

like a man of honor instead of taking easy advantage of an inexperienced young lady, promptly turned him adrift.

She could not get the sufferer on her behalf out of her mind. She located him at last through a friend, filling a rather poor position.

He had brought her comparative opulence, surely comfort and a competency. He was the one in hard luck now, and all for her sake.

A woman's wit brought about the meeting. A woman's love ruse, genuine and supreme. Alvin Hughes would not share her fortune. Her loyal affection was sufficient, and he was the kind of a man who could make his way rapidly when the smile of a brave, encouraging woman was his—all his own.

So Lady Hard Luck became old Lady Bountiful, her sweet life filled not only with the love of a loyal man, but scattering his perfume among all those with whom her radiant nature came in contact.

SMART TOGGERY FOR THE BATHING GIRL

By Betty Brown

The smart bag for "deep sea accessories" is about 15 inches long and half as wide. The colors are vivid, even glaring. With one side of the bag a lustrous black satin, the other side a bright gleet satin, with the draw strings of purple, the bathing girl's bag is not subdued in color.

A bathing cap is no longer merely "something to keep my hair from getting splashed." The cap that bobs above the waves is most likely to be wing-trimmed and ribbon decked. The most popular caps are gathered around the head and trimmed with smart little wings of rubberized silk in colors that contrast with the cap.

A parasol on the beach is an affection rather than a necessity. Why dodge our good friend, the sun.

The newest beach shoes are almost knee high—and such a time as you'll have lacing them! Green satin or green canvas is smart in sea-going shoes.

Thirty ruffles—I counted them—on a saucy little bathing suit which the Fashion Art League of America has designed for the bathing girl. They were just tiny ruffles that began at the waist line of a changeable green silk bathing suit and ran right down to the bottom. The surplice waist was also edged with a tiny ruffle.
