

LATEST FAIR HAVEN NEWS

THE GALA DAY SPIRIT WAS QUITE MANIFEST.

And Many Went to Savin Rock—Wedding Anniversary Celebrated—Oyster Shell Hills Disappearing—Personal Items.

Fair Haven streets assumed quite a martial air yesterday morning, when the drums were beating summoning the local firemen to the annual parade of the state firemen down at West Haven. Many went down to the shore to witness the parade yesterday noon and were well repaid for their trouble. The Fair Haven firemen and their apparatus made a fine appearance in line.

At St. Francis' church on Wednesday occurred the marriage of Miss Minnie Donnelly and P. J. Fitzgerald. At the home of the bride, 145 Blatchley avenue, there was a reception for the relatives and guests. Miss Minnie A. Donnelly, of New York, a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, and P. J. Byrnes, of this city, was best man. They will reside at 52 Woolsey street.

In most years Fair Haven has been represented at the annual encampment of the G. A. R. This year the encampment is at Minneapolis, and so far as can be learned, there will be no representation from Fair Haven.

At the parade of the Canoe club on Wednesday evening the prize for the best appearing boat was awarded to Harry Dayton and Germaine Crossley. The prize was a canoe cushion.

Miss Emma Macdonald, of 78 Grand avenue, left yesterday for Tuxedo, N. Y., where she will visit Mrs. Hettie Kelly Bradley.

Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Rowley and son Arthur, of Townsend avenue, are visiting in Stratford.

Mrs. N. H. Harris, of Morris Cove, is to visit friends in Hartford.

Annie M. Lee has purchased of Alfred Parry property fronting thirty-five feet on Furrow avenue.

Controller J. N. Rowe has sold to F. R. Fairbanks property with a frontage of thirty-four feet in Furrow avenue.

Wednesday was the tenth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Slater, of Quinnipiac avenue, and they were very pleasantly surprised by a number of relatives and friends, who called and gave their congratulations. There were singing and games, and refreshments were served during the evening. The festivities have been greatly enjoyed by all.

The great piles of shells which a few days ago were piled high on the shores of Quinnipiac river are rapidly melting away. Hundreds of thousands of bushels have been taken down the harbor, and more will yet go. These shells are used on the oyster beds to arrest the spawn and make the set of embryo oysters. The season so far has been quite favorable for an oyster set, and the planters are quite hopeful at the outlook. A good or a poor set will mean a difference of hundreds of thousands of dollars for the oystermen.

Lancaster Brothers began shelling this week. Besides their steamers they have chartered two small schooners for transporting the shells.

The Yankees defeated the Giants by a score of 4 to 2 yesterday. The features of the game were the batting of Earl Hamner for the Yankees and the pitching of Kersey for Giants. Kersey has a famous outcrop. The Yankees challenge any team in the city averaging twelve years. Address Philip Barabault, 106 Lloyd street.

PLANNING TO RECEIVE BRYAN HERE.

Ex-Senator McNeill of Bridgeport arrived in this city yesterday morning and visited William H. H. Hewitt for the purpose of completing plans for the reception of William Jennings Bryan during his coming visit to Connecticut.

Mr. Hewitt has at present invitations from Hartford, Bridgeport, Waterbury, New Britain, New London, and Meriden for Mr. Bryan to visit those places while in this state.

Mr. Hewitt is in favor of having Mr. Bryan talk at Bridgeport and twice in New Haven, that being for a two days' programme. However, it may be found necessary to omit the Bridgeport address.

STATE MILITARY FORCES.

ADJUTANT-GENERAL COLE COMMENTS ON CONDITIONS.

Innovations of the Year—An Important Change in the Laws as to the Nomination and Appointment of Officers, Etc.

Adjutant-General George M. Cole, in his annual report to Governor Roberts for the year ending September 30, 1905, urges the necessity of providing at once suitable quarters for the companies of the Connecticut National Guard quartered in this city. He says that the present condition of the arsenal and armory is, to say the least, regrettable, and of no credit to the state. He adds that it is a waste of money to repair the buildings, and he hopes that the incoming legislature will find it possible to provide this much needed building.

AN IMPORTANT CHANGE.

The adjutant-general speaks at length of the innovation introduced in the organized militia of the state during the past year; first a very important change was made in the laws relating to the nomination and appointment of officers. What under the old law, he says, was a great injustice and hardship to many has been removed. In commenting upon this feature the report says:

"Formerly an appointment was made to fill vacancies, subject to examination in the office and was required to furnish himself with a complete uniform and equipment, and in many cases failed to pass the examining board, and was discharged at great loss financially and otherwise to himself. This is changed. Under the present law an officer of the grade of second lieutenant, or above, who is nominated to fill a vacancy, remains in the grade held by him at that time, until he has passed the examining board, or by his failing to do so, shows his lack of appreciation of, and interest in the service, which requires of him that he be a student and progressive. In the case of company officers it is now required that all nominations to the office of second lieutenant must be made from the eligible list. This is a long step in the right direction, both for the commissioned personnel and the enlisted man. On application, properly indorsed and approved, any enlisted man, or civilian, can go before the examining board and demonstrate his fitness or otherwise, for the position, and if successfully passing the board, he receives a certificate, which places him on the eligible list for a period of one year, and it, from present indications, is prized by the receiver, and, again, it is an incentive to study, which is more necessary, I think, in the military than any other branch of the public service. The art of war is a progressive science, and an officer to be of any value must keep up the study of his profession. When a nomination is made for second lieutenant by a company from the eligible list the nominee having passed his examination is at once commissioned, and enters upon his duties, and no further nomination is required for promotion in the company, as promotion is by seniority up to captain after passing the examinations required by law. This goes away in so far as is possible, or advisable, at the present time, with that unfortunate condition which has always existed in the state militia, the election of officers. A wise provision, however, is made which will obviate the perpetration of a mistake. The company has the power to protest, by a two-thirds majority, if they so choose, against the promotion of an officer by seniority.

ANOTHER INNOVATION.

"Another innovation introduced this year was the sending of the brigade into camp by regiment, and the practice marches of the artillery and cavalry. This received the unanimous approval of all interested officers, and they are much gratified over the opportunities offered them, and the results attained in carrying out exercises which could not properly be done at a brigade encampment. It was a working camp, and while I do not believe that results have shown the discommodities of the present at least, attesting a brigade and regimental camp."

THE REPORT ALSO SPEAKS OF THE RIFLE RANGES THAT HAVE BEEN ESTABLISHED AND OF THE NEED OF SUCH INSTITUTIONS IN ORDER THAT THE MEMBERS OF THE STATE MAY IMPROVE THEMSELVES IN THAT IMPORTANT BRANCH OF WARFARE.

TOTAL STRENGTH.

The total strength of the National Guard at the date of the report was 8,041 officers and enlisted men. The state rifle match at Sea Girt, N. J., is dealt with, as is also the various parades, including the funeral of General Joseph R. Hawley, which the militia participated in.

EXPENSES.

The expenses of the National Guard for the year amounted to $164,418.84, divided as follows: Printing, stationery and office expenses connected with the adjutant-general's office, $14,000.00; quartermaster-general's bureau, $77,811.00; bureau of pay, $50,592.24; bureau of subsistence, $5,541.00; controller of salaries, sundries, etc., $15,874.60.

THE TOTAL MILITARY ENROLLMENT WAS 120,268, of whom 112,662 were liable for duty in case of war. The total number exempt for legal causes was 33,257, leaving the number liable for commutation tax, 86,961.

POOR FOOD.

Relative to the "poor food" trouble, Lieutenant-Colonel Wilbur S. Watson, assistant surgeon, C. N. G., in his report to Surgeon-General Oliver C. Smith, says that the inferior beef issued to the First regiment was due to error and not intent. The meat was not bad, he says, but not up to the standard. Major John B. McCook says, on the same subject, that the supplies condemned were either insufficient in the elements of nutrition or unfit for issuance.

Colonel Schuler, in his report, which is approached, speaks in favor of the regimental camp and compliments the officers upon their work and the good discipline maintained.

OBITUARY NOTES.

She leaves to mourn her death her mother, Mrs. Charles Babcock; three sisters and three brothers, Miss Gertrude Babcock, Charles Babcock, Edwin Babcock, of Evansville; Mrs. Mary Gooding, of Los Angeles, Cal.; William Babcock, of New York city, and Mrs. Grace Hall, of Chicago.

MRS. ELIZABETH M. BAILEY.

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth M. Bailey took place at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. J. T. Hathaway, 98 Sherland avenue. Rev. R. E. Brown, of Pilgrim church, officiated at the services, which were held at the house. The body was taken to Westfield, Conn., last evening for burial.

Mrs. Alexander Gibson, Jr., wife of the police sergeant, has received word of the death in Brooklyn of her niece, Miss Anna Gamble, of consumption, caused, it is said, by too rapid growth. At the time of her death she was six feet tall. She is survived by her mother, her father having died when she was an infant. The body will be taken to Annapolis for burial.

HENRY M. ALLING.

Henry M. Alling, for many years a well-known mason of this city, died on Tuesday at the home of his son, Henry W. Alling, 232 Greenwich avenue. He was sixty-seven years old, and the cause of his death was blood poisoning. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon.

JOHN REILLY.

John M. Reilly, of 231-2 Dixwell avenue, son of John Reilly, died Wednesday afternoon, after an illness of four days, of stomach trouble. For the past twelve years he had been a member of St. Mary's choir and an employee of the R. H. Brown company. He is survived by his father, wife, three brothers and one sister. The funeral will take place at St. Mary's church this morning at 9 o'clock.

DIED IN BRADFORD.

Mrs. J. Frank Winkley, of Boston, died at Trinity rectory, the home of her son, Rev. W. H. Winkley, of Trinity church, Bradford, yesterday morning at 6:30 o'clock. Mrs. Winkley came on early in June for her customary summer visit at the rectory. For some time she had been ailing, but her condition was not considered critical until about a week ago. Since that time the end had only been a question of days. The funeral arrangements are not yet completed.

Mrs. Winkley is survived by two sons and one daughter, all of whom were with her when she passed away.

TWO MARVELOUS ESCAPES.

Child Fell from Window—Another Fell Forty Feet.

Susan Todd, three-year-old daughter of John H. Todd, engineer at the Narrow Gauge company on Congress avenue, fell from a bedroom window at her home, 265 Spring street, West Haven, Wednesday, without sustaining severe injuries.

The escape is regarded as miraculous. Susan was in a crib drawn up near the window, which was open, but the blinds of which were shut.

It is supposed that she reached up to the blind and her weight forced them open.

The little girl missed striking a sidewalk below by a few inches and when picked up was not unconscious. When examined by a physician no more serious injuries were found than bruises on head and limbs.

The three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lates of High street, Naugatuck, had a narrow escape from death Wednesday evening.

She fell forty feet from the second story rear balcony of the house, striking the ground with great force. A physician was summoned.

There were no external marks or bruises on the child's body, and no bones were broken. It is not yet decided whether the child was injured internally.

CITY CLERK'S SCHEME.

Is Providing Gunned Slips to Insert in Ordinance Volume.

City Clerk Street has arranged it so that the citizens may make it possible to have their book of city ordinances complete without very much trouble. The new ordinances that have recently been passed have been printed on pieces of paper the exact size of the pages of the city charter and volume of ordinances. The printed slips have been carefully gummed so that they can be moistened and placed in the ordinance book. By inserting these slips in the designated places the volume will be complete.

Mr. Street will gladly supply the slips to all who add or call to his office for them. This arrangement will prove very handy to lawyers and others, who frequently have use for the full set of ordinances.

OPERATION ON HOWARD KOCKERSPERGER.

An operation was yesterday performed by Dr. Norton R. Hotchkiss upon Howard Kockersperger, son of Third Vice President H. M. Kockersperger of the New Haven road. It is believed that the result will prove successful. Mr. Kockersperger is insurance inspector for the New Haven road, and was taken ill with appendicitis early in the week at Pine Orchard, where his family are staying. Mr. Kockersperger was brought to this city Tuesday, and taken to the home of his father at 463 Orange street.

CIRCUS HERE TO-DAY.

GRAND PROCESSION STARTS AT 10 O'CLOCK.

Usual Line of March Will be Observed—What the Providence, R. I., Press Says Regarding the Exhibition—Indians and Wild West Show Attached—Fighting the Flames a Great Spectacle.

Walter L. Main's circus and Colonel Cummins' Greater Wild West and Indian Congress, which was the great success of the three world's fairs, a tour of the British Isles and France, and the unparalleled success of Madison Square Garden, will be here to-day, giving performances—afternoon at 2 o'clock and evening at 8 o'clock—at the West street lot.

There will be the usual parade. Starting from the grounds at 10 o'clock, the route will be from West to Washington, Congress to Church, Chapel to State, and the usual line of march back to the show grounds.

The Walter L. Main circus and Colonel Cummins' Wild West show attracted large audiences at the performances which were given on the Cranston grounds, opposite the Narragansett Driving park, says a Providence contemporary. All the features of the old-time circus, from the master of ceremonies with his stentorian voice to the inevitable clowns, were happily combined with the daring feats seen in the Wild West exhibition. The spectators came away well pleased with the entertainment afforded them.

It is difficult to state which of the many specialties was the particular feature, for a number of them pleased the audience. Doubtless the delegation of Sioux Indians, among whom were some notable chiefs, deserves to stand high in the list, for the war dances and war whoops did considerable to make the circus the success it was. The cowboys and "cow girls" gave an exhibition of horsemanship which is seldom surpassed in any show.

The trained elephants should also be mentioned among the headliners, for their performance was a most creditable one. A spectacular feature closed the performance.

In the boyhood days of fathers living in the present generation no circus was complete without a clown. To-day no circus is complete without at least half a dozen clowns, and those who witnessed the curious antics of the good-sized aggregation of clowns that accompany the Main-Cummins exhibition are certain that the show is complete in this particular. Evidently two of them do not belong to the Clowns' union, for they worked overtime, beginning to crack their merry jests at the expense of those in the audience before the "big" show began. One of these was dressed as a "cop" and he created no end of fun by "holding up" persons on the way to their seats and pretending to beat them with his "billy," which was merely a soft piece of rubber tubing filled with air. The other clowns were none the less amusing, and their burlesque performances were among the good things in the show.

Seldom is proficiency in trained animals manifested to so great a degree as by the trained elephants connected with the exhibition.

They showed very little clumsiness, and skilfully performed their tricks. One of these, which astonished all in the audience, was performed when the trainer made a big elephant lie down over him. So carefully was this done that not even the man's coat was wrinkled.

Good horsemanship was in evidence throughout the entertainment. The bareback riding by the redskins was no less marvelous than the feats performed by the Cossacks and cowboys. A novel feature was the quadrille performed by eight equestrians.

Other things worthy of notice were the tumbling of the Masette family, the lady Zouaves and the reproduction of the battle of Little Big Horn, the central figure in which was a man made up to resemble General Custer, who, with all his troops was massacred in that notable encounter. The performance closed with a "fire and flame" show, portraying the burning of a building and rescue of several persons. This was made more realistic by the presence of a fire engine and hose company, whose efforts to rescue those in the building were thought to be inferior to the local department by some of the citizens present.

Of course there was a "side show" and also a menagerie attached to the circus, and these contained the usual remarkable features. The peanut vendors and "pink" lemonade concoctors did a thriving business in tents near the big show.

WOODMONT'S GRIEVANCES.

Millford, July 19.—A committee appointed at a recent meeting held at Marvin's restaurant, Woodmont, for the purpose of conferring with the town selectmen relative to improvements on Marvin's avenue, Woodmont, were presented last evening at the regular weekly meeting of the selectmen, and they were many, according to the speeches made by several residents. The conference resulted in granting very request.

BAILEY IS SILENT.

Held for the Goodale Murder—Hearing Monday.

Middletown, July 19.—Henry G. Bailey, who was brought here last night from Toronto, where he was arrested, charged with the murder of George Goodale, a fish dealer here, on July 6, was taken before Coroner Davis to-day and asked if he wanted to make any statement.

Bailey said he did not, refusing to say a word to Coroner Davis about the matter.

The coroner examined eleven witnesses, however, among them being Chief of Police Inglis, Policeman Thompson, who arrested Bailey in the Canadian city, and the medical examiner, who testified concerning the nature of Goodale's wounds.

Coroner Davis said that he would hand down a finding to-morrow holding Bailey responsible for the murder of Goodale, and in the meantime the prisoner is in the custody of Sheriff Davis. Bailey was taken to the Middletown jail.

Cannot fail to eulogize the benefits accruing from a Gas Water Heater. It is not only convenient, it is necessary to summer comfort. It obviates the pail or tea kettle brigade from kitchen to bathroom after the coal fires are out. By its use, water may be heated almost instantaneously at a minimum cost. It is so constructed that the accumulation of dirt which interferes with the operation of many such heaters is impossible. Every housewife who wishes to enjoy her summer to the full should get one now. It costs little and saves much.

MOURNS THE DESTRUCTION OF AGED TREE.

J. M. Bauer of the M. I. F., Bradford, who owns "The Elms" at Short Beach, is mourning the destruction of a tree in his yard. This tree is a geranium, which had weathered the storms of 200 years, although not a native of northern soil, but was killed in Tuesday's battle of the elements, and still lies where stricken, too sacred to be further mutilated. Mr. Bauer says the tree was brought from the south by a sea captain and planted by himself. Another tree set out at the same time still stands.

TWO MEN INJURED.

Augustus Clark of 55 Winter street, employed as a machinist at Winchester's, fell down stairs at that factory at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, and was taken to the New Haven hospital with a badly bruised back.

Shortly afterwards William Dillon, a tinner of 10 Congress avenue, while tinning the veranda roof of a little Orange street house, tumbled off into the yard, breaking one rib and sustaining numerous body bruises.

He was also taken to the New Haven hospital.

ANCIENT RELIC UNEARTHED.

Joseph Green of New Haven avenue, Milford, made a very interesting find on the premises of his mother, Mrs. John Green, of Fowler avenue, a few days ago. An old unused dish was unearthed near the nursery, which, when cleaned up, was found to be a continental button plate, used in olden times in the churches. Mrs. Green, who is a descendant of Peter Prudden, one of the first settlers of the town, remembers that the article has been handed down from several generations, having been from England, and believed to be 250 years old. The hand engravings, which are very plain, are of very artistic design, and the material of which it is made is of solid silver.

OFFICIALS INSPECT RAILROAD.

Executives Make Tour of New York Division and Harlem Freight Yard. A large party of officials of the New Haven road left this city yesterday morning for a tour of inspection along the New York division of the system, and for a look over the Harlem river freight yards of the company. The officials' train was composed of six coach and private car No. 100. It is understood that their attention will be directed to the working out of some improvements at the big yards at Port Morris, and adjacent Harlem river and Van Nest.

The party returned to this city last night.
