MAYOR OF LONDON WRITES.
Thanks St. Louisans for Contributions to Soldiers' Widows.

Secretary J. Hill of the British Symphonists' (transliterated), which made up a donation of more than $2,000 for the widows of soldiers and sailors killed in the Transvaal War, at a mass meeting held last March in the Oldham, recently received a letter acknowledging the receipt of the money from the Lord Mayor of London, Alfred J. Newton. He expresses his thanks for the gift and says that the enthusiasm of which it is an expression is greatly appreciated.

The letter conveys the sentiment that there is no comparison between the poor of London and the United States. At the same time the former is coming to an end. The Lord Mayor writes that the money is for the poor and that the enthusiasm of which it is an expression is greatly appreciated.
