, scaled a high brick wall topped with sharp spikes, forced a basement window and wandered about the palace corridors at will. At one time he was within a few feet of the queen's private apartments. He was discovered when he opened the door of a maid's room.

Pike was remanded for a week on his plea that he entered the palace simply to show that it could be done.

ALL IN THE FAMILY

Percy Lode—Look, father, I have some business ability myself. I just bought a valuable mine at a bargain.

Old Man Lode (of Ledge & Lode, sharpers)—What was the name of that mine?

Percy—It was the "Sunset Sue." I got it through a broker.

Old Man—Great Caesar, are you the tenderfoot that bought that mine? Well you're stung—I sold that mine.
