The War in Georgia

Kilpatrick's Raid About Atlanta.

Correspondence of the Cincinnati Commercial.

The Kilpatrick raid occurred on the night of the 2nd and morning of the 3rd of June, with a force of cavalry from the 2nd and 3rd New York Cavalry regiments. The object of the raid was to capture the town of Columbus, Ga., and cut off the railroads between Columbus and Macon. The raid was successful, and the town was captured without a shot being fired.

General's Advancement.

The advancement of the General of the Army of the United States is being rapidly made. The General is preparing to take command of the army of the Potomac, and is expected to arrive in Washington early next week. The General is a man of great ability, and is well calculated to command the forces of the Union.

The Exchange of Prisoners

The Richmond Examiner states that the number of prisoners exchanged on the 15th of August was 1,000 on the Union side, and 1,200 on the Confederate side. The exchange was made at the request of the President of the United States, and was approved by the Confederate government.

From the Upper Potomac

A Fight Near Harpers Ferry.

The Confederates were defeated at Harpers Ferry on the 15th of August. The Confederates were led by General Lee, and the Union forces were led by General Meade. The battle was severe, and many lives were lost on both sides. The Confederates retreated, and the Union forces pursued them.

The Death of Morgan

The death of Major General Morgan occurred on the 15th of August. General Morgan was a brave and able officer, and his death is a great loss to the Union forces. The General was a man of great courage, and his death is a great loss to the Union forces.

---

The text contains various reports and correspondence related to military operations, exchanges, and the war effort.