ONGRESIONAL MANUAL; By Jost S. Suyasaland; an Outline of the Order of Business in the House of Representatives, I volume of nearly 300 pages; price $1.50.

This Manual has been undertaken and executed mainly with the view of giving gentlemen, who may not have served as members of the National Legislature, some insight into the mode of transacting the business of Congress especially in the H. of Representatives of the United States. Members of the State Legislatures will also find it serviceable in the performance of their legislative duties, and occasionally even the older members of Congress will find it a convenient reference.

convenient reference.

It contains a mass of important parliamentary decisions worthy the attention of every one desirous of becoming acquainted with the Congressional practice of the country; also the rules of both Houses of Congress, Jefferson's Manual of Parliamentary Practice, Constitution of the United States, Declaration of Independence, (giving full indexes of all of them for the purpose of affording easy and instant reference) and much other useful information. AGENCY AT WASHINGTON.

A MOS KENDALL and JOHN E. KENDALL offer their services to such as may have business with the Government of the following description;

viz:
Obtaining contracts from the Post Office and other

Recutive Departments.

Procuring patents, and other business connected with the Patent Office.

Procuring patents, and other business connected with the Patent Office.

Procuring pensions—revolutionary, army, and navy; and other business in relation thereto.

Settlement of accounts, whether with the State, Treasury, War, Navy, or Post Office Departments. Prosecuting of claims against the Government, whether for lands, other property, or money, before any of the Executive Departments or Congress.

Our office is in the house of Amos Krndall on Estreet, the first door east of the Medical Cellege, two squares west of the Post Office Department, where we can be found during business hours. Amos Krndall will prepare cases for presentation to the Departments, or to Congress. His knowledge of the forms and details of public business, derived from service in the public offices, will enable him to perform this service in the most effective manner; and those who intrust us with business may rely upon the utmost promptitude, and the use of all proper means to bring it to a successful issue. Our charges will be moderate, depending for their amount on the nature of the case.

Persons at a distance will find it much cheaper to employ us in any business they may have with the Covernment, than to come to Washington themselves.

WAVERLY CIRCULATING LIBRARY, Penn. avenue, immediately east of Gadsby's Hotel, is regularly supplied with a number of copies of every new work, immediately upon publication, for the use of its subscribers.

The British Reviews and Magazines, all of which (leaving out only those of a professione! character,) are taken for the use of this Library, offer an advantage which is given by no other circulating library in the United States. They are—

Bentley's Magazine, The United Service Journal, Tuit's Magazine The Metropolitan, Blackwood's Magazine, The Edinburg Review,

The Westmir

The Foreign Quarterly,
The Old Quarterly,
The British and Foreign Quarterly, Amsworth's Magazine, Frazer's Magazine, The Dublin University Magazine, Colburn's New Monthly Magazine.

ster Review

Colburn's New Monthly Magazine.

These, it is to be observed, are not the American re-printed newspaper copies, but the original British editions—good paper and large type, with all the illustrations; the copies for each month being mailed by the Atlantic steamer of that month, leaving England on the 4th, and reaching this Library with great regularity on the 21st or 22d of the same mouth for which they are published in England; the postage alone, on this mode of transmission, costing upwards of fitty dollars per annum.

Terms of subscription five dollars per annum.—Three dollars for six months, or one dollar for a single month. None but those who subscribe can be allowed to obtain either books or magazines from the Library, and no second copy of anything to be taken out until the previous one be returned.
