PINOCHLE'S EARLY MIDSUMMER STAKES.

Triaditza Won by a Nose From Belle of Memphis'in a Ding-Dong Finish.

JOCKEY FROST'S WEAK FINISH.

Zach Ford Displayed Wonderful Improvement - Dan Honig's Unlucky Mare Theory Succeeded in Winning.

Yesterday was Midsummer Stake Day at the Fair Grounds. It was rather early in he season to run such a named stage, Lu "there's nothing in a name" to the racin patron, as long as the sport is good, and he knows he is receiving fair play. The sport vas of the best kind yesterday afternoon, and the time recorded in the several events expresses better than words the excellent dition of the going.

Pinochle and Jimmy T. Woods are to the St. Louis racing public of this year what Lady Callahan and Jockey Dominick were a year ago. They seem to be a very desirable pair to back when the names appear coupled on the bookies' boards, probably because they are hard to beat when in right, and they were in very nicely jesterday. Pinochle was a liberally backed 7 to 5 favorite for the stake. Only four started and Johnny Huffman's Found, with Jesse Mathews up, shot to the front as the barrier snapped and set a heart-breaking once around the clubhouse turn and down the back stretch, leading at the stable turn by three lengths, while the trie behind her were struggling hard to catch her. Round-ing for home Mathews still kept up 'is hustling ride on Johnny Huffman's mara, but an eighth out the 110 pounds impost commenced to tell and she seemed to hesitate momentarily, while Pinochle came fast and strong. Little Found is game to the marrow and fought every inch of the 'ast sixteenth with Pinochle. Doctor Holtgrewe's chestnut horse was too good yesterlay for Found and won the money rather andily by half a length. Annie Okifield and Crocket had a nose and nose battle for the peep money, some six lengths back, Annie, winning by a nose.

Annie, winning by a nose.

The race which proved the best betting affair, and a race which would have proven one of the best since the meeting opened, was dimmed of all its luster by "Waily" Frost's feeble finish on the Belle of Memphis, when Triaditza beat her a nose in the fifth race on the card. Only three were carded to go in this event, and the spectators in the betting ring jostled, pushed and crowded to hack a fancied one. At one time Belle of Memphis was a favorite and in another few moments Triaditian maney would send Nepper's filly into favoritism. It was a veritable betting duel, with Tulia Fonse not at all overlooked, for she also was fairly well supported. At post call Belle of Memphis was a slight favorite. Starter Bruen had no trouble and sent the three away at the first try. Belle of Memphis, as usual, went away flying down the backstretch a length to the good. As the field rounded the far turn little Triaditza collared Mediale's mare and a real race happened all the way to the winning post.

Triaditza and Belle of Memphis came up

Triaditza and Belle of Memphis came up Triaditza and Belle of Memphis came up the straight as a team, with Tulia Fonso gaining rapidly. Dominick was riding superbly on Triaditza, while Belle of Memphis seemed to weaken slightly a sixteenth out, but the good daughter of imp. Siddartha gathered herself together again and was making the gamest effort a thoroughbred can make, and was coming up and overcoming Triaditza's slight advantage at every strike. Jockey Talley on Tulia Fonso was also gaining, but Tailey's railiriding proclivity sadly interfered with the chances of his own mount and also with those of Belle of Memphis, for not forty yards from home Tulia Fonso tried to slip in along the rail. Frost, on Belle of Memphis, became temporarily rattled on account of being hemmed in and could not give the Belle of Memphis the assistance at the finish she deserved. Dominick on Triaditza, put up his usual brilliant finish count of being hemmed in and could not give the Belle of Memphis the assistance at the finish she deserved. Dominick on Triaditza, put up his usual brilliant finish and landed Nepper's good filly a winner by a nose from Belle of Memphis, with Trilla Fonso, a good third, helmmed in on the rail, a length back.

The first race of the day, a six-furiong dash, presented more warm subjects than one would believe could be gathered together in one race. Every horse in the face was a sure winner according to the respective supporters. The race went to the legitimate favorite, Hotteniot, he winning in a romp by five lengths.

Zack Ford displayed wonderful improvement in the second race. He was out June 19, and was beaten in 1:25 by Quick Range and Seide. He carried 112 pounds in that out. Yesterday he had four pounds off and beat isobel and Sard in 1:225.

Capron, the warmly backed favorite for the third race, cantered home some four lengths in front of the weary Muskalonge, with Connie Lee a strong third. Crossmolina finished fourth in this race, and seemed to have a bad attack of the slowa. She finished with a vim last Tuesday, but seemed unable to untrack herself yesterday afternoon.

Dan Honig's unlucky mare, Theory, opened the door yesterday, after knocking at it many a time. She looked to be in a soft spot, but she has been so unfortunate in her recent races that her price receded from 3 to 1 to 5s. Maydime was backed to a standatiil for this event, but Theory ran all around Schulte's filly in the last strides and won by a length. Jockey Dale put up a very good ride in this race and gives promise of great improvement in his future riding.

After the fifth race Jockey Frost was called into the judges' stand and questioned very closely about his weak finish on Belle of Memphia. The boy explained that he was hemmed in between Triaditza and Tulia Fonso and that if he pulled in he might throw Talley on Tulia Fonso over the fence. The argument seemed reasonable and was acc pied by the judges. Patrol Judge A. B. Dade, who has a clear view from the rear said: "The three were going very fart and a false move of Frost's might have terminated in disaster as the three were closely bunched.

Buffalo, June 21.—Jockey Flynn gave Zanone a poor ride at Fort Erie this afternoon, losing what seemed a sure victory at the post. He was hauled over the coals by Mr. Pettinglil, but owing to the fact that no object for crookedness was developed, he was let go with the lecture. Long-shots shattered the form players' bank rolls. Chicago. June 11.—The remarkable showing in the mud of Norford. "Lizcky" Reldwin's candidate for the Derby was the most interesting event at Harlem to-day. Norford has not been considered more than a deubtful starter, with a chance on carth before to-day, but this afternoon in a race at a mise and a sixteenth, in which Wax, another Derby colt, was entered, he appealed-eagled his field and made other horses in the race look cheap. He had the hollowest kind of a victory, going through the mud like a streak. He was at 10 to 1 in the betting. Wax, the favorite, was second. AMERICAN DERBY STARTERS. A Good Field Probable—No Public Betting at Washington Park. Chicago, June 21.—The probable starters and jockeys in the great American Derby, to be run at Washington Park on Saturday, are as follows: are as follows:

Charles Head Smith's br. c. Lieutenant Gibson, by G. W. Johnson-Sophia Hardy (Boland), 123.

J. F. Schort's ch. c. Sam Phillips, by St. Florian-Reckon (Burns), 127.

W. L. Oliver's ch. g. All Gold, by Imp. Rayon d'Or-Merry Nelly, (Caywood), 122.

Foster & Hackett's ch. c. Yellow Tail by Imp. Watercress-Palmona (Thorpe), 122.

Thomas E. Barreit's br. c. Barrack, by Bersan-Fable (McDermott), 122.

W. M. Barrick's h. c. James, by St. James - Hellottie (Mitchell), 122.

H. M. Newell's b. c. Right Bower, by Bispector B.-Theodorea (Jockey unnamed), 123.

H. M. Newell's b. C. Right bower, by Inspector R.—Theodorea (jockey unmamed), 122.

Pupil, Silver Garter, Sidney Lucas and Yellow Tall are doubtful. Right Bower may start if track is heavy.

The division of sentiment among well-informed horsemen as to the probable winner of the classic event is quite remarkable. Although Lieutenant Gibson still has the call, there is a big following for the others, especially for Sam Phillips and Advance Guard. The supporters of the favorite hack on his phenomenal speed, as shown by the actual time recorded, rather than by the quality of horses he has defeated. Others refuse to accept a time standard and moreover there are those who think Lieutenant Gibson's workout on Thesiday, in which he made the mile and a half in 2:354, could not have failed to injure his berby chances. Of this feature Trainer Charles Hughes said:

"It must be borne in mind that Gibson has not raced for three weeks, and that he is going to run on Saturday against horses prepared in actual contests. It has, therefore, been necessary to give him some stiff preparation. I believe Lieutenay. Gibson will go to the post thoroughly it on Saturday."

The backers of other horses are figuring

Harrack 120 to 1
While there will be no "betting ring" with criers posting edds and soliciting bets from lines of booths, "hand-book" men will, it is said, pass among the crowds and the position taken by officials of the South Side Racing Club in acknowledging Mayor Harrison's edict to Chief Kipley, that "all gambling at Washington Park must be suppressed."

Henry Track for Derby.

Chleago, June 31.—It rained heavily this evening, and with the prespect of a heavy track all the opinions regarding the outcome of the American Dorby, which is to be run at Wassington Park Sturday, have had to be revised. However, should there be clear weather to-morrow and Saturday there is still a chance for a good and possibly even a fast track. But just at present the handleappers are basing calculations on a track that will be somewhat middly. The conspictous loser by this calculation is Advance Guard, and the supporters of the Shields cold are in mourning to-night. It seems to be generally accepted that Advance Guard cannot run well in the mud. although last year he occasionally did fairly well under such conditions.

On the other hand, the thousands of supporters of the favorite. Lictucant Gibson, are smilling bready, for until the Licutenant scorel his brilliant track at Louisville this spring, the impression prevalled that he was never at his best on a heavy track. This was gained from his fine races in the mud last year. The chances of James, Silver Garter, Pupil and Same Phillips are not thought to be particularly affected one way or the other by the mod. Sidney Lucas is a fine mudder, and if any outsider is added to the present list of probable starters it is likely to be because of the muddy track. Barracks' chances will be helped by the mud.

To-Day's Schedule. Pittsburg at St. Louis. Boston at New York. Brooklyn at Philadelphia. Chicago at Cincinnati.

Pittsburg's baseball club arrived in St. Louis yesterday morning. The Pirate team loves the St. Louis club, the Pirate team Louis yesterday morning. The Firate team loves the St. Louis club, the Firate team does. Many stories were told about the St. Louis crew that were not altogether to their credit. Two or three of the Buccaneers, notably Zimmer and O'Connor, bear their old manager, Mr. Tebeau, no goed will. They never miss a chance to register a knock against Mr. Tebeau, though they played side by gide with him for a decade; lought, bled and lost flesh for his sake.

The Pirates brought news from the East. They say that while in New York some of the St. Louis players spread a fiery pigment over the big city from the Battery to Harlem and between the rivers. Manager Tebeau got next to the doings and plastered a few fines. It is said that Pat Dillard, the utility man who is playing such good ball, lost $100. Mr. Tebeau, it is rumored, fined him that much for rubbering along the place where they "do such things and say such things." It is said that Dillard is trying by hard work and good playing to make amends for his alleged lapse from duty. By his fine playing he is carrolling that plaintive song "I wants my money back" in Mr. Tebeau's capacious ear. His work has been first class and he has earned another chance. One hundred bucks is a large piece of money for a young leaguer to let loose of in one pay day.

large piece of money for a young leaguer to let loose of in one pay day.

Zimmer and O'Connor ere going about with smiling faces. To see the old team in last place is fun to them. They are cock sure of winning three games here.

"Why," said a member of the Pittsburg club, "here's where all the teams get a start and break their run of ill fortune. Here's where we get a start. Why, we have had hard luck to no end. We have lost reur or five 1 to 9 games this spring, and no end of 3 to 2 and 4 to 2 games. We have played some of the best and hardest games in the league and lost them. But here is where we get off, just as Boston, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and Philadelphia did. Owing to the strike we do not expect much money here, and we would have had these games transferred to Pittsburg did we not want to get the luck of a good start here. We'll take the three sure, even if Wallace, MoGraw and Heldrick are in the game. In fact, we want to see all of them in. We want to put it to them good."

"I read in an afternoon paper to-day where the St. Louis gang is leaving the blame of their defeats on the people," said another Pittsburg player. "They claim that people are roasting them for losing. I feel corry for them after we get through with them. They will then get it for fair."

Mr. J. Emmett Heldrick, the scintillant centerfielder of the St. Louis team, is expected in St. Louis this morning. Mr. Heldrick has been spending a week with his relatives in Brookville, Pa., while giving his injured leg a chance to mend. He will probably be in the game to-day. There is some awful hollering about the holo that Heidrick's absence makes in the field. Yet Donlin would strike most people as a pretty good sub for any man.

It is said that St. Louis pitchers won't do. How is it that Cuppy, who would not do for St. Louis, is doing so well for Bos-ton? He has pitched five games and won four. The one he lost went by Lowe's error after two men were out. Five runs scored on the mispley. If Cuppy can win for Bos-ton in Boston, he can win anywhere.

ton in Boston, he can win anywhere.

"Oh, we're in awful hard luck," moaned Mr. Jere Hunt yesterday. "Last night I lay awake from 9 to 12 thinking it over. Now, do you know that in the Cluciannti series Haho made more hits-five-than he made in all previous games this season? He also made a home run which scored three runs and won a game. It was the first homer he ever hit in his life. Why, that fellow naturally could not hit the pipe if he was a Chinese Boxer, yet he comes along here and hits pitchers like Powell, whom good hitters cannot touch-over the fence. Now, what do you think of that?"

whom good hitters cannot touch—over the fence. Now, what do you think of that?"

"Barney Dreyfus, the Pittsburg fan magnate, who leads his players against umpires, has about the finest library, that is, the room, in the country," said a baseball men yesterday. "His taste in tomes is confined to the bound copies of the Sporting News, and Spalding's Guides. Bernardo is there tatck with the done on the players. If he was a poor man, which he is not, he would stint his chuck to buy players with the savings. You cannot get him to spend his cash except on a ball player. He buys players as W. C. Whitney buys race horses because he likes to own them. Funny little mailard is Dreyfus. Bad loser. Hates to get gaffed and halloes bloody murder when he gets stuck. Harry Pulliam is good fellow for the game Barney is, spends his mency, does not care for the gate, looks only for artistic results. That is all right, but as long as Barney loses hard and lays the blame on the umpire, he is hurting the game. He encourages players and people to disrespect that official, and such action is most reprehensible."

"By the way," said a local player. "I game. He encourages players and people to disrespect that official, and such action is most reprehensible."

"By the way," said a local player, "I wonder why it is you newspaper drakes never roast the rowdy magnates and the rowdy spectators. If a bail player, who is deeply interested in the game, but his eye in contention of an umpirien ukase you all get up and cry 'Crucify him, the ruffian." Yet when spectators jeer the umpire, call him a lobster, threaten to kill him, question his honesty, maybe take a punch at him, you never say a word. I have seen magnates refuse to let umpires officiate on their grounds, men like Brush and Freedman dictators of baseball they are called. Yet you fellows never say anything. I wonder if Buck Ewing or Bob Allen or any other player told an umpire they would take their teams off the field if he attempted to umpire what you would do to them? Brush. Dreyfus, Freedman et al. incuicate rowdyism by saubbing and insulting umpires, refusing to allow them to officiate on their grounds, impugning their honesty, etc. Now, if magnates and spectators, who are not so liable to be impelied by the heat of the moment, want to kill umpires for decisions, is not there some excuse for players who are vitally interested in a hot and warm conflict? Think it over. Give the rowdy player fits. That is right. But why protect the rowdy magnate and the rowdy spectator?

"Why, you fellows make me sick. You laush when spectators roast a player or an umpire. I wonder what would happen at the Fair Grounds if the spectators there hissed and abused a starter, jockey or judge for something that occurred in a race? You talk about the prize ring. Suppose spectators at a fight got up between rounds and abused a starter, jockey of judge for something that occurred in a race? You talk about the prize ring. Suppose spectators are dead ones he could think of. If I as much as looked at him you fellows would flay me alive.

"The Sporting News, Father Chadwick and others are sleavys harping upon making the players and the ladice. He says he will prefer charges against Dahlen. Then he reconsiders and says he will not do so. "Good thing. He advertises that players use language not fit to hear. If you have a hady you respect you will not take her to a built game, because Mr. Dreyfus says she will hear vile language. You may refuse to go yourself. In other words, Mr. Dreyfus informs the public that his amusement establishment is a dangerous place to frequent. Now, what would you think of a business man who advertised the fact that his clerks were vulgar, low blackguards and that customers were very liable to have their ears assailed with billingsgale if they entered his store. That is in effect what Mr. Dreyfus did.

"If Dahlen did use vile language Mr. Dreyfus did.
"If Dahlen did use vile language Mr. Dreyfus should have preferred charges and pressed them home and rid the diamond of a blackguard. Even then, he might have kept it quiet. Still, if he had gone to a finish with the affair he might have been forgiven for the undesirable publicity given the affair. But by dropping it he admits that he was wrong, that he made statements he could not prove. That is giving baseball advertising that Barnum could not endure. Yet these magnates worder why the game is not prospering."

endure. Yet these magnates worder why the game is not prospering."

From the following excerpt it is rather plain that Buck Ewing is up to his old tricks. Buckerino always was a tamperer. The Commercial Tribune says: Jesse Tannehill, who pitched the Pirates to victory over the Orphans on Tuesday, was in bad favor with the powers that be in the Pittsburg club until after Tuesday's game. It was charged that Tannehill was not giving the club his best efforts, and things were made rather uncomfortable for the elever pitcher. At the bottom of all of "Tanny's" trouble is no less a personage than William Ewing, the manager of the New York team. It seems that when the Pirates were in New York Ewing sent Bowerman to see Tannehill and find out if "Tanny" would object to playing in New York. Tannehill, of course, answered that he had no objection if the terms were satisfactory, and was led to beilieve that Ewing intended to make a deal for him. The next day Ewing called on President Dreyfuss and told him that Tannehill's arm was gone and that he would take him off his hands to use him as an outfielder. Just about this time Tannehill was pitching in hard luck, and Dreyfuss grew suspicious, after hearing Ewing's tale that Tannehill was not trying to work his best in order to get away from the club. He notified Manager Clarke that Tannehill should be suspended without pay, but Clarke refused to take this step. Barry McCormick was also tampered with this spring about the time the Giants needed a third baseman.

DETROIT FANS SORE. Wolverine Citizens Declare Their

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Detroit, Mich., June 21.—Detroit fans were ready to mob Umpire Dwyer yesterday after his decision summarity sending Elberfeld to the bench after calling a palpable foul a strike on him. The belief has been growing here that a conspiracy exists to "do up" the new owners of the Detroit baseball franchise. President Burns and Manager Stallings. It is even hinted the management in Chicago have given directions to the umpires to "throw it into the Detroit team."

The statement is made that the American League is being run in the interests of two or three franchise-holders. Attention is called to the fact that internal dissensions almost knocked the National League out and that a good-sized row is on the tapis in the American League uniess a disposition to be more fair is shown. At the beginning of the season Detroit's managers were "bunkeed," so the fans say, out of several players, other clubs being allowed to bid over them, and ever since there has been trouble with the umpires. Every one of them, it is said, was directed to watch Elberfeld. No matter how hard the shortstop was hit by a pitched ball, he was refused a hase, and any protests resulted in a fine or being put outside the fence.

Detroit fans believe the recent Detroit games in Chicago were cut and dried affairs and that Johnson helped Comiskey to get on top. Manager Stallings says with fair treatment the team would have won three out of four games. Manager Stallings is under suspension for talking back to Umpire Grossly insulted him when ordering him off. The suspension came a week after the offense. President Burns went to Chicago last night to see Johnson, who went to Indianapolis to-day. Burns is following him and says he will demand an understanding.
