

SOUTHINGTON. Nov. 29.—There was dancing and music at Germania hall Thanksgiving evening. This social was held by the Knights of Columbus.

Wednesday was cold and windy, but Thursday, although there was a cold wind, the sun was warm and made the air and outdoors just about right to be cut in along towards noon and after dinner. This was Thanksgiving weather 1894 and there was quietness and boys and girls were off skating and housewives were busy through the morning hours getting dinner ready and the sun kept on shining all the while and the wind blew a little now and then and the sky was clear and old friends met each other and people passed by each other and hurried home along the streets and here and there a boy could be seen with a hockey stick and people talked and nothing hindered things from going on in and after the fashion of other Thanksgiving days. There were family gatherings and everyone was glad to see everyone else looking good and in the best of spirits.

On the lower mountain reservoir there is a thin coating of ice, while there is none on the upper and larger body of water. This may be due to the fact that the upper body of water is much larger than the lower.

The passenger trains passed through here as usual Thanksgiving day, but there was an absence of freight trains.

When it is thought by anybody here that firewood is running out it may be well to know that on the other side of west mountain there is cord upon cord of wood piled up along the roadside. A man with a team could earn a day's wages by buying this wood on the spot.

NORTH HAVEN.

Nov. 29.—Mrs. C. N. Turner will leave Saturday for a visit with her son, Merritt Dowd and family, in Malden, Mass. George B. Todd is fixing up the Almiria Smith place, which he recently bought, and arranging the house convenient for two families. One tenant is already rented.

The explosion in Waterbury on Tuesday evening was distinctly felt in North Haven and many thought it was an earthquake. A glass in Pierpont's store window was broken by the jar.

Several have left town to-day to spend Thanksgiving with friends elsewhere. Services at all the churches. A. B. Clinton and a double quartet will give a praise service in the Congregational church next Sunday evening.

Mr. Krakauer, the piano manufacturer of New York, was the guest of A. B. Clinton over last Sunday and attended service at the Congregational church and expressed himself much gratified with the music.

A Famous Paris Cafe. The cafe of the Black Cat was originally a sort of club where journalists and artists and poets met round the tables of a restaurant keeper who happened to be a patron of art as well, and who fitted out his cafe with the canvasses of his customers.

Recognized Them at Once. We were all telling stories at a New Jersey summer resort, when one particularly audacious man said: "Oh, that's nothing. I was off the coast at Barnegat last summer on a fishing trip, and while we were out on deck early in the evening, smoking and chatting, a great cloud of mosquitos, all of them monstrous birds, came out from shore and settled on the boat; and do you know, in fifteen minutes they had stripped it of every inch of canvas, and left the masts bare as beanoles!"

We held up our hands in deprecation at this tale, when another of the party exclaimed: "Well, don't be astonished. I can vouch for that. It was only a week after that I was on a trip along the coast, and the same swarm of mosquitos came out after us."

The first speaker didn't seem to appreciate this unexpected support, for he muttered: "Humph! They did, eh? Well, how do you know they were the same mosquitos, eh?"

"How did I know?" repeated the other, with a chuckle. "How did I know? Why, they all had on canvas overalls."—Harper's Drawer.
