ecutive Committee-Race Meet to Be Held July 5-Bieyele Raffle.

The meeting of the executive committee of the Queen City Good Roads Club, at the office of City Comptroller Parry, last night, was chock full of business. Chairman Meacham presided. Many matters of great importance to the good roads move-ment were considered, including plans for legislation much needed by cycle riders to protect them from the designing tack and glass flends. Chairman Fobes, of the path committee, reported progress in the construction of the Lake Washington pathway. Mr. Fobes said that the contractors would turn over their work promptly in the time specified in the con-meet which will be a part of the Fourth of July programme on Monday, July 5. Some of the members of the committee thought Saturday, July 3, was preferable, and fin-ally the racing board was given authority to change the date to the 3d if it was found devisable to do so.

Mr. Pobes reported that the nickelplated lady's Cleveland bicycle had arrived. Several suggestions as to the best means of disposing of the wheel so as to derive the largest amount of money were discussed, but it was finally decided to request the Post-Intelligencer and the Times to ask their readers to offer suggestions as to the most profitable manner gestions as to the most profitable manner of disposing of the wheel. This the Post-Intelligencer cheerfully does. Communications inclosing such suggestions will be received at this office during the next week, and the best one, to be decided by the committee, will be published, as will also others which prove valuable.

The secretary was directed to prepare a full and detailed financial statement of the club's assets and liabilities, to be read at the next meeting of the executive com-mittee, Wednesday evening, May 19. The contest over the Phoenix bicycle, which was given by Mitchell, Lewis & Staver in aid of the Queen City Good Roads Club, has been settled without the day was withdrawn last night. Bertillon System.

PITTSBURG, May 11.—The fourth annual convention of the National Association of Chiefs of Police of the United States and Canada opened this morning, with about 200 delegates, representing nearly every large city in the country. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, J. T. Janssen, Milwaukee; vice president, Col. W. G. Moore, Washington, D. C.; secretary, Harry C. Carr. The new officers were at once installed.

Milwaukee was chosen as the place for holding the next annual convention and the date fixed was the first Tuesday in June.

The question of adopting the Bertillon

The question of adopting the Bertillon system for the detection of criminals was brought up. The sole object is to establish a national bureau of identification. The report was presented by Jacob Fry, of Baltimore. He was of the opinion that the bureau could be kept in operation for $2,000. He proposed to divide the different departments into three classes. The first class is to be assessed $100 per annum, second class $75 and third class $50. The second class $75 and third class $50. The assessments had already been agreed to by Buffalo, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, Washington, Cincinnati, New Orleans, Pinkerton's detective agency, Baltimore, Charlotte, Indianapolis, Little Rock, Los Angeles, Portland, Me., and Atlanta, Ga. The assessments aggregated $1,200. This was $800 less than the amount deemed necessary to establish the bureau.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The first statement which Chairman Dingley, of the ways and means committee, whose name is borne by the new tariff bill, has con-sented to make regarding the bill since it sented to make regarding the bill since it was amended by the senate finance committee was made by him today to the Associated Press. Mr. Dingley was requested to give some statement as to the probable additional revenue that would be yielded the first year by the senate tariff bill, as well as by the house bill, and he spoke as follows:

spoke as follows:
"It must be borne in mind that there is no senate bill as yet. What is improperly spoken of as the senate bill is the house bill reported to the senate by the finance committee with certain amendments recommended. What the senate bill will be when that body shall have made it, no one when that body shall have made it, no one can as yet say.

"While the amendments of the house bill recommended by the senate finance committee (about 700) appear to be multi-tudinous, yet about 200 of them are mainly verbal, such as amending the spelling of 'asbestos' by substituting 'o' for 'uo,' leaving about 500 which change rates. This is about the number of amendments to the about the number of amendments to the McKinley bill adopted by the senate of 1890, and of these 500 a large proportion involve nothing of consequence. There are, however, many amendments which are important, not only as to revenue, but on other grounds. I do not propose now to speak of these proposed amendments ex-cept as they affect revenues. "The effect of these amendments as a duty on tea for two years and a half, and the amendment increasing the internal revenue on beer 44 cents per barrel for the same period, and the increase proposed on tobacco and cigarettes, will produce less revenue than would be raised by the house estimate of the ways and means commit-tee as to the revenue that would be pro-duced by the tariff bill as it passed the house. These criticisms overlook the fact that the ways and means committee esti-mates of the revenue that might be expected the first year were based on the assumption that the bill had become a law on or before May 1. The committee in its report expressly said that while there could be no question that the bill would in any event yield sufficient rev-enue to carry on the government and enue to carry on the government and leave a surplus the second year of its operation, which nobody even now contradicts, and probably sufficient for the first year if it should be promptly put in force, yet if there should be a delay in its enactment beyond May 1 anticipatory importations would inevitably cause serious inroads in the prospective revenue for the first year."

CHICAGO, May II.—A special to the Chronicle from New Orleans says:

The steamer Rover, plying between this port and the ports of Spanish Honduras, was fired on by a Nicaraguan man-of-war on May 6, while four miles from Puerto Cortez, and narrowly escaped being hit amidships. The Rover, which came in tonight, also brought the information that it was rumored in Omoa and other government points that the American consul at Puerto Cortez, Mr. Alger, had been shot. Puerto Cortez, Mr. Alger, had been shot. There were no particulars obtained. The fact that his flags were not flying when the Rover left the port is taken as an indica-tion that this is really so, and that possibly Puerto Cortez has passed into the hands of the government, although it is also said that the revolutionists at that place are principally Americans and En-glishmen, well armed and vastly superior to the force of the Honduran govern-ment. The story of the affair as told by Capt. Reed, of the Rover, is as follows:

Upon arriving at Puerto Cortez on the morning of May 6, Capt. Reed observed that the flogs of the American consul were not flying, and there seemed to be were not typing, amiss in the town. He de-cided not to anchor his ship, but instead remained off shore, waiting to be board-ed by the customs officials. After waiting for some time and no one putting in an appearance, and noticing that the town seemed to be in a state of agitation, Capt. Reed concluded it was not safe for him to remain in the port, and headed his ship for Omoa. When the Rover was about four miles distant from Puerto Cortez the tugboat Lucy B. was observed heading for the steamer. When the two vessels were about half a mile apart, to the astonishment and dis-may of the American captain and his crew, a puff of smoke was observed to clear the sides of the Nicaraguan vessel and the next moment there followed a report and a solid shot struck the water a few hundred yards ahead of the Rover. The engines of the Rover were stopped at once, and there followed another shot, which dropped into the sea about fifty feet from the side of the American ship. n direct line with her midships.

The Lucy B, was by this time within hailing distance, and an officer in uniform ordered the Rover to come to anchor. She was then boarded by this officer, and six of her crew followed. The officer turned out to be Gen. J. P. Reyes, of the Nicaraguan government, and he demanded to see the Rover's papers, which were given him. He then searched the vessel, and, apparently finding everything to his satisfaction, gave Capt. Reed a permit to load A public meeting, at which Miss Simms of Chicago will speak, will be held at Plymouth church this evening in the interest of the Young Womens' Christian Association.
